ELECTIONS ON IN IRRIGATION DIST.

All of the irrigation districts of the county, including Klamath, Langell Valley, Horsefly, Malin and Shasta View, are holding regular bi-annual elections today, but chief interests centers in the election in the Klamath Irrigation district, where G. W. Offield, incumbent, is opposed for the presidency of the board of directors by James R. Dixon. In the Langell Valley district Will Irwin is a candidate, opposing H. J. Ticknor, incumbent.

Strong opposition against Offield has developed in the last few days, because of allegations that he is allied with the California-Oregon Power company and against the public interest. Support swung away from Offield yesterday in considerable numbers, due to an active campaign against his candidacy on the above grounds.

MOVING EDMONDS MILL TO SPRAGUE RIVER

H. H. Edmonds has let the contract for moving his mill from near Olene to Sprague River to the City Transfer Company. They are taking advantage of the good condition of the roads and have already moved a large part of the heaviest machinery. If the weather continues clear, the work will be completed in another week.

Come to the Mondale Theatre tomorrow night. The admission will be free, for we want to show you we have the finest picture machine that money can buy and that our pictures are of the same high character. It

EX-SERVICE STUDENTS HAVE MONEY COMING

The educational department of the Y. M. C. A. has apportioned $264 to Klamath and Lake counties for the purpose of assisting ex-service men, who have entered school, or plan to do so before September, 1920. Klamath county's share of the apportionment is $171. The Rev. E. P. Lawrence has been appointed to attend to the distribution of the fund, and persons entitled to share in it should communicate with him.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Ray Van Meter is in town today from Pelican City.

William Bray of the Oskosh Lumber company is in Seattle on business.

Jerry McCarty and Jack Hamaker are hauling wire to their ranches in Bonanza.

L. Jacobs left a few days ago for California points in connection with big land holdings in this county.

Miss Alma Brookfield, who was formerly employed by the Pacific Telephone Company, has taken a position with the Jewel cafe as cashier.

Henry Gordon of Fort Klamath was in the city yesterday on business. Mr. Gordon had the misfortune recently to have an iron door that he was helping to install on a barn fall on him injuring him quite badly.

J. S. Pardee, an employe of the California-Oregon Power company, who was injured last week while doing repair work on the canal spillway, intends to go to Medford, where he will have an operation performed.

C. F. Stone, state fish and game commissioner, left this morning for Salem, to be present at the session of the legislature. The legislature at this session will consider the reorganization of the present fish and game control system, and the commissioner is naturally interested in the result of the legislation.

E. H. Thomas, county agricultural agent, returned last evening from the conference of agricultural interests of the state at Corvallis. He was accompanied by Mr. Richards, the new county agent for Lake county, who is on his way to take up his duties of office. Mr. Richards recently married Miss Maisei Sanderson, a local girl.

J. F. Maguire expects to leave in the morning for San Francisco, where he will remain for a week on business and to visit his sons James, Charles and Dick, who are attending school in the Bay cities. He will then go to Los Angeles, where he will remain for a month before going to Boston to visit his mother and other relatives as well as visiting the larger eastern cities on business.

U. S. WAIVES CLAIM TO CAPTURED VESSELS.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—In the supreme council today American Ambassador Wallace raised the question of whether the council intended to maintain the percentages previously adopted for the distribution among the allies of the warship tonnage to be given up by Germany. On receiving an affirmative answer he informed the council that the United States waived its claim to any part of this tonnage.

PECULIAR PARADOX.

GRASS VALLEY, Cal., Jan. 13.—The curious spectacle of harvesting semi-tropical fruits and ice at the same time within the confines of one county less than 100 miles in length is again being witnessed here. Orchardists from the Pet Hill district, a few miles below Grass valley, are marketing oranges, lemons and grapefruit in considerable quantities while in the Truckee region of this county more than 1000 men are engaged in the annual harvest of natural ice which will total thousands of tons.

SUMMONS

No. 1131 Equity.

In the Circuit court of the State of Oregon for Klamath county.

Dulcie Wright, plaintiff vs John Wright, defendant.

To John Wright, Defendant: In the Name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before Tuesday, February 24, 1920, and if you fail to answer, for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to wit: For a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony existing between the plaintiff and defendant, that plaintiffs maiden name Dulcie Moore be restored to her and that plaintiff have such other and further relief as the court may deem meet and equitable.

WALLACE NEW PRESIDENT OF IRRIGATIONISTS

Fred N. Wallace, of Tumalo, heads the Oregon Irrigation Congress for the coming year, having been elected president at the closing session Saturday. Mr. Wallace is a brother of Mrs. C. I. Winick, of this city. C. T. Darley, Klamath county engineer, was chosen third vice-president of the organization. Other officers are: First vice-president, Patrick J. Gallagher, of Ontario; second vice-president, Fred A. Phillips, of Baker; secretary, J. Frank Spinning, of Echo.

The contest for presidency was spirited for a time, but suddenly switched to unanimous choice for Fred N. Wallace, of Tumalo, for the place, when H. H. DeArmond, of Bend, who had already been nominated for the position, arose and declared himself in favor of Mr. Wallace.

"Mr. Wallace has served this congress for many years as secretary, and has served it faithfully and efficiently," said Mr. DeArmond, "and because of this, I want to see him chosen for president."

After that statement by a man supposedly a rival candidate, the ice was broken and there was a stampede for "Wallace for president" that swept him into the office in spite of his efforts to make himself heard in favor of someone else. His shouts were drowned in the roar of "ayes" that followed President Upton's call for the vote, and quickly the Tumalo man was declared the new head of the Oregon irrigation congress.

R. E. Bradbury, of Klamath Falls, was chosen a member of the legislative committee.

How Competition Helps You

The competition that exists among the hundreds of meat distributors, large and small, means

- Rivalry in Prices
- Rivalry in Service
- Rivalry in Economy
- Rivalry in Quality

Swift & Company sells meat at the lowest possible price, consistent with quality and service. Our profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound on all products is evidence of keen competition.

Swift & Company must provide the best service to your dealer, or he will buy from our competitors. This means a supply of fine fresh meat always on hand for you at your dealer's.

Swift & Company must keep down manufacturing and selling costs, and use all by-products to avoid waste, or else lose money meeting the prices of competitors who do.

Swift & Company must make its products of the highest quality, or see you turn to others. This means better meat for you and a greater variety of appetizing, wholesome food.

We are as glad for this competition as you should be. It helps to keep us on our mettle.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.
