

Your Kind of Shoes

TASTES DIFFER OF COURSE in shoes as in everything else. AND THAT IS JUST THE POINT that we want to bring home to you—whether your choice in shoes be a snappy English of deep cherry red with narrow tapering toe, or a more dignified type in black soft kid, with broad heel and toe, or any one of a dozen or more styles between, you will see just what you have in your mind's eye, just YOUR KIND OF SHOES, at

Personal Mention

A. D. Short, manager of the White Pelican hotel, is here from San Francisco on an inspection visit.

Mrs. W. E. Winkie, wife of the superintendent of the Nicholson ranch near Fort Klamath, underwent an operation at the Blackburn hospital this morning. Her condition is very serious.

W. R. Wheatley of San Francisco is in the city in the interests of Goodrich tires and is a guest at the White Pelican Hotel.

Louis Dessert, a lumberman of Wausau, Wisconsin, accompanied by Mrs. Dessert, are guests at the White Pelican Hotel.

Mrs. Will Houston is back at her duties in the county recorder's office after an extended holiday trip to California. She visited relatives in Corning and went as far south as Los Angeles, attending the New Year's football game at Pasadena, and visiting in several cities en route.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Bailey and son, George Sherman, left this morning in their car for Los Angeles, where they will remain until June. Mr. Bailey was the popular proprietor of the Jewel cafe until he sold his interest to Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Pospisil a short time ago, making the change for a much needed rest.

Miss Bea Kilgore will leave in the morning for Portland for a week's visit with relatives there.

Miss Ines Kilgore returned from Sacramento last night, where she has spent the past month on a visit with relatives in that city.

Word has been received from Ross Finley, who is at Klamath Hot Springs recovering from a severe illness, that he is very much improved since going there about a week ago.

Mrs. Emmitt Magee is enjoying a visit from her niece, Miss Fern Loefer, of Fort Klamath.

C. H. Underwood is in Portland this week on business.

Wilson S. Wiley, who is state deputy for the B. P. O. E., is paying official visits to the lodges throughout the state.

The Academy of the Sacred Heart, returned to school last Monday.

A dance was held at the head of the valley New Year's eve, and a large crowd was in attendance, people from all the surrounding country being present. A bountiful supper was served at midnight, the tables fairly groaning under the loads of good things.

Mrs. H. E. Winnard entertained at a 7 o'clock dinner, Wednesday evening, January 7. "Five Hundred" was indulged in until the party broke up.

Dancing seems very popular, and another dance was held at Fordner's Hall Friday evening, January 9. A large crowd was present and an unusually good time reported.

The Mesdames John and David Turner entertained by special invitation the members of the Woman's Club at her home on Saturday evening of Thursday, that day being Christmas. Several guests from the south side of the valley were present, the valley were present.

Mrs. A. E. Gale entertained a company of a seven o'clock dinner New Year's Eve. The house was beautifully decorated with holly, mistletoe and evergreens. "Five Hundred" was played till the New Year came, when dancing was enjoyed for a couple of hours.

Miss Violet Gale, who is attending

Mrs. Gus Keller has returned home after an absence of several months in Portland. While she was in Portland, Mrs. Keller underwent a major operation. Her friends are now rejoicing at the improved condition of her health.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ticknor entertained at a card party at their home Saturday evening, January 10. The party was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Doolittle, who have been spending the winter with the Ticknors. Mr. and Mrs. Doolittle expect to leave for California the coming week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Keller, from Klamath Falls, spent the week end with Gus Keller and family.

WILL ON TABLE COVER IS VALID

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—A will written on a table cloth was officially refused probate here recently by Judge Thomas F. Graham of the superior court because Mrs. Helen Scott, who had written it just before she committed suicide November 3, 1919, neglected to put a date on it.

The will read: "The trunk in the hall to Fred Spreen, the chair to Mrs. Allen. You will find money in the bank to pay all expenses. Put my black dress on me. Love to all. Helen." The will was offered by William M. Varney, a brother of Mrs. Scott.

AT THE THEATERS

The surest sign of a man's mental dissolution, psychologists tell us, is flung out when he indulges in magnificent dissipation. Nero had his hanging gardens, Louis XVI had his Versailles with its love courts, and countless other rulers and men of power have had their pavilions, their pleasure palaces and their retreats, secret and otherwise.

Decadent modern millionaires have their "studios" and mountain lodges, concealed until some tragedy reveals their existence to the public. In view of this it is only natural that the authors of "Blue Blood," a Selectart drama starring Howard Hickman, should have devised a like form of indulgence for the principal character in their play. He is Spencer Wellington, the last of a long line of supposedly aristocratic ancestors, who marries a girl of fortune without telling her of the taint of madness in his blood.

In a secluded part of his estate there is erected a building of marble and gilt. Inside all the luxury of the Orient is recreated for the jaded young man, including a veritable harem of girls. The end of his orgies occurs in a mad revel, the like of which is never seen in public, preceding the death of the pitiable wreck of manhood. Wellington's folly is said to have been inspired by the life of a California profligate whose exploits are known everywhere. The play comes to the Liberty Theatre tonight only.

Madeline Traverso, the beautiful William Fox star, will be the attraction at the Liberty Theatre Thursday. She has been booked to appear in a new photoplay called "When Fate Decides," which has a plot that is said to be intensely absorbing and stirring from beginning to end, demanding unusual emotional powers to present adequately on the screen. This is why it was selected for Miss Traverso, who has proved herself to be a remarkably finished artist in emotional roles.

The supporting cast is said to have been selected with great care, among the members being William Conklin, Clyde Fillmore, Claire DuBrey, John Cossar, Genevieve Blinn and Cordelia Callahan.

A motion picture that will thrill audiences wherever it is shown, not only because of its absorbing story, but because of its powerful heart appeal, is "The Miracle Man," a new Paramount Arteract feature, produced by George Loane Tucker, which has been booked at the Star Theatre Friday and Saturday. The story deals with a notorious band of crooks operating in New York's Chinatown, who learn of an ancient patriarch living out in the country and possessing the power to heal the sick and make whole the crippled.

out of his operations, Tom Burke and his pals go to the deaf and blind healer. Then commences a transformation in these crooks, that makes one of the most fascinating stories of all time. The chief roles are finely interpreted by Thomas Meighan, Ellnor Fair, Betty Compton, and others of similar calibre.

"Aloha Oe", one of the sweetest, by far the most weird, and a swinging, plaintive melody that fairly burrows into the soul, is featured by the many Hawaiians who are with Norman Friedenwald's musical success, "My Honolulu Girl," which comes to the Houston Opera House, Sunday, January 18.

Consistent with the title of this greatest of all conceptions, Mr. Friedenwald has added numerous other popular and tuneful song hits peculiar to the Hawaiian Island, including "Akahi-Hoi," "Nensoy," "Ainahu," "Kapalai" and "Lei-Aloha". All these whistling lilt things are played on the ukelele and on the strong steel stringed guitars, while the chorus of really pretty girls sing. The chorus can sing, too. Every girl has been selected on account of her voice and has been carefully trained by one of the vocalists in the United States.

"My Honolulu Girl" comes to Klamath Falls backed by exceptionally strong recommendations from both press and public. It is a musical romance of the enchanted land of sweet content. Of course there is a plot, but just a little one because strong plots are unknown in Hawaii.

Help the census taker.
