LANE SUBMITS PROPOSAL TO DOAK & BROWN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Representative Sinnott was today supplied with a copy of the telegram sent by Secretary Lane to Doak & Brown, at San Francisco containing a proposal for inclusion of government lands in the Klamath diking project following up discussions in Monday's conference with the congressional delegation.

Lane's telegram reads: "After a conference with Senators, congressmen and others, and listening to letters and affidavits representing both sides of the controversy, Congressman Raker suggested that a practical way out of the difficulty would be to permit an amendment to the contract by which the public land would bear the cost of diking. That is to say, that you should proceed to dike both private and public land and that public land should bear its part of that expense of diking, provided the government paid you the cost of the work."

"You would have to segregate this public land in such a manner that it could stand alone as independent units I presume, and whatever the cost the government would bear, and then throw open the land to homestead entry, the government to be reimbursed by the homesteaders. The thought in mind of those here was that you were going to do this work as to private lands anyway and whatever additional cost was imposed for protecting and reclaiming public lands should be borne by the public. The impression that both Senator Chamberlain and Mr. Sinnott had was that everyone in the country was opposed to the contract in the present form. One of the protests which the representative of the American Legion presented was signed by all county officials.

"I trust that you can see your way clear to meet this suggestion, inasmuch as the Oregon legislature is in session and promises to take up this matter. Already American Legion posts, not only in Oregon, but in California, have sent in protests and I can hardly believe that the contract which you have is of such value as to lead you to stand against such a concession as here proposed. I have stated to the delegation flatly that, in my judgment, the soldiers who went on the land would be uncooperated, and that I would not be responsible for treating this as one of our soldier settlements. I would have no objection to presenting a proposition to the Oregon delegation along these lines, understanding of course, that there should be reasonable time given for congress to make an appropriation. Please let me have reply as soon as possible.

FRANKLIN K. LANE."

LABOR AND CAPITAL CO-OPERATION URGED

TOKIO, Dec. 8. (By Mail)—A cooperative organization of capital and labor which would not ignore human instincts and feelings should be established throughout the world, in the opinion of Mrs. Ko-Ko Tanaka, woman adviser to the Japanese labor delegation in the International Labor Conference at Washington.

Contributing her views on the labor question to a Japanese women's magazine, Mrs. Tanaka says that if such a system were inaugurated, the laborer would be emancipated from the position of a wage-earner and would employ his energy with hope and zeal. She continues: "This is no mere paper argument. Such a system is actually practiced in a ticket manufactory at Tokio. It is a small factory with less than 50 hands. The owner leaves the management entirely to his employees. The profits are divided equally between owner and employees. The experiment has stood the test of several years and it could be applied to any factory on a much larger scale."

Mrs. Tanaka believes that union recognition should be granted by the Japanese government and that the union idea should in due course, be extended to woman labor in Japan.

OLD FOLK'S DANCE SUCCESS.

An "Old Folk's Dance," which was not attended entirely by the older generation, either, was held Tuesday evening at St. Cloud. Some two score persons, mostly from Klamath Falls, were in attendance. All who attended had an enjoyable time and pronounce the affair a distinct success.

WEED IS WORST ALFALFA ENEMY

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 15.—(Special)—The worst enemy alfalfa has, it has now been established, is dodder or "love-vine," a parasite which entwines itself around the alfalfa plants and saps their vitality. In some sections dodder has wiped out whole fields of alfalfa, one plant often spreading over a radius of 20 feet in a single season. In irrigated sections it runs rampant when once introduced.

The Oregon dodder law, enacted last February by the legislature, provides fines of from $10 to $50 for the first violation and $50 to $250 for other offenses. Under its provisions any person or firm owning or occupying land containing dodder can be compelled to remove it within 20 days after complaint of any landowner or be subject to the fine. The alfalfa infested with dodder must be cut before the weed seed ripens, and removed from the field.

Better than eradicating dodder is preventing its getting started. This can only be accomplished by a refusal to plant untested seed. Any seed that is to be purchased may be tested by sending a sample to the seed laboratory, Oregon Agricultural college, Corvallis, Oregon. Here a free purity test will be made, giving the kinds and amounts of foreign seeds present.

The Oregon seed law makes it unlawful to sell any seed containing more than one dodder seed to 20,000 alfalfa seed, but most of the seed firms do not have their own testers and much of the seed sold in this state is not tested. For the protection of the farmers and the farming communities the government laboratory in Corvallis is maintained to test samples free of charge. Now is the time to get this done.

CHILEAN YOUTH ADMIRES U. S.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 15. (By Mail)—"Why I am Yankophile" is the subject of an article contributed to "Ultimas Noticias" by a Chilean who has visited the United States. Some of the reasons he gives for liking the United States are:

Because when a person falls down nobody laughs.

When in the street a person steps on another's toes, they do not insult each other.

The shopkeepers can leave their deliveries on the doorstep.

People keep in line at ticket offices and have respect for each other's place in the line.

Everybody takes a bath.

People have only one surname.

There is profound respect for the police. The public fear the police and not the police the public.

The people know how to walk in the streets, always passing to the right and they do not stop to talk.

There is only "first-class" on railroad trains and special cars for smokers.

Drunkards in that country are an extinct species.

The name doesn't make the man, but the man the name.

It is a sign of ill breeding not to respect the opinions of others. (There are two hundred religions in that country).

Youths of 18 are in the universities, and not in the stock exchange or saloons.

Democracy co-exists with the government.

The men know how to sing and are not bashful about it.

So fast has been the improvement in engine boilers and fireboxes that the power derived from a pound of coal today is nearly three times as great as it was fifty years ago.

It is said that cypress and walnut, or cypress and cedar, cause each other to rot when used in contact.

There are fewer suicides in proportion to population in Ireland than in any other country in the world.

It is just one hundred years since the White House saw its first wedding—that of the daughter of President Monroe.

A medical authority declares that hearty sneezing is a sign of a robust constitution. People in feeble health seldom sneeze.

The West Indian crab is a remarkable creature. Although born in the sea, it matures in fresh water and passes its adult life on land.

VALERA'S SPEECHES SURPRISE DUBLIN

DUBLIN, Dec. 27.—(By Mail)—Eamonn De Valera's speeches in America with regard to the part played by Irish soldiers in the war have been read in Ireland with some surprise, and it is pointed out here, that in this matter Mr. De Valera's sentiments differ a good deal from those of his supporters. Captain M'Walter, a Dublin physician and member of the Dublin Municipal Council, who served throughout the war in the Army Medical Corps, writes as follows in the Dublin Press.

"All the ex-service men, and there are over 40,000 of us, were pleased to find Mr. De Valera assuring his American audience that we fought for a principle and that Irishmen in the earlier days of the war rushed to the ranks in overwhelming numbers. But whilst Mr. De Valera rightly interprets our position to the Americans his followers and supporters in Dublin never cease to pour contempt on Irish soldiers and to heap every indignity possible upon them.

LAVENIK PEGS RECORD SCORE

M. P. Lavenik hung up a new record for the highest individual score on the Elks' alleys last night, when, in the contest between Jester's "Ducks" and Hoagland's "Spark Plugs" he down 273 pins in the third game. His total for three games, however, 630, was eclipsed by C. A. Hayden, who rolled a consistent series, emerging with a total of 665, an average of 221 2-3.

High scores were the rule rather than the exception of the contest. There were no games Tuesday evening on account of the non-appearance of players on both teams. Tonight is the regular lodge meeting night, on which no games are played, but tomorrow night the Duffs and Rookies will clash. Last night's score:
