WHAT WILL THEY THINK OF US?

Klamath Falls is possessed of a "cantankerous and factional spirit," and can't get together on anything, Alex Rosborough is alleged to have told the Lane hearing on the question of the Upper Lake marsh land leases, January 12, appearing in behalf of the interests of the California-Oregon Power company. In support of his belief Mr. Rosborough is said, in a letter received by the local post of the American Legion, to have pointed to "their three court-houses" as an indication of the impossibility for the community to pull together on development matters.

ASKS FOR LETTERS.

Petition for letters of administration in the estate of the late Martin Konzack was filed yesterday with the county court by Christ Konzack, of Klamath Falls, a brother. The estate consists of land in this county, valued at $3000. The decedent left six brothers and sisters, including the petitioner and a brother, Fred Konzack, who lives at Merrill.

WOOL GROWERS IN CONVENTION

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 20.—An appeal that American wool growers go on record in favor of the peace treaty and the league of nations was made by F. J. Hagenbarth, of Salt Lake City, president of the National Wool Growers' Association, when the organization opened a three days' convention here yesterday.

"We should be ready to hold out a helping hand," he said. "But let us have a league based on American ideals and at the same time safeguarding our own constitution and nationality."

President Hagenbarth described the railroad service during the past two years as "unsatisfactory and damaging to livestock." In all, he said, the railroad service has been "wretched and badly disorganized," and asserted the losses of the growers from causes incident to the bad service would run into millions.

"If the past year affords a fair example of what the shipper may expect from government operation of railroads," he said, "I am sure the wool growers will be a unit against such an undertaking."

President Hagenbarth laid stress upon the shortage of freight cars. Double-deck cars are especially needed, he said, for the shipment of sheep.

From present indications, President Hagenbarth said, it is quite certain there will be no reduction of costs in the production of the 1920 wool crop. "The 1920 yield," he asserted, "is already 80 per cent made and paid for, and necessarily there can be no saving."

He emphasized the necessity of competition with English and foreign wool. "At the present we are largely in the hands of Great Britain as to what prices on fine wool should be," he said.

"The general impression prevails," he said, "that the wool growers have been losing money. However, the wool and mutton production business has not been as profitable as before the war. Money has been made in isolated instances and localities where conditions were unusual."

Labor costs have increased more than 100 per cent and feed has doubled or trebled in cost, he said. "Coupled with these excessive expenses," he continued, "we have met with declining markets on our meat products."

To try to control railroad rates by arbitrarily limiting profits is to put the manager who makes his profits by efficiency and economy on the same level as the one who tries to accomplish the same result through extortionate charges.
—Hadley Railroad Securities Commission Report to the President—1914.

The old-time pack-bearer could carry a hundred pounds ten miles a day.

The railroad is the modern pack-bearer. For every employee it carries 2,000 times as much.

Back of each railroad worker there is a $10,000 investment in tracks and trains and terminals, with steam and electricity harnessed like a great beast of burden.

Without this mighty transportation machine the railroad worker could do no more than the old-time packer. But with it he is enabled to earn the highest railroad wages paid in the world, while the country gains the lowest-cost transportation in the world.

The modern railroad does as much work for half a cent as the pack-bearer could do for a full day's pay.

The investment of capital in transportation and other industries increases production, spreads prosperity and advances civilization.

To enlarge our railroads so that they may keep pace with the Nation's increasing production, to improve them so that freight may be hauled with less and less human effort—a constant stream of new capital needs to be attracted.

Under wise public regulation the growth of railroads will be stimulated, the country will be adequately and economically served, labor will receive its full share of the fruits of good management, and investors will be fairly rewarded.

11 Other Molds

With the Jiffy-Cup we will send you pictures of eleven other molds—dessert and salad molds. All those molds are sent free to users of Jiffy-Jell.

We want you to have them. We want Jiffy-Jell served attractively.

It's Real Fruit

Jiffy-Jell means a real-fruit dessert. It is not like the old-style gelatin dainties.

Ten Flavors in Glass

A Bottle in Each Package

Mint Raspberry Strawberry Orange Lime Loganberry Pineapple Lemon Coffee

The flavors come in liquid form, in bottles. They are juices of crushed fruit concentrated.

Jiffy-Jell has a wealth of fruit flavor. We use half a pineapple, for instance, to flavor a pint dessert. The Pineapples are crushed in Hawaii—fruit too ripe to ship.

It is real fruit, not mere flavor, that folks like and need.

Serve It Often

People need fruit daily. Jiffy-Jell supplies it at a trifling cost, and you make it in an instant.

A delicious serving of rare fruit-flavored dessert costs you less than one small apple.

Serve it often—three times weekly. Winter is when people need it. And every serving seems like a fruit-time dainty. Cut out this cup offer so you won't forget.

If you enclose 7 @ trade-marks we will also send the set of 6 Individual Dessert Molds.

AT THE THEATERS

Lucille Lee Stewart, the emotional star who appears in "The Eleventh Commandment," the Ralph Ince production, released by Exhibitors Mutual, is credited with the greatest success of her career in this big dramatic play.

Miss Stewart's portrayal of the character of Dora Chester in her new picture is said to afford the popular star a role in which the power and charm of her distinctive emotional talent is given full sway. This delineator of screen characterizations is at her best when the situation is one of tense and restrained feeling.

Never overacting, the surety with which she approaches her part and the magnetism of her personality gives an individuality to everything she does. A big scene in "The Eleventh Commandment," which calls upon her resources to the utmost is when as a happily married young bride, worshipped by her husband, she is confronted at night in the privacy of her sleeping apartment by a visitor who turns out to be her former fiancé, determined to wreck her happiness by revealing to her husband an unhappy episode of her past.

The culmination of the scene is dramatic in the extreme, resulting in the death of the midnight intruder, but only after a succession of dramatic situations that call upon all the resources of this great actress.

The grand total of all the gold ore produced in the United States since 1792 is but about half of the amount of the last United States Victory bond issue.

TRAPPERS ARE MAKING MONEY

Trappers in Klamath county are making good money this season, said Charles Donart, who has handled about $1800 worth of furs so far. Mr. Donart is advertising in the Herald columns* for 800 mink and 1000 coyote skins to be delivered at the Eagle pool rooms. Since Saturday he has bought more than a score of mink furs, besides coyote, marten, weasel and skunk skins.

Among 12 mink furs taken in the Algoma district were several extra fine pelts. One of these, says Mr. Donart, is the largest fur he has seen in Klamath county, and he has been in the fur trade here for nearly 15 years.

Coyote trappers get the bounty allowed by the county in addition to the price of the fur. Mr. Donart bought a coyote skin recently, a top-notch fur, which netted the trapper, bounty and all, $21.50.
