SHIP WITH WAR RECORD BURNED

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The passenger steamship St. Louis, with a record of having served with distinction through two wars in which the United States was a belligerent, and in the interval carrying passengers across the Atlantic under the American flag, is now a blackened hull, the victim of a fire started by a painter's torch.

The big ship was being reconditioned at a ship yard for service after her second honorable discharge from the "colors" when the accident took place. Her owners, the American Line, say she can be repaired, but it will mean practically rebuilding her and it is a task of many months.

The St. Louis was christened by Mrs. Grover Cleveland. Her construction and launching was an epoch in American shipbuilding in that she was the first "ocean greyhound" to be built in this country. She made her first voyage in June of 1895. Under a contract with the American government she was entrusted with the fast mail of England and Europe.

Under command of Captain W. Goodrich, U. S. N., she was equipped with heavy guns as an auxiliary cruiser in the Spanish-American war. Her first adventure of note was when she was ordered to cut the cable between Santiago de Cuba and Kingston, Jamaica. Running up until she was under the direct fire of the guns of Morro Castle, American gunners sent back shot for shot and succeeded in silencing all but the mortar batteries of the fortification, while sailors were fishing out and cutting the cable line.

On June 13, 1898, she captured the British freighter Twickenham which was taking a cargo of coal into Santiago presumably to be used for the Spanish fleet. She was off that port when Admiral Cervera made his dash for the open sea, and she brought to Portsmouth, N. H., the captured Spanish Admiral and 746 members of the crews of his defeated fleet.

In 1917 when the United States joined the war against Germany, the St. Louis was one of the first American passenger ships to be armed and to defy the German submarines and mines. She had many narrow escapes, and once was actually hit by a torpedo but without serious damage. She carried to and from France thousands of American soldiers and she was one of the last ships to be released from war duty to return to pursuits of peace.

Rumor has it that Tom Jones, formerly manager of Jess Wilkard, is willing to supplant Tom O'Rourke as pilot for Fred Fulton.
