

TWO IN ONE

For the middle-aged or elderly person who requires one pair of glasses for reading and another pair for out-of-door use, we recommend our invisible bifocal or double vision glasses.

They are really two pairs of glasses in one—two lenses fused together without any visible joining. There is no prominent seam or joint to tell the public that the wearer is "getting along in years."

With our Invisible Bifocals even your closest friends cannot detect that you are wearing double vision glasses. Call and see them.

AT THE THEATERS

The best loved work of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, the famous poet, will be shown on the screen tomorrow, when the William Fox big special production, "Evangeline," with Miriam Cooper in the title role will open at the Liberty Theatre.

"Evangeline" the poem achieved instant success not only in America, but all over the world, and within a few years was translated into every civilized tongue.

A comparable success is predicted for the Fox film version as it adheres most faithfully to Longfellow's exquisite dramatic poem, in addition to being the most beautiful of all motion picture productions.

A common declaration has been that such a work as "Evangeline" was not susceptible of successful translation to the screen—that its exquisite beauty as set forth in poetry could not be conveyed to an audience of means of the camera, and that any attempt must prove a dismal failure.

SHASTA VIEW NOTES

Quite a number interested in the Shasta View Irrigation district met Project Manager Newell at the school house Tuesday evening of last week. Mr. Newell explained the proposition of the government, which is not less than $28,000 to bring water to the plant, and while nothing definite could be decided yet the agitation of the question of irrigation keeps the ball rolling and it is hoped will bring results. C. M. Kirkpatrick and O. E.

Hunt were elected as directors to fill the vacancy made when the district was divided.

C. M. Kirkpatrick, wife, son and mother and Mrs. H. E. Wilson and daughter were Klamath Falls visitors Monday.

Olive Whipple, Lola Schafer, Nellie DeLamater, Charles Faught and Joe Zumpfe took their dinner Sunday and spent the day on the peninsula. Queer time of year for a picnic but the day was like a summer day and all report a very pleasant trip.

Mr. Story came Monday with his well drill to drill the well on the O. E. Hunt ranch deeped. He expects to drill the H. E. Wilson well deeper also while here.

The ladies of the Helping Hand society met with Mrs. J. L. Bailey Wednesday with fourteen members and six visitors present. Mrs. Crandall was welcomed as a new member after which the following officers were elected: Mrs. Dilla Bailey, president; Mrs. Emma Wilson, vice-president; Mrs. Mabel Fogle, secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Case from Mt. Laki has been spending a few days with her sister, Miss Louise Hatch.

C. E. Hunt and wife called at C. C. Garrison's in Merrill Sunday to see their son, Wesley, who is very ill.

The H. C. L. and Clothes

The thing to be careful about this season is not so much what you pay for what you get, but WHAT YOU GET FOR WHAT YOU PAY.

Good clothing is scarce. However, there's plenty of shoddy stuff on the market—commanding high prices, too. The best way to lower the high cost of living in respect to clothes is to buy clothes that you know are thoroughly reliable, from a store that has a reputation for fair and honest prices.

Such clothes are Kuppenheimer Clothes and such a store is K. K. K. Store. You'll find The House of Kuppenheimer maintaining the same high standards of workmanship and of quality all-wool fabrics, notwithstanding conditions.

We were very fortunate in buying our fall merchandise before the sharp advance in cost. Our present prices are not based on the higher wholesale market today but on the prices we paid many months ago, with only a fair and honest margin of profit.

That's why you will get greater value here. Our prices today represent only a very little advance, if any, over last Spring's prices.

PLAINTIVE LAY OF POETIC SHEPHERD

Despite the shortage of print paper, the poetic plaint of the lone sheep-herder moves us to grant space to his portrayal of his woes. His relapse into verse is explained by a letter, which says:

"While in Klamath county last year I herded sheep for various owners. It is taken for granted that the man who herds sheep for a living is not of sound mind and judgment, therefore liable to lose his mind. I claim to be no exception, only I put it in rhyme. 'You seldom see anything in the papers about the sheep-herder. Could you publish these verses?'"

Here are the alleged verses:

The Lone Sheep-herder
By Johnnie Doolittle.
I am a lone sheep-herder
On the desolate plain,
I watch over the sheep
In storm or in rain.

I'm always on watch
By night and by day,
The cunning coyote
Might be coming this way.

Just think, for the product
I raise every year
The poor and the needy
Are shedding a tear.

The millionaire comes
With his purse and his gold,
The widow and orphan
Remain in the cold.

I am a lonely sheep-herder
On the desolate plain;
Do I get any credit?
Are my efforts in vain?
