O. A. C. WILL GIVE
LOVING CUP TO DEAN

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COL-LEGE, Corvallis, Jan. 26.—A silver loving cup will be given by A. B.
Cordley, dean of the school of agriculture, to the department of the school which has the best exhibit at a big agricultural fair to be given in the college armory soon. Management of the fair is in the hands of a committee under Harold White of Kerby, a senior in agriculture.

The fair is being handled almost entirely by the students who will be responsible for the exhibits. Stunts will be given as an additional attraction. The finance committee is headed by J. L. Spriggs of Medford, the advertising by D. V. Conklin of Ontario, the awards by E. Reynolds of LaGrande, and the exhibits by W. E.
Niles of Grants Pass. The advisory board consists of O. M. Nelson and C.
V. Ruzek.

MASONS ATTENTION.

There will be a special communication of Klamath Lodge No. 77 A. F.
& A. M. at the Masonic Hall, Monday evening, January 26th, 1920, at 7:30 p. m. Work in E. A. Degree.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Thirteenth Chair," the murder mystery story by Bayard Veiller that gripped New York theatregoers for over a year, is showing in its screen version by Leonce Perret for Pathe at the Liberty Theatre where a large audience witnessed it at every performance yesterday. As Klamath Falls has never seen the stage version of "The Thirteenth Chair" it gets the entire benefit of the prologue that has been added, with the entire approval of the author, to the story in order to adapt it to moving picture demands.

The story is concerned with the murder of Stephen Lee, a cad of the worst sort. Suspicion falls upon Heler O'Neill, who is with him at the time he is stabbed, but she did not see the murderer. A friend of the murdered man is determined to solve the mystery and connives with a clairvoyant to hold a seance and call upon the spirit of the dead man to accuse the murderer. Before the spirit can answer, the man who asked the question is killed in the same manner as Lee. The problem to be solved then is, who killed Stephen Lee and the man in the thirteenth chair? The climax comes swiftly and with a smashing effect that would be ruined if we related more of the plot.

In the hands of an excellent cast "The Thirteenth Chair" is enhanced greatly. Yvonne Delva as the girl suspected of the murder is a beautiful, appealing figure and Creighton Hale a manly lover. Marie Shotwell rises to splendid heights in the role of the clairvoyant, and Marc MacDermott plays the role of Stephen Lee with the fitness that characterizes all his portrayals.

"Tuesday popular William Farnum will be seen at the Liberty in "The Bondman."

Published statistics show that the average number of children in each family in Ireland exceeds that of any other European country.

BUSINESS WOMAN

Mrs. Atkins Recovers Health and Makes Strong Statement for Tanlac

"Tanlac has certainly proved what it can do by restoring me to health and I am recommending it to my friends and customers," was the statement made recently by Mrs.
Minnie Atkins, who is the proprietor of Mother's Place, a well-patronized restaurant at 129 West Broadway, San Diego, Cal.

"About a year ago my health began to fail me and I got in a terribly weakened, run-down condition," continued Mrs. Atkins. "I had almost no appetite at all and what little I forced myself to eat did me more harm than good, and all the time I felt so weak and tired that it was all I could do to keep the place going.

"After I had been in this condition several weeks, the clerk in the hotel next door told me about Tanlac and advised me to give it a trial.
Well, it was no time after I began taking it before I was feeling better, and by the time I had finished my second bottle my appetite had come back, I could digest everything I ate perfectly and was feeling just as fine as ever.

"I was in the very best of health until about three months ago, when I had a bad case of the influenza and was in bed a week and unable to attend to my work for two weeks more. I was left in such a weakened condition that I was hardly able to get across the floor and had pains and aches all over my body. I lost my appetite again and was troubled so with indigestion that nearly everything I ate or drank disagreed with me.

"I sent for Tanlac again and took two more bottles, and it did just like it had done a year before, and it was no time before I was able to do my work with as much ease as ever and without getting tired or worn out.
I can eat anything I please without any bad effects at all, and the pains all left me and I am never troubled in any way. Tanlac is certainly a fine medicine and it is always a pleasure to me to recommend it whenever I get a chance."

Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., and in Lorella by the James Merc. Co.—Adv.

The railroads are in-economic life, and railway securities are at the very heart of most investments in, large and small, public and private, by individuals and by institutions.

WOODROW WILSON

THE war could not have been won without railroads.
Transport—by rail and sea—is an indispensable arm of national defence.

Carrying capacity, from the wheat fields and the mines and the steel mills to the front lines in France, was the measure of our power in war.

And it is the measure of our power in peace.

Industrial expansion — increasing national prosperity — greater world trade — are vitally dependent on railroad growth.

The limit to the productive power of this country is the limit set by railroad capacity to haul the products of our industry.

The amount of freight carried on American rails doubled from 1897 to 1905—since that year it has doubled again.

It will double still again.

To haul this rapidly growing traffic the country must have more railroads—more cars and engines—more tracks and terminals.

Sound national legislation, broad-visioned public regulation will encourage the expansion of railroads, without which the nation cannot grow.
