AT THE THEATERS

Frank Keenan's third independent production, "The World Aflame," which shows today at the Liberty Theatre, has been called an epochal play. It treats of a tremendous modern problem from a point never used before, and it is done so vitally, so intimately, and with such humanity, withal, that one is apt to lose sight of the consummate art in fashioning the theme, in taking to heart its tremendous achievement. "The World Aflame" is as timely to the universal social unrest as "The Battle Cry of Peace" was to its day of military unpreparedness.

Montagu Love, the famous and popular star, will be seen on Tuesday at the Liberty Theatre in "The Rough Neck," a new World Picture.

Much of the action of this picture transpires in a lumber camp where Montagu Love in the role of John Marsters is the boss. Barbara Castleton, in the role of Frances Armitage, comes to the camp with her father where she sees Marsters taking summary punishment on a half-breed who transgresses one of the iron-clad laws of the camp. She is at once impressed with the idea that Marsters is nothing but a roughneck. This idea makes her take a positive dislike to Marsters, and this dislike is enhanced when Marsters finds her father pulling some rough stuff and immediately takes steps to stop it.

"The Rough Neck" is thoroughly interesting and entertaining from start to finish. It is a decidedly unusual photoplay, too, in that only one woman appears in the production throughout.

The story of "The Rough Neck" was written by Harry O. Hoyt, who has written a number of other World successes, among which are "The Beloved Blackmailer," "By Hook or Crook" and others. In "The Rough Neck" he has penned a picture that is particularly well suited to Mr. Love's talents and in which Miss Castleton's beauty and ability are both seen to splendid advantage.

This picture will please you. Make a point of seeing it.

BOXERS ARRIVE FOR BATTLES

Bearing marks of the heavy slug with Sailor Suddington at Sacramento Wednesday night. Young Papke, who is to meet Mickey Brown at the local opera house in an eight-round contest Wednesday night, arrived last night and started final training bright and early this morning by jogging over several miles of hilly road west of the city. Papke has joined Huff's training camp and will work out with the middleweight every afternoon over the Dodge garage on Fourth street.

Brown, Papke's opponent, also came in last night and while the Sacramento boxer was chasing jackrabbits on the western hills, Brown was stirring the dust along the highways to the east. He has a trainer with him and they have established quarters at the White Pelican.

Sailor Bosco, who will swap blows with Huff in the ten-round main event, will arrive tonight, with Bob Wall as a trainer and sparring partner.

While the veterans are bending every effort to improving their condition for the main battles, Earn Grafton is not overlooking the fact that he is up against a serious proposition in his bout with Eaton in the preliminary. Grafton hardly expects the 18 second victory over Young Fonville last month to be repeated but he is out for another decision if training will do it. Dr. W. A. Leonard is handling Grafton and is putting him thru a rigorous course.

Matchmaker Knight today received word from Dick O'Brien, the Cincinnati giant, that he will meet Earl Richey here on February 28 if that date is agreeable to the local fighter O'Brien is anxious for the battle and leaves arrangements in the hands of the matchmaker. Richey has been training for the past week and will doubtless agree to meet the easterner on the date fixed by the latter.
