

The Government Took Over The Possession and Management

of certain QUASI-public concerns, and, with the assistance of a large part of the previously formed organizations, realized some success in operation, but as a total result the experiment was a failure. Every day that passes furnishes evidence to justify this assertion. The property and businesses taken over have been or will be returned to the owners for the real reason, if not admitted, that the undertakings were too big and complicated for new and unexperienced chiefs to manage. What the results of this experiment will be as to the future value of the properties no one can, with accuracy, predict. It cannot be entirely satisfactory to the owners or, for some years at least, to the general public.

There was clearly demonstrated during the war the value and practical benefit of private management as compared with public management. If it be said that government (or municipal) conduct of business has sometimes been successful, the answer is that the same business in the hands of private, responsible individuals, with capital and success at stake, would have resulted more favorably.

INTEREST MAKES BANK ACCOUNTS GROW BIGGER

THERE'S two kinds of INTEREST involved in that statement of YOU. The first, and most important, is the interest YOU take in your bank account. The second, and also essential, is the interest which WE pay here at the First National on SAVINGS. Now you'll see that you'd better get busy if you want to prosper.

NEW SYSTEM FOR ASSIGNING ARMY RECRUITS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—To stimulate regular army recruiting and arouse local interest, the war department has issued to all recruiting officers over the country a schedule for allocation of recruits by states to specific regiments. Through this method of distribution, officials believe each state will take a personal interest in the regiments to which its men are assigned.

The framework of a divisional organization on geographical lines is also set up. New England will make up one division, New York compose another, and similarly the whole country is covered.

Infantry and field artillery regiments will be so allocated as to best identify each regiment with a separate state, according to the plan. Where the number of regiments is greater or less than the number of states comprising the divisional area, a regiment may be made up of recruits from more than one state.

The regiments to which recruits from the northwest states will go are as follows:

Infantry and coast artillery recruits from Oregon, Idaho and Montana go to the 35th and 57th regiments, Camp Lewis, Wash.; engineers to 8th, El Paso or Fort Bliss, and cavalry to 16th, Brownsville, Tex. Oregon and Montana field artillery, 78th, Camp Grant, Ill., and Idaho to 4th, Camp Stanley, Tex.

Infantry and coast artillery recruits from Washington will go to the 1st and 57th, Camp Lewis, Wash.; field artillery to 78th, Camp Grant, Ill.; engineers, 8th, El Paso, or Fort Bliss; cavalry, 15th, Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo.

The first notable convention of woman suffrage advocates in the Pacific Northwest was held at Portland, Ore., in 1873.

OLD PRECEDENT FOR DEPORTING BAD CITIZENS

BOSTON, Feb. 13.—Deportation of "undesirables" is not an innovation in this country. The Pilgrim Fathers, confronted with the problem of dealing with malcontents among them, shipped the disgruntled ones overseas. There was no Soviet Ark in those days because there were not so many troublesome spirits, but the fathers' action against the men who sought to spread dissension was summary.

Rear Admiral Francis T. Bowles, resigned, in describing the experiences of the Pilgrims, quotes from Governor Bradford's story of the Plymouth colony to show how things were done in those days.

"The 'reds' in the Plymouth colony," Admiral Bowles says, "were represented by John Liford and John Oldham, who conspired together both against the church and the government of the colony, endeavored to entice others with them, and wrote defamatory letters to the friends of the colony in England. As the governor says, 'both Oldham and he, Liford, grew very perverse, and showed a spirit of great malignancy, drawing as many into faction as they could, were they never so vile or profane, they did nourish them in their doings.'

"Oldham having refused duty when called upon by Captain Standish, it was determined to place both Liford and Oldham on trial and all members of the colony were called upon to be present. Liford and Oldham were convicted and the court sentenced them to be expelled from the colony. Ultimately both were deported.

"Oldham once came again to the colony, and having created a serious breach of the peace, Governor Bradford, says, 'they comited him till he was tamer, and then appointed a guard of musketers which he was to pass throw, and everyone was ordered to give him a thump on ye brelch, with ye butt end of his musket and cheu was vaneled to ye waterside, where a boat was ready to carry him away. Then they bid him goe and menoe his maners.'"

PAPER MILLS FOR ALASKA

SEATTLE, Feb. 13.—Alaska wants to throw open her millions of acres of national forests so that the billions of feet of paper wood of the north-land can help relieve the pulp and newsprint famine. Governor Thomas Riggs, Jr., of Alaska, declared here recently.

Governor Riggs was here on his way from Juneau, capital of Alaska, to Washington, D. C., where he expected to help press pending legislation intended to remove restriction and allow pulp manufacturers to go into the Tangass and Crugach, reservations, the northern territory's two great reserves.

Pulp and paper men are anxious to go to Alaska and establish mills as great as those operated in British Columbia not far south of the Alaska boundary line, the governor asserted. Under the present laws the pulp makers cannot enter the reservations with any certainty that they will be allowed to stay.

Alaska's great forests stretch over approximately 34,000 square miles, an area nearly equal in size to the state of Indiana, according to certificates made by government officials. Several hundred million feet of good pulp wood, including western yellow pine, hemlock, Sitka spruce, white fir and lodge-pole pine, are on the forest reserves alone.

The Tongas reserve, in southeastern Alaska, is especially adapted to the manufacture of pulp and paper, forestry officials have reported. There is plenty of water power, ocean harbors open the year round, timber skirting the water and weather similar to that of the Puget Sound.

The Governor intends to ask Washington to restore the reserves to the national domain or to open them to the pulp industry.

That the court also decree that at such sale any party to this suit may become the purchaser of any part or all of said real property, and decree that immediately upon the purchase of said property the sheriff shall place the purchaser into complete possession of the property so purchased;

That the court also decree and declare that plaintiff's lien upon all of the said real property by virtue of said mortgage aforesaid is prior in time and superior in right to any right, title, interest, estate or lien of the said defendants, Colin V.
