AMERICANS LEAD IN USE OF OIL

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(By Mail).—“Americans are a long way ahead of us in the use of oil fuel for ships,” said J. H. Williams, an expert on marine engineering, at a recent meeting of the Institute of Marine Engineers. “There is hardly an American ship coming over today that is not burning oil,” he proceeded. “Today for shipping there is not the slightest doubt that oil is a cheaper fuel than coal. There are many ports today where oil is half the price of coal. In South America oil is displacing coal very rapidly. Oil can be obtained out east in practically every big port. Wherever coal is dear, oil will displace it. We are barbarians if we use coal today. As scientific men, we should use oil, which is coming into its own and has a tremendous future.

RIVALS RISING FOR DAIRYMEN

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5.—Canada and Argentina may soon prove serious competitors of the United States in the dairy industry, government officials believe. The industry in both countries is in its infancy, yet Canada is producing 70 per cent as much cheese and 12 per cent as much butter as the United States, while Argentina is producing 18 per cent as much cheese and seven per cent as much butter. Canada's butter exports were 41 per cent as large as those of the United States, while her cheese exports greatly exceeded exports from the United States. Argentina's butter exports were double those of the United States and her cheese exports equalled 32 per cent of those of the United States.

It is generally believed, officials say, that Argentina and Canada are capable of extensive development of their industries and it is probable, therefore, that the United States may experience in the future particularly energetic competition. Argentina, 21 days distant from New York, they say, may not be thought of seriously at this time as a direct competitor in the domestic market, but indirectly Argentine butter may supplant Canadian butter in the English market, in which case Canadian butter would find a logical outlet in the United States.

Canada is in a better position today in the world's markets with her butter and cheese than is the United States, officials declare. Moreover, Canada's policy with her returned soldiers and immigrants toward land development is bringing results which eventually will mean larger production.

In the United States available lands are scarce and all lands generally expensive. It is reasonable to believe, government scientists say, that in the future production will not increase in proportion to the population, as the greater part of the really productive land is now utilized. Resumption of the importation of European butter is again giving real competition to our products.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lynch are in the city from their ranch at Merrill. Capt. J. W. Siemens returned last night from a few days' business trip to Portland. The rainfall was light in the north, he says. The money market is becoming tighter and cattle prices are weakening.

J. D. McCarthy, representing the Burroughs Adding Machine company, is in town on business.

E. B. Bishop, division engineer of the state highway commission, left yesterday on a business trip to Salem.

J. S. Rogers of Portland is in the city on business.

G. L. Rees, Portland realty man, is here attending to business interests.

Dr. G. H. Merryman today received a telegram stating that his wife, two children and his parents, who are wintering at Long Beach, California, are all seriously ill with the influenza. He will leave in the morning to join them.

H. H. Jenkins, local grocer, whose leg was badly crushed in an automobile accident two weeks ago, is getting along very well, said Dr. Soule today. The incision made to bind the shattered bone and remove fragments is healing gradually. Mr. Jenkins is now able to be moved to a chair daily, a relief from the monotony of being entirely confined to bed.

Louis Schmitz, farmer of the Catholic Sisters farm, is seriously ill as the result of asthma and a later attack of influenza. His physician, however, expresses no doubt of ultimate recovery.

PROTECTION FOR FORESTS WEEK MAY 23 TO 29

PORTLAND, Mar. 5.—Travel prophets are indicating a record-breaking year for 1920. Thousands of people who never had any money heretofore to spend for travel, have recently acquired substantial bank balances and are using some of their newly-gained wealth for pleasure. Most of these people are buying automobiles and are touring the country in them. They form the great bulk of automobile campers.

The automobile camper during the summer of 1920 is going to be a tremendous problem in Oregon. There is no city or town on or near a main highway which should not establish some kind of automobile camp site for these motor tourists. A great many of the larger cities in the western states have established elaborate “motor cities” or automobile camp grounds equipped with every convenience such as electric stoves for cooking, running water, electric lights, shower baths and other comforts.

The National Forest Service has also laid aside certain portions of the National Forests for camps for autoists.

The motor tourist if segregated in these parking places becomes less a menace to a community than if he is allowed to roam at will and camp wherever he pleases. He is less apt to be the cause of a treacherous forest fire.

Likewise, kept in one particular place he more liable to become an asset to your community because he is usually a man of means who spends plenty of money in every place where he stays and if your camp site is located conveniently near the stores of the town he is sure to patronize them extensively.

The motor tourist is a subject that might be well discussed during the forthcoming Forest Protection Week which has been indicated under the auspices of the Portland Chamber of Commerce for May 23 to 29, inclusive. The Forest Protection Week Committee of the Portland Chamber of Commerce will be glad to send suggestions concerning the celebration of this week to any organization throughout the state. Get busy at once and get the campaign in your locality for Forest Protection Week started at once.

ACH! DER NOODLE!

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 5.—Roy L. Daly, who is in charge of prohibition enforcement in this district, has written to Washington for a ruling on the question whether champagne shall be used for christening vessels. He has suggested that this would be an admirable means of disposing of the stock of that beverage.

AT THE THEATERS

Would you like your husband to beat you? Laura Bartlett said she would, because Billy was so darned good to her, so good it was monotonous. That's why she took the absurd step she did—and it accounts for the multitude of screamingly funny situations in Avery Hopwood's great farce, “Fair and Warmer,” starring May Allison. It's playing at the Liberty Theatre tonight.

Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) is again under the Harry Garson banner after his big success in D. W. Griffith's “Broken Blossoms.” He was especially engaged to play the role of the detective in “Eyes of Youth,” in which Clara Kimball Young is the star, and he has one big scene with Miss Young. “Eyes of Youth” will be presented at the Liberty Theatre on Sunday for the first time.

SHASTA VIEW NEWS

From our source of information we feel quite confident that the Shasta View Irrigation District is going to come to the front in such a manner in the near future that the pessimist will have to sit alone or join the ranks of the optimists and get busy along with the crowd.

We are pleased to note that so far our school has not had to be closed and all those who are sick are improving nicely and trust this may continue.

William Laymon and wife are rejoicing over the arrival of a little son at their home.

O. E. Hunt killed three hogs and took them to Klamath Falls one day last week.

We notice a few tractors are already “tearing up the turf” on the Tule lake land and no doubt others will soon follow suit.

James Watkins, John Johnson and two other gentlemen from Klamath Falls were in this section one day last week.

the agricultural committee of the house of commons and the ministry of agriculture.

“The act hinders farming operations,” said George T. Apps, general secretary of the union, to an interviewer. “It means working in the early morning while the dew is on the ground. You cannot mow while the grass is very wet. Cows cannot be milked according to the clock.”

HOG ISLAND SHIPYARD WILL BE ABANDONED

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 5.—The world's greatest shipyard at Hog Island, built to overcome the ravages of the German submarine and help win the war for the Allies, will launch its last war-time ship in June and turn it over to the government in September. When the last of the fabricated ships of the war-time contract leaves the vast plant on the Delaware, Hog Island will have turned over to the government 122 vessels, a record of more than one ship a week since the first boat was sent overboard in August, 1918. There have been several double launchings in one day, and on Memorial Day last year five ships were launched in a little more than an hour, establishing a world's record.

When Hog Island was going at top speed during the war with 50 ways occupied, approximately 35,000 men were employed. This force has been reduced to about 22,000 and after the last ship is launched in June the force will be reduced to 25 per cent of this number. These men will complete and equip the ships still left to be turned over to the government.

What is to become of Hog Island is the great problem confronting the owners of the yard. Recently the United States Shipping Board took over the title to the ground. Philadelphia has been urged to take over the yard and continue it either as a shipbuilding plant or convert it into a great terminal. Efforts to interest the state have also been made, but the amount of money required to buy the great plant has been a stumbling block. It was proposed that the state purchase the 900 acres with two miles of water front and lease them out to manufacturing and other concerns.
