LIVING IS CHEAPER SOUTH OF BORDER

JUAREZ, Mex., Mar. 10—Comparison of the prices of groceries in Juarez with those that prevail in El Paso, opposite here, reveal that most foodstuffs are cheaper on the Mexican side of the river, according to a compilation just prepared by Stephen E. Aguirre, vice consul for the United States at Juarez. Rice and sugar are three cents a pound less in Juarez than in El Paso.

Letters From The People

LEGION MAN IN ANSWER TO SEEHORN

To The Editor of the Evening Herald:

It is the intention of the writer in this letter to confine his remarks principally to a certain article, published in The Evening Herald of the issue of February 27, the characteristically eloquent essence of which, as I see it, was to warn the public mind of a certain alleged impending catastrophe to the county and its citizens by "obstructive propaganda" perpetrated by the American Legion.

At the outset, I will state a universally admitted precept—that consistency is one of the most admirable virtues of mankind, and since the article in question, so eloquently penned by a certain official, and to which Mr. W. E. Seehorn appended his name, is the direct antithesis of all that is consistent, it is perfectly natural that the honest citizens of this county accepted it with mingled chuckles and grunts of disgust. It is unnecessary to dwell upon the past career of the official who wrote Mr. Seehorn's article. The public is sufficiently cognizant of his notorious reactionary policies, particularly to his opposition to the Strahorn railroad.

The statement in Mr. Seehorn's article, "that the farmers were in full possession of their faculties when by the result of the straw vote they repudiated the Bradbury proposition," is in itself sufficient to render his contribution worthless, since the "Bradbury proposition" was not repudiated that anyone knows of. The exact opposite result prevailed. Either Mr. Seehorn did not know this, or he accepted another person's word for it as a little child accepts the counsel of a parent.

If citizens of this county, and farmers particularly, actually believed that the fight maintained by the American Legion against the usurpation and monopoly of the public domain for a term of years, at the termination of which most of us will need a wheel chair more than a homestead, is really as pernicious and destructive to their interests and to the future of their posterity as Mr. Seehorn and his contemporaries would have them believe,—I say if the citizens really believed that,—they would have been long since on the war-path, with a bomb in each hand. Again the inconsistency of Mr. Seehorn is apparent. It is hardly possible that if put in the balance the judgment and past records of Mr. Seehorn and his associates would outweigh those of members of the Oregon delegation to the national congress and of every Klamath county official but one, who have repeatedly and consistently endorsed the action of the American Legion and just as vehemently condemned the attitude of those interests and their local emissaries against whom our attacks are directed.

A perusal of the article in question, and others of similar trend, would lead one to believe, if they were to be taken seriously, that our participation in the job of putting old Bill Kaiser and his bunch of junkers on the blink for good deprived us of all natural rights to an expression in the affairs of our community. As long as we members of the American Legion believe that we are upheld in our action by right and justice, we will continue to wage a relentless warfare against wrong, whether it be in the form of a misguided, boastful nation or greedy corporate interests.

Just what impetus Mr. Seehorn has given to the "clock of progress," which he says has been set back indefinitely by the American Legion, I am not in a position to say. However, citizens of Klamath Falls probably are familiar with his record. Although he was not of military age during the war with Germany, he undoubtedly was during the Spanish-American war, and he did not enlist then. It is a known fact that those who intentionally took to the bushes instead of donning the uniform in true manly fashion are constitutionally opposed to those who acquitted themselves honorably in the service.
