Half a Pineapple

Crushed to Flavor One Jiffy-Jell Dessert

Here is one example of the wealth of fruit in Jiffy-Jell desserts.

We crush pineapples in Hawaii—fruit too ripe to ship. The juice of half a fruit is condensed and sealed in a vial to flavor one pint dessert.

Yet the whole dessert costs but a few cents, ready at your call.

So with eight rich fruits which come in Jiffy-Jell. All are made from crushed fruit, all are abundant. All come in liquid form, condensed and sealed in glass—a bottle in each package.

Real-fruit flavors in bottles

Mark this Jiffy-Jell distinction. Note how it differs from old-style quick gelatine desserts. Jiffy-Jell alone has these bottled fruit-juice essences.

Jiffy-Jell desserts are fruit-made dainties, rich in fruit. The fruit taste is not mere flavor and not artificial.

People need fruit daily. Now, when fruit is costly, this is an ideal way to serve it.

Complete desserts

Jiffy-Jell comes ready-sweetened. It is acidulated with evaporated fruit acid. A rare-grade gelatine is in it, and the fruit-juice essence in a vial.

You simply add hot water as directed on package, and let cool. Then a package of Jiffy-Jell serves six people in mold form, or twelve if you whip the jell.

Yet this fruit-made dainty, rich in fruit, costs a trifle. It costs less than serving apples.

'Twill delight you

Try Jiffy-Jell in various fruit flavors. Try the fruit flavor for a tart green salad jell. Try mint for a mint jell to serve with meats.

Learn what these dainties mean to you. Compare them with old-style desserts of this type.

We offer you choice of several 50-cent molds if you will do this, and at once. Cut out our offer so you won't forget.

ENGLAND NEEDS MORE COTTON

MANCHESTER, Eng., Feb. 25.—(By Mail).—Lancashire's entire cotton trade, at a recent conference here to urge upon the government the importance of increasing the supply of raw cotton within the British Empire, heard Lord Derby, president of the British Cotton Growing Association, declare that failure of the government to preserve the industry would "turn Lancashire into a howling wilderness."

Sir Herbert Dixon, formerly President of the Cotton Control Board during the war, said the United States could not seriously increase its growth of cotton, and that the demands of the United States for cotton for its own use were becoming greater. It would be a mortal blow to Lancashire, to Great Britain and the United States as well, he said, if prices continued to soar. Edwin Stockton, president of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, presented a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, expressing appreciation of the cotton employers' decision to contribute a levy of six pence per bale toward the cost of expanding the cotton fields and asking the government to make financial provision which would, in combination with the money subscribed in the industry, give effect to the proposals of the Empire Cotton Committee to promote cotton growing within the Empire.

Vice-president Shute of the Liverpool Cotton Association said he believed a well thought out project involving the purchase of land for the cultivation of cotton could be made an absolutely sound proposition.

China had women sailors long ago. During the Tse Ping rebellion in 1850, women as well as men served in the rebel junks, while the rebel army also recruited women.

In China actors and bankers are excluded from competitions at literary examinations. Every other man in the country can compete, and the successful candidates are often probable mandarins.

NOVEL IDEAS OUTLINED BY NEW SECRETARY

NEW YORK, Mar. 16.—In terms of the advertising manager, Secretary of Agriculture Meredith told the members of the Merchants' Association of New York of his ambition to increase the output of the department's chief product, service. It was the first address made by Mr. Meredith since his appointment and summarized the work of his department, at the same time urging increased appropriations for carrying on the work.

"Are you going to keep this wonderful product—service—from the people; this wonderful product you are manufacturing?" he asked his audience, whom he characterized as the owner of a business concern upon which he was making a report. "It is not wholly the problem of the department of agriculture," he continued, "because we are only your agents. You are manufacturing this product and that product is service. I would like to double the number of customers. I want to increase the sales of this organization. In other words, I want to bring home to every man and woman in America this wonderful service."

He deplored a tendency to discuss "waste," "graft," and "soft snaps." "I think it is wrong. I think it is poor advertising to be talking all the time about the waste, and about the grafters and soft snaps and all that in Washington. There may be some one standing around who believes you mean it. There might be some foreigner who is not acquainted with our ways over here and he hears you and goes out and repeats your statements to others."

Secretary Meredith explained that only about one-third of the regular appropriation of $33,000,000 is actually used in the interest of agriculture. The balance goes to the maintenance of weather service, the forest service, the administration of the food and drugs act, and other subdivisions of the department.

"The department was pictured as serving an invested capital of more than $80,000,000,000, the amount invested in agriculture. The agriculture and livestock product last year was $25,000,000,000," he added, "equal in one year to our national debt at the present time—one-half of the wealth of France."

A mass of statistics was placed before the association to show the work the department was doing and these were enlivened by brief accounts of some of the agricultural developments that now are common on American farms because of research work conducted by scientists employed by the department.

Attention was called to the difficulties thrown in the way when attempts were made to obtain larger appropriations for the work and he pleaded for a broader comprehension of the needs of the department.

In concluding, Mr. Meredith said he desired that all the people of America know what the department is doing, so they can avail themselves of its service to a greater extent, and that the work of the department may be still further broadened and extended.

EDITORIAL STAFF OF CHURCH PAPERS QUIT

BOSTON, Mar. 16.—The resignation of William H. McKenzie as editor of the Christian Science Sentinel, a weekly publication, and the Christian Science Journal, a monthly, has been announced, together with Mrs. Ella W. Hoag, associate editor, and Elisha B. Seelye, assistant editor.

Mr. McKenzie said that the resignations were due to the fact that the trustees had insisted upon the publication in these two papers of matter which the editors did not think suitable and which they feared would cause disturbance among the subscribers."

Irish girls are said to have the most beautiful hands. English girls are too plump and fleshy. The hands of the American girl are too long and narrow. The fingers of the German girls are too short and the palms too broad. The hands of the French, Italian and Spanish girls may be called indifferent. Next to the Irish girls, the daughters of Poland deserve the palm so far as the beauty of the hand is concerned.
