CO-OPERATION ASKED TO SAVE STATE FORESTS

(By A. G. Jackson, Forest Examiner)

PORTLAND, Mar. 17.—The purpose of forest protection week, which takes place May 23-29, 1920, is to enlist the hearty cooperation of every citizen in the important work of caring for the forest resources of Oregon. It is only necessary to look at any of the four million acres of the state which have been fire swept in the past, to realize the fate in store for our wonderful forests if adequate protection is denied them.

Much of the forest area of Oregon is fit for no better use than the protection of timber. If left to the mercy of fire, part of the present forests will disappear each year and the land be left a worthless waste instead of a productive area.

There is plenty of timberland in Oregon which grows annually from 500 to 1,000 board feet per acre of Douglas Fir. The Forest Service has records of careful measurement taken on the Siuslaw National Forest, in Western Oregon, which show that during a five year period the timber grew at an average rate of 1754 board feet per acre annually.

Oregon is forging to the front as a lumber producing state. The cut of her mills was two and a half billion feet in 1918. Given the proper forest management, which includes protection, conservative lumbering, and restocking with trees—Oregon's forests will produce twice her present lumber cut annually for an indefinite period.

And putting the forests under management will mean permanent and prosperous forest communities instead of the mushroom shack towns, and temporary camps, which are typical of the destructive logging methods where no attempt at forest management is made.

If the campaign for Forest Protection Week is not under way in your town there is still time to get it started by taking action at once. Suggestions for observing this week will be furnished by the Forest Protection Week committee of the Portland Chamber of Commerce on request.

Seattle boxing promoters are trying to arrange a match between Fred Fulton and Joe Cox, the Southern heavyweight.

the postponement of the Rodeo by the storm, they may not be able to carry through their program.

The party will return to Klamath Falls the last of the week, and if arrangements can be made will give an exhibition here.

WAR ACT USED ON SINN FEIN

DUBLIN, Feb. 18. (By Mail)—

The Defence of the Realm Act, adopted for purposes of the war, is being freely employed in the government's struggle with the Sinn Fein. It was under the powers delegated to the government by this act that the Freeman's Journal was suppressed in accordance with this law many cases of alleged sedition which ordinarily would be tried in civil courts now are heard by court's martial. Deportations of suspected persons are made under this act and it is charged that leading Irishmen are kept in prison in England without the necessity of bringing against them any specific complaint.

The government, however, does not confine itself to the exercise of its war powers under the Defence of the Realm Act but many prosecutions take place in the ordinary way before police magistrates. This is quite usual in Dublin, where the police magistrates are regularly appointed by salaried officials; but are rare in the provinces where the magistrates are unpaid.

As part from the instances of the government's conflict with the Sinn Fein, the life of the country proceeds as usual. Regular courts of law sit everywhere and Sinn Feiners appear before the civil courts as litigants and as lawyers; but they refuse to recognize the jurisdiction of the same judges when sitting to try criminal offenses.

An experiment of holding Sinn Fein Courts under the authority of the Irish republic has been tried, but on a small scale. It is only possible where a dispute can be settled by arbitration, since there is not as in the case of the ordinary legal courts any means of compelling the obedience of the unsuccessful litigant.
