SPAIN KEEPS FORMAL COURT CEREMONIES

MADRID, Feb. 23. (By Mail).—The Royal house of Spain, despite the democratic nature of the King and people, alone among the remaining courts of Europe, retains all the old world formalities, which up to the outbreak of the war were so rigorously observed in Vienna, St. Petersburg, Berlin and to a more or less extent in London, Rome and some of the smaller capitals of Europe.

This is due to a large extent to the influence of the Queen mother, Maria Christina, who remains all powerful in court circles and is a stickler for the observance of those forms and ceremonies which marked all occasions at the court of Austria, where, as a Grand Duchess, she learned them.

King Alfonso, after receiving in the throne room at the palace in the morning, may rub shoulders with jockeys, bookmakers and the general run of racegoers at the track in the afternoon, but when he returns to the palace in the evening he resumes, as it were, the crown. It is generally reported that to him the afternoon, free from conventionalities, is the happiest part of his day and that he has often expressed a desire when harassed by the political troubles of his country, which seem never to settle down, to leave it all and take his family off to some South American republic and engage in the breeding of horses, of which he is passionately fond.

The strict formality of the court was observed at the banquet and reception given to the diplomatic corps a short time ago when for the first time the representatives of all countries had been invited to the same function since the summer of 1914. The guests saw a display of jewels, which probably could not be matched outside of Asia. Although the diplomats were the guests of the evening, the younger members of the royal family preceded them and were to the right and left of Queen Victoria at the tables, the Ambassadors and Ministers of State coming after them.

Dinner over, the King and Queen with the royalties and dinner guests formed in procession down a long reception hall where the foreign representatives presented the members of their staffs.

The King and Queen stopped at each group to pass a few words, but this was the only informality of the evening. Later in the throne room guests not belonging to the diplomatic corps were presented.

The finest scene, however, was on the grand staircase on either side of which stood a row of brilliantly garbed servants. As the beautifully gowned women wearing many jewels and the men in their brilliant uniforms, passed up and down this staircase a changing color scheme was presented.

Queen Victoria in a dress of cloth of gold, a wonderful diamond tiara on her fair head, two great diamond necklaces reaching to her waist, was a stately and dazzling figure.

The Queen mother was equally resplendent in pearls, of which she wore a collar of six rows, a tiara, two necklaces and many clusters. Ladies-in-waiting wore jewels formed of every precious stone known with whom vied the wives and daughters of the grandees of all Spain.

SOUTHWEST LEAGUE PLANS DEVELOPMENT

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Mar. 19.—Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the Interior, William J. Bryan, and other nationally known men have been invited to speak at the annual convention of the League of the Southwest to be held here April 1, 2 and 3, according to an announcement by the league. Most of the sessions, it is expected, will be taken up by discussions of plans for the improvement of the Colorado River basin and other irrigation projects of the southwest.

It is planned by members of the league to crystallize all these plans into one comprehensive projects and unite all interests in the west in its support.

R. B. von Kleinsmid, president of the league, announced he would visit the governors of California, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Oklahoma, and Texas to confer with them on the organization of the delegations to the convention from those states. He said he expected 3,000 persons would attend.

CHINESE ARE HIRED KILLERS

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 27. (By Mail).—The correspondent of the Handelsblad who recently returned from a trip in Soviet Russia gives the following account of his investigations of the activities of the Chinese employed there by the Bolsheviks as executioners.

"Such horrible stories were being told in Europe about these Chinese that I thought it worth my while to learn more about them. As a joke, I asked everyone who asked my opinion of the Bolsheviks to show me some 'real man-killing Chinese,' but I was always told that they couldn't produce any just now because they had all gone to the Denikine front.

"I was told the Chinese, if commanded by their own officers were excellent soldiers, but they ran like hares if their officers were killed. Executions are now very rare in Moscow, but, in August, when thousands of 'counter-revolutionaries' were slaughtered, it was carried out by the Chinese because the authorities feared the Russian soldiers would refuse to do the work.

"The Chinese do this work indifferently—like they do all other work they are ordered to perform. They are blind, conscienceless tools in the hands of the men who feed them and pay them and who raised them from the position of coolies in which they came to Russia to the ranks of soldiers of the guards.

"If the 'Boltsjak,' his name for the Bolshevik, orders something, the Chinese does it, and he does it in his typically practical way. He first makes the victim dig his own grave and then shoots him with his revolver. He is not cruel about it, just practical.

"When Boltsjak says kill, then he kills with an unperturbed face. And when Boltsjak says 'you may stop now,' with the same cool face he lets his victim go."

The correspondent after some weeks in Russia left when he was refused permission to make investigations freely as he pleased.

WARSAW, Feb. 26. (By Mail).—The president of the Polish republic is to be elected by the National Assembly which is to consist of two houses. This was decided recently by the constitutional commission of the Polish Diet which has in hand the task of framing the constitution of the new state. Under the present arrangement, which has been in effect about a year, the Polish Assembly consists of but the one house—the Diet having about 325 members. The two houses as provided under the constitution in the making are to be known as the Diet and Senate

THE MODERN WAY to get results nowadays is to go after them.
