SUMMONS FOR PUBLICATION

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Klamath County. L. M. Langley, Plaintiff, vs. German, American Bank, a corporation, Defendant.

You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit, on or before April 23, 1920, that being the last day of the time prescribed in the Order for Publication of this Summons. And if you fail to answer or appear, for want thereof the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in her complaint on file herein, to-wit: for judgment and decree that you have no estate, claim or interest in and to the following described real property, to-wit:

Situate in Klamath County, Oregon, the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of Section Two; north half of northeast quarter and northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of Section 11; in Township Thirty-nine South, Range Eight, East of Willamette Meridian.

And that you be forever enjoined and debarred from asserting any claim whatever to said premises, adverse to plaintiff; for plaintiff's costs and disbursements incurred in this suit, and for such other and further relief as to the Court may seem equitable.

This summons is served by publication thereof in the Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed, published and of general circulation in Klamath County, Oregon, by order of the Honorable D. V. Kuykendall, Judge of the above entitled Court, made and entered March 11, 1920, which said order requires that this summons be published once a week, for six weeks. The date of the first publication of this summons is March 12, 1920.

R. C. GROESBECK, Attorney for Plaintiff. Address: Klamath Falls, Oregon. 12-19-26-2-9-16-23

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Enterprise Irrigation District, Klamath Falls, Oregon, until 2 o'clock p. m., March 30, 1920, for the construction of two pump houses with concrete foundations and pump sumps.

The work will include the excavation of approximately 350 cubic yards of Class No. 1 material; the placing of approximately 125 cubic yards of concrete; and the construction of two timber and sheet metal buildings requiring approximately 3,000 ft. B. M. of fir lumber and 36 squares of corrugated sheet metal.

For particulars address Secretary of the Enterprise Irrigation District, Klamath Falls, Oregon, or C. T. Darley, Engr., Klamath Falls, Oregon. 20-30

They Must Have Left Soon.

Unexpected company dropped in on us, and not having much for supper, we did not want to invite them to stay, but they stayed quite late and I was compelled to ask them to supper. After supper my mother retired and during the course of the evening while our guests were still with us a door was heard to close. My mother, thinking the guests had left, called down to me, "Did they go, Annie?" My guests urged me to say "Yes," wondering what mother would say, so I was forced to do as they wanted me and I answered, "Yes, mother, they have gone." To my embarrassment mother called down, "Thank goodness! Did you ever see such pigs on butter?"—Exchange.

The H. C. L. Again.

The Landress—I'll have to get $2 more this week. I can't wash at the old rates.

The Housewife—But you seemed satisfied when I gave you a raise last week.

The Landress—Yes'm, but furs an' gasline an' motor accessories have went on something terrible since then.

Wife—Have Pleased the Queen. Mrs. Jones—I see it stated that when the Belgian king flew over New York in an airplane he would not allow his queen to fly with him.

Mrs. Styles—That was unkind of him, for she really would have had the opportunity of seeing an awful lot of women's hats.

HORSE HAD A TEMPERAMENT

At Least Animal Seemed to Prove That It Had the Ability to Think for Itself.

Prima donnas and high string artists are temperamental, but it is not often that such a trait is found in a horse, as was the case in an incident which occurred on one of the uptown streets the other afternoon, says the New York Times. The horse was attached to a delivery wagon. Mr. Horse evidently thought that he had done enough work for the day, so without further ceremony he lay down across the tracks of one of the trolley lines.

A crowd soon collected, followed by the usual excitement with a storming motorman and a call for the police. A woman who said that she knew something about horses, said the animal was overcome by hard work, and she gave instructions to the driver as to what he should do. After a few minutes had passed a veterinary stepped out of the crowd and took a look at the horse. The veterinary turned to the cop and the others and said: "There is nothing the matter with this horse. He is tired and he just made up his mind to take a rest. You know when a horse gets tired, he is not particular as to where he stretches his bones. My word for it, he will be all right in a few minutes and be on his way."

The woman did not agree with him and insisted that something be done to alleviate the animal's suffering. She and the veterinary got into a heated argument, when the horse without further ado decided that the street was not the best place in the world to stretch his bones on, so he got up on all fours and shook himself. The driver hitched him to the wagon, and Mr. Horse started off on his labors as if nothing had happened. One man in the crowd said that he'd be darned if he ever knew until then that a horse could think.

ENTERTAINERS IN HARD LUCK

But to Put It Mildly, They Were Unfortunate in Their Selection of "Enlivening" Song.

While writing a book at Northampton, Mass., and a neighbor of Professor Whitney, Raphael Pumpelly tells in his reminiscences, Miss Alice Whitney told him the following of one humorous and pathetic story:

"They had as guests staying with them a missionary and his wife from the south seas. The woman was tall and of stern aspect; the man, her second husband, was a small and timid creature. One evening, in an attempt to introduce a little liveliness into the solemnity, Mrs. Whitney asked her sons, just home from college, and her daughter to sing some college songs. So gathering around the piano, with their backs to the audience, the young people began 'The King of the Cannibal Islands.' As the song progressed the missionary lady grew more and more erect and severe, and when it came to the serving up of roast missionary she rose in anger, and with her black silk skirts rustling she walked solemnly out of the room, followed timidly by her shrinking little husband.

"Then Mrs. Whitney burst out with: 'Oh, children, children, what have you done? Her first husband was eaten by cannibals!'"

Arabian Nights.

The Arabian tales, like the romances of chivalry, convey us into the fairy-lands, but the human personages which they introduce are very dissimilar.

These tales had their birth after the Arabians, yielding the empire of the sword to the Tartars, the Turks, and the Persians, had devoted themselves to commerce, literature, and the arts. We recognize in them the style of a warlike nation in the romances of chivalry. Riches and artificial luxuries dispute the palm with the splendid gifts of the fairies. The heroes unceasingly traverse distant realms, and the interests of merchandise excite their active curiosity, as much as the love of renown awakened the spirit of the ancient knights.—Anonymous.

Colors That Harmonize.

"You've got a blue dress on and a brown hair ribbon," remarked one girl to another as they were riding on a street car in the eastern district, says the Children's Museum News (Brooklyn). "You should not wear so many colors in your clothes."

"It's all right to wear different colors if they harmonize," was the rejoinder.

"What do you know about harmonizing?" continued the critic. "Well, I've just come from the Children's museum," answered the defendant, "where I saw the birds and they aren't all the same color."

Confucius on Women.

Said Confucius: "Of all people, girls and servants are the most difficult to behave to. If you are familiar with them, they lose their humility. If you maintain reserve toward them, they are discontented." Chinese servants must have greatly improved since the Confucian period; at least modern times cannot parallel their excellence. As to Chinese girls, it is not safe to commit oneself concerning the girls of any nation, but they look discreet and slim and fair as flowers under their fringes of black hair, and gay as flowers, too, in their little pink and blue and violet coats buttoned straight up to their chins.—The New Republic.

AT THE THEATERS

Few famous works of fiction have been more frequently dramatized than Ouida's novel, "Under Two Flags." One of the first of these was by Paul M. Potter, who also wrote a stage version of Du Maurier's "Trilby." Another version was by Margaret Mayo, another of "Twin Beds" and other Broadway farces. The latest dramatization, by William Fox, features Theda Bara in the role of Cigarette. This picture will be shown tonight at the Liberty Theatre.

"The Beast," a vital, forceful photoplay, will be shown at the Liberty Theatre Saturday.

The action tells the story of a western bad man, impersonated by George Walsh, in his quest for the greatest thing in the world—love. From the free life of a ranch owner, through a dance hall and gambling den where chance—and a fight—give him possession of a refined, beautiful young girl, a struggle for life in an angry rushing river, violent adventures through which come his final reformation and the love of the girl of his dreams, the "Beast" is said to be a character which appeals strongly to the hearts of those who follow his career.

George Walsh never has disappointed a discriminating audience in the quality of his work.

Playing the fascinating role of a London music hall dancer who finds romance in the heart of India, the superb Nazimova is coming to the Liberty Theatre Sunday next. The Russian star's newest screen vehicle is entitled "Stronger Than Death," and advance accounts of the production describe it as the most ambitious yet done by Nazimova.

"Stronger Than Death" is a screen adaptation of the brilliant novel by I. A. R. Wylie. It is a story of a beautiful and poetic love, which develops between a man and a woman placed by fate into an atmosphere of danger and swiftly moving events. Stirring drama at all times illumines the narrative, making it one of those stories that gets a strong hold upon the emotions of the spectator.

The Child.

A child is an experiment. A fresh attempt to produce the just man perfect; that is, to make humanity divine. And you will vitiate the experiment if you make the slightest attempt to abort it into some fancy figure of your own; for example, your notion of a good man or a womanly woman. If you treat it as a little wild beast to be tamed, or as a pet to be played with, or even as a means to save you trouble and to make money for you, it may fight its way through in spite of you and save its soul alive; but if you begin with its own holiest inspirations and suborn them for your own purpose, then there is hardly any mischief you can do.—Bernard Shaw.
