A GOOD COMPARISON

To analyze certain products it is sometimes best accomplished by comparison. For example, a cord tire is better than a fabric tire, because of the better material and workmanship entering into its construction. The same is applied to the Threaded, Rubber Insulated, Willard Battery, as compared with any wood insulated battery. However, the best material and workmanship are all concealed in the little black box, containing the vital elements of the Willard Batteries. Their good qualities cannot be observed as readily as with the cord tire, but the quality is there, and like the cord tire, after a season's hard driving, is the time to make the comparison. "There is a difference." Demonstrations daily at the Link River Battery Station, 7th street, on Klamath avenue. 19-21
