HIGH SCHOOL FARCE STAGED TONIGHT

The junior class of the Klamath County High school is putting on the farce, "Popping the Question," at the Star Theatre tonight. The proceeds will be used for class benefit, creating a fund that will be used at the end of the term to defray the expenses of the annual picnic given to the graduating class. The admission is 35 and 50 cents. The cast has been rehearsing for some time under the direction of Mrs. Estelle Carrier and is well trained in its various roles.

"Popping the Question" was staged during the winter by the public speaking class and made quite a hit with those who saw it. The majority of the former audience want to see the play again and have promised to patronize tonight's performance and many others have been attracted by their praises, so the crowd promises to be a large one.

The cast is as follows: Elizabeth Grigsby, Freda Biehn, Lucille Beck-

SAYS SHEARING PRICE REPORT LOW

Joe H. Taylor has returned from Nevada where he has been engaged in sheep shearing since the season opened to join the local shearing crews.

Press dispatches telling of high wages made by Nevada shearers, he says, under state the price per pound which is 17½ cents instead of 17. The price was fixed generally throughout Nevada and adjoining states by agreement between the wool growers and the shearers' union. At 17½ cents he states a good blade man can make $17 a day. Reports of higher daily wages refer, he says, to machine shearers, but when the cost of the machine is deducted the wage will average about the same as the hand shearer's pay. Shearers will charge between 35 and 45 cents for bucks this year, he said.

loy, Kenneth Case, Fern Hanks, Paul Keller. The show starts at 7:30.
