In Sicily the language of signs is universal. It is perfectly possible for a Sicilian to carry on a long conversation from a distance with hands, eyebrows, lips, and even nostrils. Even the children are expert in silent communication and when using ordinary speech they accompany their words with most expressive gestures.

Miss A. L. Pringle, a distinguished nurse, who was a friend and co-worker of Florence Nightingale, died recently at St. Anne's Convent, Musselburgh, Scotland.

A French chemist once collected enough iron from human blood to make a finger ring, which he wore as a talisman.

SALVATION ARMY COVERS STATE

A service born of service by men and women whose lives are dedicated to that service, a service not for gain for it pays its workers poorly, is to be placed at the disposal of even the smallest community in Oregon through the expansion of the Salvation Army Home Service Program for 1920.

Since its splendid service among the American troops abroad brought to the attention of the home folks the kind of work the army has been doing quietly in the slums of the larger cities, demands from all quarters have flooded in upon the army until it has been forced to double and treble its efforts.

It has been compelled to expand beyond city lines and extend its service to the remotest districts of the state. And in these out of the way places the army is solving one of the greatest economic problems, handling at their source and preventing many of the ills that result from poverty and wrong teaching.

In every county of Oregon one and sometimes two advisory boards have been formed of business men and citizens of those counties. These men are constantly in touch with their communities and judge when and how best the Salvation Army can be utilized to serve the citizens of that community. A word to headquarters brings the Salvation Army worker to take care of the man or woman, boy or girl whose misfortunes have overwhelmed them.

In the rescue and maternity home in Portland the unfortunate girl mothers of Oregon find a refuge and sanctuary.

In the boys and girls home to be established at Yamhill the life of the neglected child is shaped and the boy or girl prepared to go out into the world and win his or her own way.

In the industrial home in Portland many derelicts are made over into self supporting men and women who are no longer a charge upon their county but an asset to their community.

In the relief branches of the work done by the army many cases of poverty and sickness are handled annually. When the call for help comes there is no investigation of the worthiness of the subject. Help is given and investigation made afterwards.

Free employment bureaus which exact no membership fee, find work for hundreds of idle hands and while work is being found see to it that deserving men seeking honest employment do not starve.

A curious instance of extreme color blindness recently came to light. A postoffice clerk could never balance his accounts; examination proved that he was unable to distinguish between the colors of stamps he sold.

DAIRY FAMILY LOSE INFANT SON

DAIRY, Ore., Apr. 27.—The entire community extend their heartfelt sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Welch, in the sickness and death of their infant son, Willard Owen Welch, who died of pneumonia, April 8, 1920, aged 2 years, 9 months and 16 days.

Due to spinal trouble, little Willard, although nearly 3 years old, missed many of the pleasures given to most children of that age, having never been able to talk, walk or take an interest in other children about him.

Although God in his own way and for a purpose none of us are able to understand, denied him many of the pleasures of earthly life, yet we all believe that he will add greatly in perfectness and happiness in the life and home to which he has gone to dwell.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Michael left Sunday for a business trip to San Francisco.

Theodore Flaekus returned Saturday from Portland, where he has been attending an auto school. He took a course in auto electric and carburetor trouble and passed a very successful examination.

Mrs. H. L. Arant and children returned home from Ashland, where they have been spending the winter.

Percy Slack made a trip to Klamath Falls Monday, taking the Kitts Lumber truck in to be overhauled and put in shape for the summer hauling.

E. P. Pool, John Anderson and George Smyth were Klamath Falls visitors Monday of this week.

Chas. Drew passed through Wednesday on his way to his reservation land, where he is pasturing stock and farming.

H. H. Edmond's new Mack truck made its first trip through Wednesday. At present the roads are too soft to go over the mountains, but later Mr. Edmond expects to do considerable hauling from Klamath Falls to his new mill on the Sprague river.

Oskar Huber, the highway contractor, has a number of men busy putting up cabins and getting ready to erect the rock crusher on the Low hill. They expect to crush rock for the highway in the near future.

Mrs. W. P. Sedge was a Klamath Falls visitor from Monday until Wednesday of this week.

A rabbit drive will be held Sunday in the sage brush near Dairy, the crowd meeting at the old Dayton place. The drive will end north of Dairy. This will give a large drive and will need a good crowd. All are welcome.

HOODOO LICENSES ARE IN GREAT DEMAND

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 27.—There is a great demand for "jinx" license plate numbers by California motorists, says Superintendent C. J. Chenu of the state motor vehicle department. Number 13 went to Will J. Marsh of Sacramento, 23 to George R. Babcock of Oakland, 1313 to D. T. Kramer of Etiwanda, 1323 to George Radelliff, Sacramento, and 2323 to J. W. McClymonds, San Francisco. Motorists also try hard for good "poker hands." The best of this kind yet issued, 44444, went to E. Swift Train of San Francisco. Tom Mix, movie star drew four sixes.

Nearly one thousand young women are included in the present study body at Oregon Agricultural College.

SULTAN STILL SLAYS, MAIMS

LONDON, March 23. (By Mail.)—Disapproval of the Supreme Council's decision to keep the Sultan on the throne in Constantinople is voiced by many Englishmen who remember Gladstone's fierce denunciation of "Abdul the Damned." The Archbishop of York, speaking at a diocesan conference said:

"To the deep disappointment of all that is truest in Christendom, the unspeakable Turk is apparently still to be left in possession of Constantinople. What the results may be is already being sufficiently shown by the tidings received of a renewed massacre of Armenians. I think this is a matter that ought to lie deep upon the conscience of the British people. We have repeatedly and in the most solemn way, given our assurance to these unhappy people that the Allies at least intended to deliver them from the tender mercies of their enemies. We, who have made so much of the shame of regarding solemn obligations as scraps of paper, dare not ignore these solemn and repeated assurances, and some way must be found, if the conscience of Christendom is to be satisfied, for protecting those to whom we have given our solemn bond and promise."

If the United States government definitely refuses to accept a mandate for the administration of Armenian affairs, the British Labor Party has indicated that it will insist as an alternative solution that the entire region known as Turkish Armenia be released from Turkish sovereignty.

The party takes an attitude of protecting against any idea of subordinating the Armenian settlement to considerations of Indian policy.

At the Shakespeare Hotel in Stratford-upon-Avon the rooms are named after the plays of the immortal bard. Some are strikingly appropriate; the dining-room is "As You Like It," and the bar is "Measure for Measure."
