RUSS TROOPS LURED AWAY BY ORATORY

NEW YORK, Apr. 30.—How an army of 80,000 Kolchak troops "melted away" by desertion to the Bolsheviks, following a speech made to prisoners of war by Leon Trotsky, in Omsk, Siberia, two days after that city's evacuation by the All-Russian forces, was told here today by Major General I. Thord-Gray, a former officer of the British, Canadian and All-Russian armies just returned from Vladivostok.

Trotsky, he said, addressing the prisoners as "comrades," said they would be welcomed by the red army if they cared to join. Captive officers, he said, who wanted to return to Kolchak would be given safe escort and 2,000 rubles each. A number of the prisoners accepted the offer and, returning to their own lines, told what Trotsky had done. Within two weeks, General Thord-Gray said, Kolchak had practically no army and a few months later was executed.

General Thord-Gray went to Siberia with a Canadian expedition and was taken prisoner by the Bolsheviks when they captured Vladivostok. Before leaving, two attempts, he said, were made to assassinate him.

Toward the last, he said, the Bolshevik troops showed better morale than Kolchak's men. They also had one machine gun for every 20 men, he said, whereas the Kolchak army had only three with every battalion, almost 600 men. During the retreat of the Kolchak army, a 2,000-mile retirement, they were driven before machine guns but seldom before rifle fire. General Sakharoff, the All-Russian war minister and chief of staff, he said, "lost the army at Omsk without a fight."

PROSPECTOR GAVE TOMBSTONE NAME

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., April 30.—A prospector's curious sense of humor was responsible for the naming of this town which recently has gotten into the news dispatches because of the Bisbee deportation trials being held here.

According to James F. Duncan, who came here in 1879, the town was founded in that year by Ed Schieffelin, a mining prospector. Schieffelin called his mine near the site of the present courthouse "Tombstone mine," Duncan said, because the region was full of drab rocks that resembled tombstones.

Tradition has it, that Schieffelin's friends frequently rallied him for his faith in the locality, and told him that he would find his tombstone here. After the prospector had made his fortune here, in goodnatured irony he is said to have named the town after the fate that had been predicted for him.

Schieffelin was found dead in a log cabin in the state of Washington May 12, 1897. According to his wishes, his body was brought back to his "tombstone" and buried near here. His pick-ax and other tools were buried with him. Above the grave his friends erected a simple monument, fashioned after the rude manner of a prospector's claim stake —merely a pile of unevenly shaped rocks.

THEATER PROVIDED MONTANA CONVICTS

DEER LODGE, Mont., Apr. 30.—Governor Sam V. Stewart, with Mrs. Stewart were guests of honor recently at the opening performance at the "House of Forget," the recently established theater in the Montana state penitentiary.

Warden Frank Conley is responsible, in a large way, for the theater, at which not only amateur performances will be given, but where professionals will appear. The theater is part of a program which he is working out to make the Deer Lodge prison a model penal institution.

MUCH BUILDING, T. H.

HONOLULU, T. H., Apr. 13. (By Mail).—During the year 1919 there were 792 dwellings and 112 business structures put up in Honolulu at a cost of $4,410,016, according to the building inspector's figures, just published.

SEWARD, Alaska, Apr. 6. (By Mail).—News of the death by freezing of Dick Fullerton, pioneer of the Klauan Lake district in Southwestern Yukon Territory, has just reached Seward. Fullerton's body was found on the shore of the lake by Tom Dixon, a rancher.

American league pitchers will have to go some to stop Detroit's heavy-hitting outfield. Last season five of Jennings' gardeners hit for .315 for the lowest to .384 for Cobb, the highest.

CLAIMS WOMAN "KIDNAPPED" CHIEF

TOPEKA, Kan., Apr. 30.—Whether the legal supervision of a guardian-at-law over an Indian is supposed to include the latter's matrimonial venture, must be decided by the Kansas supreme court in the habeas corpus proceedings brought by Carl J. O'Hornett of Henrietta, Okla., to recover the custodianship of Jackson Barnett, 70, of Henrietta, Okla., a Creek Indian. Barnett, known as "the richest Indian in the world," owns oil lands, valued at more than $1,000,000.

Under most romantic circumstances, Barnett last February eloped and was married to a young white woman, Mrs. Anna Laura Lowe, at Coffeyville, Kan. O'Hornett charges that the old Indian's bride is "an adventuress of the most pronounced type," and that she "kidnapped" Barnett because of his wealth.

It is believed by the Moslems that at the Judgment day painters will be required to furnish with souls all representations of human beings which they have made. Failing in this ordeal, they will lose their own souls as a forfeit for their presumptuous imitation of the work of the Creator.

Whisky, which five hundred years ago was used chiefly as a medicine, was originally manufactured exclusively in Scotland, the term being confined to the liquors distilled in the Highlands from barley.
