

HIRAM JOHNSON FOR PRESIDENT

A few reasons why you should vote for Johnson for president. In the first place Johnson is a western man, born and raised in the west and knows the west as do probably very few men. If the interests of the west are to be protected in Washington we must have a western man there to protect them. The greatest American that ever lived made the following statement about Hiram Johnson:

"In Governor Johnson we have a man whose every word is made good by the deeds he has done, a man who, as the head of a great state, has practically applied in that state for the benefit of the people of that state the principles which we intend to supply throughout the Union as a whole. We have nominated the only type of man who ever ought to be nominated for the vice presidency; we have nominated a man fit at the moment to be president of the United States."—Theodore Roosevelt at Chicago, 1912.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson is universally recognized as one of the few men under serious consideration for the presidency of the United States. Notwithstanding his residence in the far west, his record of brilliant public service and his courageous personality have made him a dominant national figure.

In the absence of any nation-wide organization to promote his candidacy, there has been a spontaneous and insistent discussion of his name in every section of the country, indicating a widespread popular appreciation of his pre-eminence in those strong qualities of character and ability which will be essential in the future administration of the highest office in the land.

Born in Sacramento, California, in 1866, he is now, at the age of 53, at the height of his physical and intellectual powers. He comes from good American stock. He was married in 1887 to Miss Minnie McNeal, of Sacramento, and they have two sons, Hiram W. Johnson, Jr., and Mayor Archibald M. Johnson.

Hiram Johnson's political career began in 1910 when he was elected governor of California. Before that time he had earned a statewide reputation as a great lawyer. A young man then, his rise to the top of his profession has been rapid, due solely to his ability and industry.

During Governor Johnson's incumbency not a whisper of scandal was directed at the state administration. He set a standard of rigid honesty, and at the outset eliminated every official whose record did not meet this test. The men whom he appointed to office were of the highest character and ability. They established a reputation for efficiency and probity which has never been excelled in the public life of the nation.

Like every constructive statesman who accomplishes results, Johnson was at first denounced bitterly. But gradually his genius for practical government compelled the admiration of many of his most critical opponents. In the great body of his constituents he won a tremendous popularity. This was demonstrated in striking fashion by the record-breaking vote which he received when, in his second term as governor, he stood for election to the United States senate.

We need every vote in Klamath county if we are to swing this election for Hiram Johnson. The moneyed vote we will not get. Hiram Johnson is not a moneyed man, but we do expect to get and we will get the vote of the "common people," the vote of everyone who is interested in seeing a man elected who cannot be bought by the big interests. You be there at the meeting on Wednesday night at the city hall and do your little bit.

Economize By Right Buying

And by that we mean—and we urge upon our customers—to buy the quality merchandise—goods with real, sterling value—the sensible, practical styles—garments and materials which make for real service as well as appearance. We are endeavoring in every department to feature merchandise of just this character at prices which mean real economy.

Editorial

Great nations are made by great men and great men by the processes of right thinking, right doing and right living.

The world is facing a series of crises, and our men and women should be moved by right motives—else we shall fail in the hour of our country's need.

History records endless falls of empires upon the rocks of luxury and extravagance—and so we recommend to the people of this city and community the thoughtful practice of properly directed thrift.

We urge upon all the study of the thrift program being introduced into our schools—the understanding of budget systems of house-keeping—of every economy of the proper constructive sort.

Our country needs today the best thought of every one of our men and women in the solution of its problems.
