FOUR RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS

OREGON AGRICULTURE COLLEGE, Corvallis, May 12—The college is entitled to four Rhodes Scholarship candidates this year, according to an announcement by Frank the Rhodes Scholarship Trust. President W. J. Kerr has been requested to fix a date in June or July for the preliminary selection, as the last date on which the representatives of the institution can file their applications with the secretary of the state committee of selection is August. The election will be held the latter part of September.

Two scholarships are assigned to each state and since a scholarship is tenable for three years, there is one year out of every three in which there is no election. One man will be chosen this year. The candidate must have completed at least the sophomore year. Institutions select their representatives in the line of quality of manhood, force of character, leadership, literary and scholastic ability and attainments and physical vigor as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways.

A scholarship is of the value of three hundred pounds sterling a year for the three years, subject to continual approval of the college at Oxford of which the scholar is a member.

BERKELEY, Cal., May 12—One dollar apiece has been offered for malaria breeding mosquitoes by the Shasta county farm bureau, providing the mosquitoes are caught within the area in which mosquito eradication for three years, there is one year out of every three in which there is no election. SERVICE BUREAU SEEKING TO AID FIGHTING MEN

Were Webster alive today he could do nothing else but define the service and information branch of the war department as "a bureau of the government insistent upon helping every ex-service man solve his individual problem." for this office is exercising its every effort and energy to obtain a satisfactory adjustment and settlement for every man and woman who served in the recent war.

The bureau was originally established jointly by the navy and war departments to replace into suitable civilian occupation every ex-service man who could work. This it accomplished with amazing results, and has now directed its aim to the aid of disabled men, and those whose claims against the government have not been satisfactorily settled.

The central office of this bureau is established in the Council of National Defense building, Washington, D. C., with Lieut. Colonel Mathew C. Smith in charge. The country is divided into three districts, with Captain H. C. Billings in charge of the western district with offices at 809 Flood building, San Francisco, Cal. officers, and ex-officers, assigned as aid representatives, work in prescribed territories out of this western district office, with Lieut. Edward P. Seagrave covering northern California.

It is the chief object of this bureau, which is termed as the office of the assistant to the secretary of war, to have established in each community a central committee to consist of the various welfare activities, employment agencies, war risk insurance officers, federal vocational experts and public health surgeons, which will be able to take care of any phase of work and serve as a clearing house on all matters concerning the ex-service man.

The government is very anxious that all claims of ex-service men be quickly and speedily adjust. Lt. Edward P. Seagrave, service and information branch of the war department, who is here today in conference with various welfare organizations, and to this end central welfare committees have been formulated embodying all activities to co-ordinate the efforts of all in order to prevent a duplication of effort and act as a clearing house on all ex-service men's problems.

The home service central committee in Klamath Falls is doing a fine work and is actively co-operating with various governmental bureaus and has acted as a "go between" the ex-service man and the government with gratifying results.

Ex-service men are urged to fill out the following questionnaire and mail Mrs. Carrie Ganong, Klamath Falls, or to Capt. H. C. Billings, officer in charge western district service and information branch, war department, 809 Flood building, S. F., or your legion secretary.

The service and information branch, office of the assistant to the secretary of war, has undertaken to find out if it can be of assistance to any soldier, sailor or marine who served in the world war. This is not a new service by any means, but just another way of getting in close touch with those who might be having trouble in the adjustment of their accounts with the government.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE TO HAIR

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

WASHERWOMEN JOIN MORE PAY MOVEMENT

MERCHANTVILLE, N. J., May 13—Merchantville has a soap and suds war on its hands. Washerwomen want more money and housewives have declared a lockout.

When the negro women formed a union and posted a scale of $3 a day for doing the family wash and $2.50 for a day's housework, the employers became indignant.

The Women's Club of Merchantville voted for a lockout and refuse to pay more than $2.50 a day. So in face of the paper shortage, Merchantville has issued an emergency call for paper collars and cuffs and reversible shirt fronts.

Outdoor boxing shows staged in baseball parks promise to be a big winner in numerous cities this summer.
