OVERTURF OR BURDICK?

The people of the county are going to be asked to choose between H. J. Overturf and Denton Burdick as one of their representatives in the state legislature. The third candidate, Mr. Brattain, of Lake county is almost sure to receive the solid vote of the county. He is our neighbor, one of the most progressive and upright citizens of the state and is deserving of the confidence reposed in him by those familiar with his career. Then, Lake county is entitled to a member of the house this year by right of rotation, and she has offered a man we can consistently support.

The voter must, therefore, choose between Burdick and Overturf. Overturf has from start to finish fought for the highway from The Dalles to the California line, passing through Klamath Falls, and it is more to his work than to most any other man that it came to this city instead of through Lakeview. Entirely free from the tricks of the political shyster, he has steadfastly refused to join in the scheme to change this highway away from Klamath county, and it is up to us to stand by him and by our votes make up what he loses by such a manly stand and overcome what Burdick gains by tacit acquiescence to the move. Overturf is an extensive land owner, well posted on the irrigation needs of his district and is an honest, straightforward, manly fellow.

Burdick of late has adopted the tricks of the politician. He has used the influence that goes with his office for the promotion of his personal ambitions and professional interests. He is attorney for the Deschutes Irrigation company, the concern that is operating in Deschutes county under the Carey act and which the people who were inveigled into settling on the land have been trying to get rid of. They have voted 10 to 1 to turn down a settlement. This company is kept saddled on the people mainly through the influence and legal tactics of Burdick and for this the people in that part of his district are bitterly opposed to him and that is why Overturf is in the field. The people of Klamath can well sympathize with their neighbors. They have been through the mill and it would be well to remember their predicament when you come to vote at the primaries next Friday.

KLAMATH COUNTY OR —?

Never in the history of Klamath county has there been an election when it was more vitally concerned than it is in this one. Its first concern has to do with the election of a congressman who can get for us the help we must have to carry on to completion the great projects undertaken in this county by the government. To finish the Klamath project we must have millions of dollars. In the past, money that we should have gone to other states because those states had congressmen whose influence was greater than the men representing Oregon. Money earned in Oregon and which under the law should have been spent in Oregon was stolen from us and spent in Idaho, Arizona, Montana and other of the western states.

Today, however, Oregon finds herself in a different position. She holds the chairmanships on the irrigation committee in the senate and the public lands committee in the house. The chairman of a congressional committee is second only to the legislative body in power, so that Oregon is the strongest state in the union in the matter of influence in legislation that has to do with public lands. The congressman from our district, N. J. Sinnott, is a candidate for re-election. If he is returned by an overwhelming majority it will make him that much stronger. Every vote cast against him, either in the primary or the general election, is simply a vote to weaken his influence and consequently hurts Klamath county just that much. It makes no difference what the voter's political leanings may be, he should first consider Klamath county, and if he does this he can't but vote for Sinnott for congress.

The bill now before congress providing for an annual appropriation of $25,000,000 for 10 years is sure to pass. With Sinnott at the helm in the house, Oregon will get her share of this money, and if we get this share, then there will be no further delays in the completion of the Klamath project. This is only one of several projects in which Klamath county is directly interested. There is the reclamation of the Upper Lake swamp lands; the restoration of the public lands with the Klamath drainage district, so as to insure an adequate water supply for them; and the proper distribution of the highway funds that come from the government.

When you vote for Sinnott, you vote for yourself; you vote to hold everything we have gained after years of fighting; you vote to insure your future against unfavorable federal legislation; you vote for the development of your home county and to keep in office a man who is sure to become a national figure before another year rolls 'round.

WILEY AND GOOD ROADS

Did you know that there is a well defined scheme on foot to change the course of the state highway from The Dalles to the California line so that it shall pass through Lakeview instead of through Klamath Falls, Merrill and Malin? Well, there is and it is pretty well advanced, too. Of course, there will be some who will say that it can't be done, but they know not whereof they speak, for it can be done and will be done if the people of Klamath county are not alive to their own interests. If Wilson S. Wiley is beaten for the state senate the chances are 10 to 1 that the main highway will be through Lakeview. We must have a representative in the state senate and our only chance to get one is through the election of Mr. Wiley. Every Republican vote in the county should be cast for him, and if it is not, then Klamath may have to pay the penalty by losing the main trunk line that we have fought so hard and banded ourselves for and that is already under construction.

We know that if Wiley is in the state senate, there will be no danger. We know he will block any such move as is now on foot. We know that he will get the funds to hasten its completion. Then why take chances?

CHILOQUIN NINE SNOWED UNDER

In the first game of the season on the home grounds the Klamath Falls boys annexed the game from the boys from the reservation by a onesided score of 12 to 2. The game was not the fast exhibition of ball playing that the fans like to see but it showed the lovers of the national pastime that Klamath Falls has the makings of one of the best teams they have had in years. It will probably equal the team of 1916.

The Klamath team went into the game without one bit of practice. It was composed of players picked up around town, for no other reason than to show the fans that Klamath has the available material. Organization is needed and is needed badly.

The game started out fast. Klamath took the field with Earl Hilton in the box. Only three men came to the bat, two of whom were fanned. Klamath batted and succeeded in getting three runs in the first inning. Bell walked and Kelly hit one for two bases. Farrell also walked. Chilouquin went to pieces, making a couple of wild throws and letting in the three runs. In the second Klamath made four, two in the third and three in the fourth. The score stood 12 to 6 with Klamath playing air tight ball. Chilouquin scored one in the seventh and one in the eighth.

Earl Hilton, a Klamath boy, pitched the first six innings allowing only two hits and getting 10 strikeouts. He showed big league form. Booker pitched the last three, allowing five hits and two runs. Dr. Noel was on the receiving end. He showed that he hasn't forgotten any of his baseball or lost any of his ability. Bell the left handed first baseman, showed wonderful form, making only one error. Ramsby on second and Montgomery on short also played with only one error to their credit. Kelly on third looked like a million, taking everything as they came without an error. Rook McCullum in left field played a good game with only one error. Tex Farrell, an old leaguer from the south, displayed his old league form by making a good catch and throwing a man out on third. Jim Foster also played a good game in the right garden.

Chilouquin used two pitchers, the first one an old timer from the Modoc Lumber company. He only went five innings, but his support was poor. Irwin Crawford relieved him, pitching good ball and had better support. Joe Ball, an old timer well known to all the fans for his playing of former days, was catching.

The business men have authorized a canvass of the town for support. Organization of a good club is expected in a few days.

Dunsmuir wants to come up next Sunday. If arrangements can be made they will be here and a good game is in store.

Yesterday's lineup: Montgomery ss, Bell, 1b, Kelly 3b, Tex Farrell cf, Ramsby 2b, McCullum lf, Noel c, Hilton p, Foster rf, Booker p.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLAR FARM DEAL, MT. LAKE

The sale of an 80-acre alfalfa ranch in Mount Lake has been announced by H. J. Lester, the purchaser being Mr. Calkins of Gresham through his son-in-law, Mr. Hazel-tine.

Mr. Calkins will probably continue to farm the property.

The sale was for cash and involved a $10,000 consideration.

ANTI-JOHNSON CAMPS NERVOUS

PORTLAND, Ore., May 17.—The "anything to beat Johnson" campaign in Oregon has reached the humorous stage.

Wood's supporters, including one of the newspapers, now seriously make the demand that Hoover and Lowden forces shall unite with them abandon their men and put up a solid front against the one man who is alarming them greatly, namely, Hiram W. Johnson.

The Lowden manager in a sarcastic denial of the Wood claims of leadership in the fight accepts, however, the call to unite, but he says the union must be for Lowden.

"After I got up from the flu last winter I was in mighty bad shape," he continued. "I was not only in a weakened, debilitated condition, but I also suffered awfully with indigestion. My stomach was so weak I could hardly digest anything and could hardly bear the sight of food, much less eat anything. As I was not able to eat any nourishing food I kept getting worse and worse and I was badly discouraged over my condition as it looked like I would never get my strength back again. My nerves were all upset and my sleep was broken and irregular. I felt tired and wornout from morning until night and could hardly drag one foot after the other.

"I took many different kinds of medicine but nothing did me a particle of good until I began taking Tanlac. As I said before, I have taken only one bottle, but it has made such a remarkable change in my condition I feel like a different person altogether. My appetite is splendid now and I can eat anything I want and as much as I want without the slightest touch of indigestion. My strength and energy have returned. I sleep sound and get up in the mornings feeling ready for a big day's work. Tanlac has put me back on my feet and everybody certainly ought to know about this medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., in Lorelia by the James Metz. Co., and in Merrill by the Southern Oregon Drug Co. Adv.

mary fight in Oregon, but has virtually pulled out, though his name is on the primary ballot in some districts.

Great Johnson Meetings

The Johnson headquarters was elated by the word from down the Willamette Valley of extraordinary mass meetings at Salem and Corvallis for Johnson. Both points are conceded to be ultra-conservative.

Charles A. A. McGee of California at Salem spoke to 2,000 people and won a tremendous response. Raymond Robins and Colonel Harris Weinstein of San Francisco talked at Corvallis.

There by comparison the audience was six times larger than one at a Wood meeting some days ago, while the Hoover meeting there recently was distanced two to one.

The primary will be May 21. Ten delegates are to be elected to the Republican National Convention. There is a preferential vote for President besides that for delegation candidates, who may declare as they please.

The Johnson headquarters is carrying on an intensive speaking campaign, supplemented by distribution of a great quantity of literature.

Palatial Headquarters

Wood has had an elaborate and expensive establishment in the state for months, with all of the concomitants at Portland headquarters of a campaign de lux, Turkish rugs included. Lowden is also well represented.

Politicians in the Wood camp are panicky over the strong undercurrent which is manifesting itself for Johnson. They are frantic in their call to Hoover and Lowden to get out of the fight.
