COAST MUST DEVELOP AS NATION'S GATE

SEATTLE, Wash., May 24.—The Pacific coast must develop in a national rather than in a local way in order to take advantage of the new world trade opportunities in the Far East and South America, Walter Parker, general manager of the New Orleans Association of Commerce, said in an address before the chamber of commerce here today.

Creation of better port facilities will not alone suffice, he said. Concerted action, such as that obtained by states further east through the Mississippi Valley association, of which he is executive vice president, is needed, he added.

"The world's new markets of great promise lie in Asia and Latin America, not in Europe," Mr. Parker said, "and to reach and serve those markets in ever increasing volume, we must develop all our skill and enterprise in the creation of efficient trade routes, in the adjustment of commerce, and in the economic use of our natural resources."

Explaining the activities of port associations on the Gulf and Atlantic coast, he said:

"The Pacific coast ports have many problems in common which can best be solved through joint and co-operative action."

"The great ports of the future are those strategic ports which are being given proper equipment and which are capable of serving a balanced commerce along transportation lines of low resistance," he continued.

"We have some ambitious ports, our Atlantic and gulf and Pacific coasts which are doomed to disappointment because their calculations overlook some fundamental conditions. Our domestic transportation system is undergoing some vital and far-reaching changes. Cost of railroad transportation is going higher, not lower."

"Another factor that has a bearing on the future of many of our ports is the extent to which the general government will go in subsidizing the U. S. shipping board ships upon which they must rely."

"So long as ocean rates are abnormally high, one-way ports are able to obtain government owned ships, the operation of which under such circumstances in normal time would not be economic or justified. But with the coming of a new normal and with it, active competition by Europe's merchant marine, United States shipping board ships, like all other American flag ships, will have to seek two-way strategic ports and operate along recognized lines of economy."

of red on the roof gives an air of cheerfulness and comfort that is worth dollars. At the same time paint lessens labor. Painted surfaces are easy to keep clean and are sanitary. A damp rag rubbed over a painted surface cleans it.

Hospitals are kept shining with new coats of paint, inside and out. This is because paint is sanitary, for disease germs do not like paint. Railroad rolling stock is kept painted year in and year out. This is for protection and insurance against loss by deterioration. Homes built to sell, or old homes up for sale are painted properly, because of the value paint adds to property. Automobiles, given a comparatively inexpensive coat of paint, bring higher price in the second hand market.

AUTHORITY ON SUPERVISED PLAY

T. Dinmore Upton to lecture at Chautauqua.

T. Dinmore Upton, who is to present one of the most worth-while lectures of Chautauqua week, was formerly Athletic Director at two of our largest cantonments. Before that time he was Superintendent of Municipal Playgrounds, Grand Rapids, Mich., and is rated as one of the foremost authorities on recreation in the country.

Capt. Upton will give western audiences the story of things he has learned through many years of experience with youngsters. He will make you think deeper on the question of child health probably than you ever have before. He will leave with you a definite constructive message in his lecture "Recreation—the Maker of Men."

Tacoma Woman Does Own Housework Since Taking Tanlac—Gains Over 20 Pounds.

"For the first time in a whole year I am able to do all my housework," said Mrs. C. Libke, R. F. D. 4, Box 66, Tacoma, Wash., when a special Tanlac representative, who had heard of her remarkable recovery, called to ascertain the facts, recently.

"Tanlac is certainly the grandest medicine in the world," she continued, "and I just wish I could tell everybody personally what it has done for me. Why, my troubles have been completely overcome, and I feel better than I have in years and have actually gained over twenty pounds in weight, besides."

"I don't believe anyone ever had a much worse case of stomach trouble and indigestion than I did. My food would invariably sour and I would just suffer agony after meal from gas on my stomach. I had no appetite and really dreaded to eat on account of the misery it caused me. Then I had an attack of neuritis in my right hand and knee and I simply cannot describe the awful pain I went through. I could not use my right hand at all for six months. I could not raise it to comb my hair. I was badly constipated and would get so weak and dizzy I could hardly walk across the room. My nerves were all shattered and I would often lie awake all night suffering so I could not sleep. Then the rheumatism got in my feet and ankles and I could hardly get around. No kind of treatment or medicine helped me and I got so discouraged and down hearted I almost gave up hope."

"At last I got Tanlac and I will never get thru praising it for what it has done for me. My stomach never bothers me at all now and I am eating just anything I want, and I think it the most wonderful thing I ever heard of how Tanlac has built me up. The neuritis and rheumatism have left me entirely and, as I said, for the first time in a whole year I am able to get around and do my housework. I have also been relieved of nervousness and dizziness and can sleep every night just like a child. Before I got Tanlac I was in such a bad fix that I really thought I couldn't get well, but here I am feeling just fine, so I have the best of reasons for praising Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., in Lorella by the James Merc. Co., and in Merrill by the Southern Oregon Drug Co. Adv.

Lloyd George, Britain's prime minister, is an able French scholar, and the story of how he mastered the language is not without interest. The death of his father had left the family penniless and the future statesman was brought up in the family of an old uncle, who was shoe maker in a little Welsh village. There was no opportunity of learning French in the village, and yet young Lloyd George considered a knowledge of French necessary to his future success. The way he got out of the difficulty was for his uncle and himself to sit for hours laboriously spelling out of an old French dictionary and out of a grammar the rudiments of the language.

A legend has grown up that Georges Carpentier, the European champion pugilist now touring America, worked in the mines in his town of Lens. This is incorrect. Carpentier invested his savings in the mines of Lens before the war but he began life as an office-boy.

PAINTING PAYS IN PROTECTION OF PROPERTY

"Can I afford to paint?" is the question the farmer often asks himself. However, the question he should be asking is, "Can I afford not to paint?" The up-to-date farmer is a thinking man, and more and more he is realizing the things that add to the value of his property.

Paint protects. Moisture, rain, fog, intense sun-rays and drying summer winds play havoc with unpainted surfaces of implements and buildings. The wood loses its life, starts to rot and crumble away. The metal rusts and gradually falls to pieces. Paint fills the pores of the wood and metal and protects the surface so that heat and moisture cannot attack. It is an interesting fact that the annual loss due to need of paint is greater than the annual loss due to fire. From this alone, it is evident that paint is the best kind of insurance.

Paint adds value. Well painted farm buildings and implements give an air of thrift and prosperity to a farm. Bankers will lend from 5 per cent to 20 per cent more on a thrifty looking place than they will on one that is neglected and in need of paint. Well painted farm buildings and equipments are attractive and easier to sell, and command more money.

Paint cheers and beautifies. Paint does more than any other one thing in making the farm cheerful and modern. Even the oldest buildings take on new life when painted and are often most attractive. A coat of white on the sides and a coat
