ANITA STEWART IS NEARLY SMOTHERED IN BLAZING BARN

One of the thrilling scenes of "In Old Kentucky," the First National big special feature with Anita Stewart starring, which will be shown at the Star Theatre Sunday, is where Miss Stewart rushes into a burning barn to save a thoroughbred racer from the flames. A barn was purchased for this purpose and was burned to the ground.

Miss Stewart, as Madge Brierly, the little mountain girl, has been visiting in a nearby city. She is very much in love with the young master of the estate, but has been told by a jealous woman that the young man is playing with her heart. She slips quietly out of the big house to return to her mountain home. But as she leaves the grounds she sees that the barn is on fire.

She knows that a fine thoroughbred race horse is stabled in the barn, and that the horse is a favorite for the stakes in the great Kentucky handicap, which race soon is to run. Others from the house rush out as the flames mount up, but no one dares to enter the stable, which is enveloped in smoke and flames.

Miss Stewart actually rushes into the barn and finally coaxes the horse to follow her out of the stable. The fire and smoke is so thick that she can hardly be seen through the doorway, but she finally emerges, half suffocated.

Her hair was singed in the taking of the scene, and she was nearly smothered by the smoke, but she suffered no serious injury.

The barn of dry boards and filled with hay then quickly burns to the ground and falls into ruins. It is a brilliant fire spectacle and carries an intense thrill.

A drive has been begun for $2,000,000 to be used in expanding the work of the New York Post Graduate Medical School and Hospital. The object is to make the school the world's greatest center of medical instruction. The Post Graduate students this year come from twenty-seven foreign countries and every state in the Union.

FIND MANY RELICS OF CLIFF DWELLERS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 29.—That the civilization of the cliff dwellers of the Mesa Verde and Rio Grande countries of New Mexico had much in common is the conclusion of J. A. Jeancon of this city, who recently completed a search of the dwellings of this prehistoric people. Mr. Jeancon took to the national museum at Washington 24 large packing cases of relics to back up his theories regarding the cliff dwellers and obtained a commission from the bureau of ethnology for further research work in the Indian mounds.

"We obtained many specimens of pottery," Mr. Jeancon said, "some of which are believed to be the very oldest specimens from pre-Columbian peoples in America. They were of drab, undecorated sandy paste. I have 69 complete vessels."

The research work also is believed to have shown how the cliff dwellers constructed their homes, Mr. Jeancon said. Concerning this he continued: "It had been supposed that the material for the adobe structures was placed in a mold made by placing boards on either side, but on investigation we found this not to be the case at all. It was evident after inspection had been made that the material had been put in place a handful at a time and for foundation, boulders were used, set on end."

Mr. Jeancon declared that some of the buildings apparently had been used for many years. Smoke blackened crevices left their tale. The buildings also had been plastered on the inside from 17 to 23 times.

The investigator declared that he had only begun the work in New Mexico. He worked a short distance from the town of Abiqua, 100 miles north and west of Santa Fe. He said there are 300 to 400 additional mounds to be explored and that the dwellings were found buried two to six feet under ground.

AN OLD RECIPIE TO DARKEN HAIR

SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR TURNS GRAY, FADED HAIR DARK AND GLOSSY.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this thru your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—Adv.

SUMATRA GROWS MUCH RUBBER

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—The fascination which the strange lands of the Far East have held for the average American is taking on a more tangible form, now that travel and business are bringing Asia and the United States into closer contact.

No article of commerce is doing more to bring this country into closer touch with the mystic East than rubber. The rapid rise to supremacy in the production of crude rubber of the islands of the Indian Ocean, combined with the fact that America consumes nearly three-quarters of all the rubber grown there, has given many Americans an opportunity to peep behind the scenes and become acquainted with the lands and peoples of that distant quarter of the globe.

Although the whole equatorial belt in that section is dotted with rubber plantations, representing a capital investment of nearly half a billion dollars, the thoughts of Americans naturally center on Sumatra where one of America's greatest corporations has established a plantation so vast in area and so highly developed that it stands out as the greatest single plantation in the world. This is the plantation of the United States Rubber company, comprising seventy square miles of growing trees, an enterprise marked throughout by a magnitude and an efficiency worthy of the best American traditions.

By producing its own rubber the company is in a position to establish a uniformity in its manufactured product, especially United States tires, such as rubber manufacturers have long craved.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind incombustible ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomaine-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before breakfast each morning drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the bowels the previous day's poisons and toxins, and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.
