REFITTING OLD BARGE FOR SEA

PORTLAND, Ore., June 2.—After being operated for ten years as a barge, the former three-masted sailing ship William H. Smith, is now being refitted as a five-masted topsail schooner and shortly will load her first off-shore cargo in ten years. The William H. Smith was built on the Maine coast 37 years ago and was originally a full-rigged, three-masted, skysail-yarder ship. She was noted for her luxurious cabin furnishings.

After operating in the Atlantic trade for many years, she was purchased some 15 years ago by the California Shipping company and brought around the Horn for operation out of San Francisco. As one of a fleet of 32 vessels she carried wheat around the Horn to New York and Europe, later being placed in the Australian trade. It was in this trade that the William H. Smith almost met a disastrous end.

The vessel had just started for Australia with a full cargo of lumber loaded at Puget Sound ports when she encountered a heavy storm and was dismantled off the coast of Washington. She was saved by her anchor off Grays Harbor, and finally was towed back to Seattle, a battered hulk.

What was left of the clipper ship was sold for $8400. Her value today is estimated by ship underwriters at $250,000, although she has been operated for a barge for ten years, carrying coal between British Columbia and Seattle and Tacoma.

The William H. Smith has been re-rigged as a five-masted topsail schooner by her present owners, the Charles Nelson company, and will soon sail for Australia.

Champion of Labor

HON. JOHN L. NOLAN

California furnishes the chairman of the Committee on Patents in the House in Representative Nolan. He has succeeded in increasing the pay of efficient and expert patent office employees. He also pushed to passage bills to amend the copyright act, to amend the trade-mark act and to give effect to certain provisions of the convention for the protection of trade-marks and commercial names, made and signed in the city of Buenos Aires. Representative Nolan, who is a stalwart Republican, also ranks second on the House Committee on Labor. He is author of the Nelson minimum wage bill.

A conference has been called to meet at Washington, D. C., for the purpose of organizing all the engineering associations and societies in the United States into one representative engineering body.

The Socialists seem extremely anxious lest the movements under way to repress them shall greatly increase their numbers.
