FIRST OFFENDER DISMISSED

W. A. Stone, a young fellow who said he had been employed in the ice plant for the past month, was arrested last night for drunkenness. Stone was discharged after hearing this morning before Police Judge Leavitt, it appearing that it was a first offense and that he was without money or a job and imposition of a jail sentence would be more a punishment to the tax-payers who fed him during confinement than the defendant. The judge promised a severe sentence if Stone was ever before the court again.

It's a Fact--

The American man wants real American style in the clothes he wears.

Why? Because the American figure is different, and requires styles based on its own particular lines—styles to harmonize with manly, athletic simplicity.

And this store has such styles for the men and young men of this community.

HOMESTEAD LAWS FAVOR SOLDIERS

Through the service and information branch, the war department has made public bulletin No. 7, which is of interest to all ex-service men who contemplate making homestead entry on public lands.

According to a joint resolution of congress, hereafter for the period of two years it is provided, whenever public or Indian lands are opened to entry, that for not less than 60 days before the general opening all officers, soldiers, sailors or marines who have served in the army or navy of the United States in the war with Germany shall have a preferred right of entry under the homestead or desert land laws, if they are qualified otherwise.

A soldier is required to establish residence upon the land involved within six months after his entry is allowed, unless an extension of time is granted on account of climatic reasons, sickness or other unavoidable cause. Residence, and cultivation must be continued for such length of time as will make up three years, when added to the soldier's credit on account of military service; but he is entitled, on proper notice, to absent himself for five months in each year, which may be divided into two periods, if he so desires.

These provisions also apply to all ex-soldiers who had honorable service during the recent operations in Mexico or on the Mexican border.

There are several million acres of public lands now available, and the secretary of the interior, Washington, D. C., will furnish all the information desired.
