LADIES DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

USE GRANDMA'S SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR RECIPE AND NOBODY WILL KNOW

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmothers' time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied. But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair. A well known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so natural and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

ACTUAL AEGEAN PORT DEMANDED BY BULGARIA

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 25. (By Mail)—Bulgaria must have a territorial outlet on the Aegean sea, Ivan E. Gueshoff, one of Bulgaria's most brilliant statesmen and formerly prime minister, now a deputy of parliament, has told the Associated Press correspondent. "A mere economic outlet will be of no use to her and she has categorically refused and will refuse to accept it," he went on. "A glance at the map of the Balkan peninsula will prove that a port on the Aegean is a matter of far more importance to Bulgaria than Fiume is to Jugo-Slavia."

"We know," continued M. Gueshoff, "that on the question of ethnic and territorial claims of Bulgaria, the United States was overruled at the peace conference. We are nevertheless genuinely grateful to all those Americans who, in the commissions appointed to study the questions of Thrace and the northern and western frontiers of Bulgaria, gave conclusions in our favor. We now incline the generous help of the great American people in the solution of a question fraught with momentous consequences to Bulgaria and to the peace of the whole Balkan peninsula."

(Bulgaria ceded western Thrace under the peace treaty and the peace conference awarded it to Greece. This cut Bulgaria off from its former port of Dedeagatch, on the Aegean sea; but the allies, promised her the league of nations would give her an outlet on the Aegean.)

The former prime minister, who was educated in England and who is leader of the strong Nationalist party, then discussed what he termed, "the allies' flagrant betrayal of the principle of nationality." "We were stunned," said M. Gueshoff, "when we heard that Bulgaria was condemned to lose districts the Bulgarian character of which was never contested and that while for certain disputed German regions the plebiscite was permitted, the principle of self-determination was refused the Bulgarian populations which were awarded to Serbia and Greece."

"In order to explain this flagrant betrayal of the principle of nationality," M. Gueshoff continued, "it was alleged that the Bulgarians deserved to be punished, first, because they had fought against the Entente and then because they had committed atrocities. The Bulgarian people were against the war. A faithless king had betrayed them into it."

"Had the entente landed troops at Saloniki before the Bulgarian mobilization of 1915, as I then insisted, had Bulgaria the geographical situation of Greece, the Bulgarians would have done what the Greeks did in 1917 and Bulgaria would never have gone with the Central Empires."

M. Gueshoff concluded the interview with a reference to the alleged Bulgarian atrocities. "As president of the Bulgarian Red Cross society," he said, "in January, 1919, I proposed that an international commission should inquire into these so-called atrocities and those committed by the other Balkan states. But the conference of Paris had decided to throttle Bulgaria without giving her the opportunity of defending herself."
