CLEVER FARCE HERE TOMORROW

In this day of rights for women, it is quite appropriate that mere man should be made to see that he cannot get away with the old worn out excuse when he tries to slip away from "wifey" for an evening. No better illustration of this is to be found than in the production of "Hen Pecked Henry" which comes to the opera house tomorrow night, with Burt Southern as the star. This is a real farce with a plot of clever situations and amusing complications. Throughout the action of the play, specialty numbers are introduced and there is no lost time during the entire performance. The latest song success, both vocal and instrumental are introduced by a company of excellent vaudeville artists. The scenery is in keeping with the plot and the costumes is a big feature of the attraction. If you want to see the latest fashion creations, just take a peep at "Hen Pecked Henry."

Visit Our New and Enlarged Boys' Clothing Department

THE growth of our boys' clothing business made it necessary for us to make our stocks larger and larger. This increase in stock demanded in turn more commodious quarters, and to meet this demand we moved our boys' department to the Second Balcony, on the Main Floor.

We have one particular line of boys' clothing which is reason enough in itself for the expansion of this department's business. These suits are made of the nationally famous Oregon Cassimere—a long fibre, all-wool fabric which combines attractive appearances with the far more desired qualities of strength and guaranteed long wear. This material is firmly woven; will not get shiny; stays pressed for a surprising length of time; it can even be washed with success—Oregon Cassimere is, without a doubt, the best wearing fabric for boys' clothes to be had in America. These boys' suits are wonderful values—we cannot impress this fact upon you too strongly. The tailoring, the styles, and, above all, the material, are much better than the ordinary. They are dependable through and through.

Other Suits as low as $8.50

Purple is the favorite color of Elinor Glyn, the well-known novelist. When at home she does most of her writing in a room with purple walls and a purple carpet. Helen Crombie and Emma H. Savil, two teachers in the Boston public schools, have been retired on pension after more than fifty-one years of continuous service.

What Good is a 'Dollar' ?

It's largely up to you. It depends on how you spend it—on the value to you of what you get for it—on your ability to find where that value is to be had.

Of course, it's all right to shop around a bit if you like, but why not let the other fellow make it easier for you by doing a little shopping after your dollar—by showing you what you want and where you can get most of it for your money? It's a great idea, once you get the hang of it, and here's how! Right in this paper you'll find dozens of advertisements offering you merchandise. Some things you'll need today; some tomorrow; some next week or next year—but the point is that these merchants are coming to you, looking for your dollar and offering the best they have to get it. You'll find that by reading the advertisements consistently today and every day, you can increase the value—to yourself—of every dollar you have to spend. The things you see advertised are almost invariably as represented. The advertisers' statements are usually safer to trust than your own judgment. Advertised misrepresentation is business suicide.

READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS AND INCREASE THE VALUE OF YOUR DOLLAR!
