PROBING SUGAR SCANDAL

Hon. James W. Husted

This New York Republican representative in Congress is chairman of the sugar investigating subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee. Mr. Husted and his subcommittee have been investigating the sugar question for several weeks past, having many witnesses before the committee, including Atty. Gen. Palmer, Dist. Atty. Mooney of New Orleans and Herbert Hoover, former food commissioner. Representative Husted is now serving his third term. He was formerly a member of the New York Assembly, following in the footsteps of his father.

EDUCATION IS AIDING FARMER

ORGEON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, June 22.—"Until life on the farm provides a living equal in comfort and attraction to the city, as well as opportunity for higher earnings (it does that now, I believe) our rural problem will not be solved," says H. D. Scudder, head of farm management at O. A. C.

"If better education leads only to high earnings and brings no improvement in the standard of living it is bound to fail of its purpose," Professor Scudder declares. "The steadily declining rural population is one of our greatest national perils."

"Volumes have been written to account for this growing danger to our economic balance, but its reasons may all be summed up as the less desirable living conditions on the average farm."

"Certainly many young men desert the farm and flock to the cities in hopes of bettering their living conditions."

Better education, Professor Scudder thinks, plays its greatest part in bringing the comforts of the city dwelling to the farm. This is indicated in a summary from the survey records of 825 farms visited by the Wisconsin experiment station: (The first number of the following groups applies to 478 farmers with common school education only, and the last number to 84 college trained men.)

Labor income—$632, $1956; value of house—$1764, $2558; bath equipment—22 per cent; lighting systems—17 per cent, 44 per cent; furnace heat 22 per cent, 47 per cent; automobile—20 per cent, 29 per cent.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

DARKENS BEAUTIFULLY AND RESTORES ITS NATURAL COLOR AND LUSTRE AT ONCE

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur. An easier way is to get the pure recipe at home, though, is to be ready to use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it is done so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes dark, glossy, soft, and luxuriant, and you appear years younger.

NOTICE OF CONTEST (For Publication)

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Lakeview, Oregon, May 5, 1920. To Jesse Davis, Contestee: You are hereby notified that George W. Duke who gives Creacrest, Oregon, as his postoffice address, died on May 5, 1920, file in this office his duly corroborated application to contest and secure the cancellation of your Homestead Entry No. 08120, made December 5, 1915, for E 1/2 SW 1/4 Section 19, Township 24 S., Range 9 E., Willamette Meridian, and as grounds for his contest he alleges that said Jesse Davis has never resided upon or cultivated the land above described as required by law; that he has wholly abandoned said land for more than two years last past and that said absence and abandonment was not caused by reason of the said Jesse Davis being employed in the Military or Naval Service of the U. S. either as a marine of the Army and Navy or any other capacity which would exempt him from residing upon and cultivating said land; and that said Jesse Davis is not now so employed.

You are, therefore, further notified that the said allegations will be taken as confessed, and your said entry will be canceled without further right to be heard, either before this office or on appeal, if you fail to file in this office within twenty days after the FOURTH publication of this notice, as shown below, your answer, under oath, specifically responding to these allegations of contest, together with due proof that you have served a copy of your answer on the said contestant either in person or by registered mail.

You should state in your answer the name of the postoffice to which you desire future notices to be sent to you.

STRONG EVIDENCE

PORTOLA, Cal., June 22.—Because their breaths smelled strongly of cheese, five men served terms in the county jail at Elko, Nevada, a town west of here on the Western Pacific railroad. A boxcar was broken open and a large cheese stolen. With no other clue than the belief that a heavy indulgence in cheese might taint the breath, the town marshal set forth and made five arrests. The evidence appeared so conclusive to the magistrates that all were sentenced to jail.

When the personal efforts of the once-famous dancer "Rigolboche," who died recently in Paris at the age of 80, were sold at auction, an old silk dress was knocked down to a second hand clothes dealer for a mere song. On carefully examining the garment the purchaser found concealed in the lining a bundle of French banknotes to the value of $1000.

WHO WAS WHO—WHY?

"Barney Baruch had more power during the war than any other man in the world."

"Barney Baruch controlled absolutely the food supply of the United States."

"Barney Baruch originated the price fixing policy for all commodities and put it in operation."

"Barney Baruch suggested the taking over of the railroads by the government which was done."

"Barney Baruch regulated the production of steel, copper and iron and decreed their disposition."

"Barney Baruch had supreme authority over the by-products of the coke ovens of this country and dominated at the sources of supply the nitrates and fertilizers of the world."

"Barney Baruch regulated the shipping of the United States, laid down its policy as to what should be sent abroad and what shouldn't."

"In fact," continued Representative W. J. Graham of Illinois, Chairman of the special committee investigating war expenditures, "we actually had in Mr. Baruch, as head of the War Industries Board and intimate of Mr. Wilson here and in Paris. Those are not my statements I have given you but replies under oath made by Mr. Baruch in his examination before our committee."

Barney Baruch was a New York broker before he rose to eminence under the Wilson administration.
