WORK IS WHAT COUNTS

By Doris Keane

(Doris Keane, America's greatest emotional actress, who is bringing to the screen, through United Artists, the greatest love story ever written, "Romance," is a keen lover of her sex. She has consented to write a series of articles to women, which we are presenting daily.)

I have often heard of women not liking women; about the catty things they say and the unkind things they do to hurt each other—which seems so strange; yet I have never seen a woman who worked, who isn't keen and eager in her appreciation of what every other woman who works, has tried to do. This type of woman is universally willing to help.

It has yet to come to attention, the jealousy that is supposed to be inevitable everywhere. Indeed, I have met only friendliness and appreciation and affection.

Many of these women have succeeded and their success makes them appreciative all the more, of the sacrifices one has to make to get anywhere in what one undertakes. Theirs may have been disappointment, but their own unrealized ambitions have made them no less big in their feeling for a fellow-worker who has met success, where they face failure.

It is all a game and since work is the only thing that counts, and sacrifice and whole-hearted devotion to one's art, any big woman takes her

WON $10,000 FOR POLITICAL IDEAS

These three young men won the $10,000 offered by the Republican National Committee in the platform suggestion contest—limited to young men under 25 years of age. Carl Smith Joslyn of Springfield, Mass., was first—winning $4000. Howard B. Wilson of Philadelphia, was second, getting $3000. W. P. Smith of Ann Arbor, Mich., was third—the award being $1000. All are college men and all served in the war. Their suggestions will be written and submitted to the Chicago convention.

failures as she does her successes and profits by these experiences. But as for any woman having a catty feeling one hears the professional woman has for another woman headed toward the same goal, I have never come in contact with it. That is the reason I like woman-working women. Work is the only thing in the world that helps one to understand. Work and love are the two great formative factors in the development of a woman's career. No woman who is seriously working at anything, just as no woman who really loves, can give place in her heart to anything less than the highest ideals and appreciation of what every other woman is doing.

NOTE—Miss Keane in her first motion picture, "Romance," a United Artists production, will appear at the Liberty Theatre Thursday.

TOO MANY COOKS SAYS CONSUL

BUENOS AIRES, May 25. (By Mail).—Consul General Robertson was applauded by the United States Exporters' association of Buenos Aires when at a luncheon recently, he declared that there should be but one authority in foreign countries to represent the United States in foreign trade relations.

The luncheon was given in honor of Dr. Julius Klein, United States commercial attaché, who is retiring from the service. He was asked by Mr. Robertson to urge on his return to the United States the necessity of placing the commercial and financial functions of consuls and commercial attaches under one head. The consul general declared that they overlapped and were the cause of confusion and a detriment to efficient service.

"Business firms are frequently embarrassed by not knowing the functions of each official," he added, after paying tribute to Dr. Klein. "They do not know whom to go to. You cannot conceive a great American business concern sending two representatives down here to perform the same duties. It would be a waste of effort and expense. The United States government should have a central organization for the performance of all duties in connection with foreign trade. I do not care whether the functions are taken away from the consulate and given to the commercial attaché or whether the commercial attaché is placed under the authority of the consulate. My only interest in this is that the work be done by a single authority and not two."
