ATLANTA GETS NEXT SHRINE CONVENTION

PORTLAND, June 24.—The Shriners selected Atlantic City today for the next convention city. No other invitations were received. The Potentate abdicated today to the rose queen, the annual rose festival supplanting for the day interest in the fez wearers. The imperial council completed its business, granting three charters to new temples. The special taking the visitors home will begin moving out of Portland late today.

MANY COUNTIES ARE RAISING SUNFLOWERS

The sunflower is receiving more recognition every day as a valuable farm crop in eastern Oregon. It has been brought further into the limelight recently by being listed among the standard farm crops in the official catalog of the Walla Walla county fair. Cash prizes are offered for winners in both the irrigated and dry land divisions. To be eligible to exhibit the farmer must have grown at least four acres of sunflowers and must have kept an accurate record of planting dates, tillage and harvesting methods. The exhibitor must also display sunflower heads, stalks and sunflower ensilage. The contest will be judged upon both production per acre, as certified by an imperial committee, and upon the excellence of the crop exhibited.

A large number of farmers in Walla Walla county feel that the development of sunflowers as a farm crop is the most valuable agricultural development, so far as the far western states are concerned since the introduction of alfalfa. Their opinions are based upon the experience of 14 of their own number, who under the directions of the Walla Walla county farm bureau last year raised sunflowers for ensilage which was fed to range cattle, sheep and dairy stock. The results showed that sunflower ensilage was an economical feed. The farmers stating themselves that two tons of ensilage replaced a ton of hay and that because of the large yields which could be raised the sunflowers were going a long way toward solving their winter feed question, and also reduce the cost of livestock production. Sunflowers are especially appreciated in that county as the winter feed question has been a serious one in the county. The range will support approximately 45,000 head of sheep and 25,000 head of cattle together with 2,000 or 3,000 head of horses during the summer, but the hay supply is very frequently too short for wintering this amount of livestock and shipment to Idaho for feeding is frequently necessary. This has been found in many years an unprofitable practice.

COSTLY CHUNK OF METAL IS SOLD

Approval of the government of the purposes for which the radium were to be put had to be obtained as the government controls the rare mineral.

TO MERRILL IN ELEVEN MINUTES

Father H. J. Marshall is acquiring the flying habit. He longs for the glad day coming when either his wages go up or airplane prices come down and he can have a little aircraft all his own. He wants to twitch the controller stick with his own hand and do the "undertaker's delight" and "slide to the morgue" and other mid-air feats in propria persona. He wants to be a real sky pilot.

Father Marshall went to Merrill and Malin yesterday with Orvar Sigurd Thorsten Meyerhoffer as pilot, and flew around over the hill tops. He says he enjoyed the trip thoroughly. Today he will fly with Mr. Meyerhoffer to Ft. Klamath. He wants to see all of the county from the air.

Eleven and one-half minutes after the plane hopped off the Mills addition field here it landed in Merrill. Before leaving the party asked a friend to phone to Merrill and arrange for luncheon at the hotel there. They were at Merrill and had the meal half eaten before the phone message arrived.

MEDFORD SCHOOL BOARD CHANGED

The decisive all-round victory scored by the opponents of the school board at Monday's school election means a new deal in Medford's school affairs. The new board of education will meet within the next ten days and organize. The only member of the old board left is Edward Janney, Messrs. B. J. Palmer and H. C. Garnett having been recalled. Dr. E. G. Riddell's term expired, and J. W. Wakefield, who ran for re-election, was defeated.

The new members of the board are Mrs. Richard Smythe and Mrs. Milton Jones who ran regularly to fill the two vacancies caused by expiration of the terms of Messrs. Wakefield and Riddell, and George A. Mansfield and Joseph O. Gray who were elected to supplant the two recalled members.

As was expected the vote drawn out at Monday's election was the largest ever cast in a Medford school election, and would have been much larger had not a hundred or more citizens been absent in Portland. In all, 885 votes were cast.—Medford Mail Tribune.

NOVELIST WRITES OF PELICAN BAY

The current "Country Gentleman" contains an article on "Trouting For Trout in Pelican Bay" by Zane Grey. Mr. Grey and a party of friends spent several days at Rocky Point and Crater Lake last summer in search of good fishing and adventure and the result is this boosting article.

The author and his friends found that even the pelicans were bigger and more abundant in Klamath than in other places, not to mention the exceptional fish that awaited the angler. In speaking of the country Mr. Grey says: "This is Oregon, you know, and it's a wild country up here."

FARM BUREAUS SAVE FARMERS BANK ACCOUNTS

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, June 24.—Emergency situations which involve the saving of large sums of money to Oregon farmers are being solved in several counties by farm bureaus.

Eastern Oregon farmers were up against a hard proposition when the supply of distillate in the northwest became exhausted. The Umatilla county farm bureau, assisted by Paul V. Maris, now director of the extension service at the college, located a supply in San Francisco. The farm bureau under the direction of Fred Bennisson, county agricultural agent, has just finished the distribution of 100,000 gallons and a second shipment of nearly equal size is on the road. Morrow county got 70,000 gallons through quick action on the part of W. A. Hunt, agricultural agent. Wasco county obtained 50,000 gallons through E. R. Jackson, county agent, and the Wasco County Farmers union.

Grasshoppers which 10 days ago were threatening to destroy crops in Union county have been checked through the efforts of P. H. Spillman, county agricultural agent. Within two days after the outbreak occurred the pests had destroyed 15 acres of grain in one field. Farmers were organized in a hurry with the result mentioned.

It took $2000 worth of poison in Klamath county to get the grasshoppers under control. The work was organized by E. H. Thomas, county agent. The money spent in killing the insects is said to be but a drop in the bucket in comparison with the value of the crops saved.
