

DON'T DISTURB YOUR RESERVE

An individual's bank balance is like the reserve fund of an institution. It should be kept intact for the right opportunity or to meet emergency.

Therefore, if you are one of the far-sighted ones who have opened BANK ACCOUNTS here at the First National, go on adding to YOURS.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, leadaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

THE TIDE POOL

"Ah Mrs. Star Fish, how beautiful you look today," said Miss Star Fish. "You wear such becoming colors and you are so lovely."

"Thank you," said Mrs. Star Fish. "Well, we have a beautiful home in this tide pool where there are so many different colored little plants and seaweeds of different shades and sea lettuce and sea anemones."

"They say that our home is very unusual. They say that there are few places where there are little pools such as this between the cliffs formed by the tide."

"When it is high tide we are hidden from view and only when there is low tide can we be seen with our sea garden about us and our houses and our foods and our homes and our ways."

"Were you asked to the party?" asked Miss Star Fish.

"What party?" asked Mrs. Star Fish. "The party I'm giving."

"How can I come when I'm not invited? In fact, you asked me if I had been invited; you didn't ask me if I'd come or not."

"But you will come, won't you?" asked Miss Star Fish.

"Do you want me?"

"Of course," said Miss Star Fish. "Now that I think about it, that was why I came over to talk to you and then I forgot what I came for while looking at your beauty and in talking of the beauty all about us."

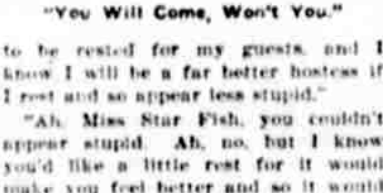

"Ah, to be sure I want you. And then I asked you if you had been invited which was my way of saying that if you hadn't been I meant to invite you now. So you'll come, won't you?"

"With pleasure, with pleasure," said Mrs. Star Fish. "And pray what will I wear?" she asked.

"Just what you have on. Just what you have on. All the ladies are doing this," she said.

"And what time will I come?" asked Mrs. Star Fish.

"Any time at all, say in two hours, after we have a little nap. I want to be rested for my guests, and I know I will be a far better hostess if I rest and so appear less stupid."

"You Will Come, Won't You?"

"Ah, Miss Star Fish, you couldn't appear stupid. Ah, no, but I know you'd like a little rest for it would make you feel better and so it would be good for you, but it wouldn't make you less stupid for you're not stupid to begin with."

"Of course, I'm only judging from a star fish's point of view, but that's all right, quite all right. Now be careful of your sweet self, my dear, and I'll come along in an hour or so."

"Good-bye," said Miss Star Fish.

"Good-bye," said Mrs. Star Fish.

"They both had naps and not long afterwards Mrs. Star Fish went to Miss Star Fish's home in the pool to her party.

What a good time they had. They played seaweed bridge, and moss heaps, and many other games of sea cards.

After they had played for some time and beautiful sea flowers had been given in prizes tied up with ribbons of exquisite sea weed they had refreshments which were very cool and delicious, served in the beautiful sea garden belonging to Miss Star Fish.

"They say," Miss Star Fish began "that fishes are brainy. That is they say that if folks will eat fish they will have brains."

"Do they now?" asked Mrs. Star Fish. "but I don't believe it."

"I think fish aren't so very bright. I know I'm not. I'm an interesting sight, most interesting. But I'm not brainy. But it's a great compliment to us and to all our family, isn't it?"

"I should just say so," replied Miss Star Fish. "We should all just say so, in fact, we all do say so," the others said.

"Think of eating fish to make brains when they could be studying and making them far faster," said a little star fish.

"Yes," said another star fish, "but they think they add intelligence when they eat fish—they feel in that way they improve their brains."

"But let's not talk of brains and studying," smiled Mrs. Star Fish in her star fashion, "for this is a party."

Keeps Moon From Falling.

"What is it that keeps the moon in place and prevents it from falling?" asked Jim.

"I suppose it's the beams," returned his brother.

MARYSVILLE, June 28.—Roy R. Mitchell, Marysville boy, has been selected by the United States marine corps to make a relief map of the country in France over which the second corps of marines fought during the late war. The battlefields designated are the Argonne, Soissons and St. Mihiel.

Mitchell enlisted at St. Louis in 1918. He will visit practically every battlefield in France and return in October.

YUBA CITY, June 28.—Sewing sacks for a grain harvester at the age of 83 years and using the same needle he has used for 50 consecutive years, is the 1926 record of James E. Plaskett, octogenarian of this county. Grandpa Plaskett has already put in 17 days this season. He says he likes the work and claims he is as dexterous in threading the old needle as ever.

PARADISE, June 28.—Mrs. Sophia Pence, one of the last, if not the last, of the women who came to Butte county in the 50s, died at the family home in Paradise at the age of 93 years.

PETALUMA, June 28.—Secretary H. W. Kerrigan of the Petaluma chamber of commerce has extended Governor William D. Stephens an invitation to come here on Saturday, August 21, to be the guest of the city during the Egg day celebration and to deliver an address.

SANTA ROSA, June 28.—Suit was filed here by Mrs. Rose Maroni, wife of Peter Maroni, formerly a cement contractor here, against J. E. Bradley, for $15,000. She alleges Bradley is responsible for Maroni's death.

CAMPTONVILLE, June 28.—Andrew Skinner, an employe of the Oak Valley Lumber company, operating near Camptonville, was crushed to death in the company's sawmill.

WOODLAND, June 28.—Holy Rosary academy of this city has been notified that it is now accredited to the University of California, its high school graduates being eligible to enter the state institution with proper credentials from the local convent.

SACRAMENTO, June 28.—All records for a car of cherries were broken Tuesday. The California Fruit exchange of this city received a telegram announcing that a car shipped from the Newcastle district in Placer county had been sold at auction in Boston for $8,155.
