POT POURRI

By LONE STAR

Please do not forget that Thad McHattan is NOT the Lone Star.

Mamma was putting little Willie to bed, and she asked him if he had said his prayers yet.

"And did you ask to be made a better boy?"

"Yes, and I put in a word for papa and you too" said the kid.

An Irishman and two Englishmen were working on the same road, and Pat was working with his coat off. The Englishmen, thinking to have a good joke with Pat, painted a picture of a mule's head on his coat. When noon struck and they quit work, Pat went over to his coat, and, seeing the mule's head on it, turned to the Englishmen and said: "Which av ye wiped yer dirty face on my coat?"

Did you ever hear the story about Finnegan?

Finnegan died and when he saw St. Peter he said "How do ye do, Mither Peter, sure an' it's a foine yob ye are after having oop here for a long time now."

"Well, Finnegan," said St. Peter, "we count a million years as a minute up here, and a million dollars as a cent."

"Ah," said Finnegan, "O'm needin' cash—lend me a cint, will you?"

"Sure," says Peter "just wait a minute."

The Lost (Dis) Cord

(With apologies to whoever wrote The Lost Chord.)

Seated von night ad de biano Und blaying I know not vot I shtruck von "chord" of musik, but Vitch von I hafe forgot. I shoopped most off my biano shtool.

Py Chiminy it vos great It thrilled my soul choost like it room,

From bigs vot unter a gate. If tried to made dot noise some more

But cannot find de notes. Dey scampered away like efery dings

Shoost like some little shoats It maybe I shall hear again. Dot same chord mit its charm Ven summer comes und I vill go Unt lif oud on der varm.

—Lone Star.

Doc Truax was treating a Dutchman last week, and this is the conversation as it was passed on to the Lone Star.

"Doc—I can't pay you no money, ven I aind got none alretty—vill you take id oud in drade?"

"Well, what do you do?" asked Truax.

"Vy, I lead a liddle Cherman band und ve coom ant serenade you efery night for a mont."

We saw a funeral the other day, and as usual, were on the lookout for news, so we asked a bystander, who happened to be a German, who was dead.

"Who vas dead?" he replied. "Vy Chon Smit vas dead."

"Well," we returned "you don't mean to say that John Smith is dead do you?"

"Veil, py golly," he replied "vat you tink dey doing mit him, choost practicing—eh."

My wife asked me the other day if I would love her forever. I told her I would like to, but I did not think I would last that long.

The Portland postoffice is stamp-4,000 letters a day with "See Crater Lake."

All right, let the Klamath Falls Chamber of Commerce start telling the people how to get to Crater Lake—thru' the Falls.

But say, folks, here's really a good one. It's so seldom that Lone Star pulls a good one, that when he does he has to tell folks about it. So listen carefully.

What country is like a happy dog? America (A merry cur.)

How many peas are there in a pint? Well, here's the answer—One p.

Why do old maids go to church early? To be there when the "Hims" are given out.

We met a lady friend up street yesterday morning all dressed up.

We said to her:—"What are you all dressed up for?"

"I'm going to be married" said she.

"To whom?" said we.

"A man" said she.

"A real man?" said we.

"No—a Swede" said she.

"Well, how did he propose to you?" said we.

"He didn't propose," said she. "He just stood up in a corner and said 'yes.' I'd have strangled him if he had said 'no.'"

Then we asked this friend of ours how it was that people always cried at weddings.

She said that she thought it was because the'd all been married and knew what the poor fools were going up against. Maybe so.

Then she asked Lone Star why it is that widows can marry so easily. "Because dead men tell no tales," we told her.

Being very much interested in this girl friend of ours we questioned her some more.

"Is the man taking you for better or for worse?" we asked her.

"Well, he'll get the worst of it," she replied.

Why does a woman take the name of the man she marries? She takes everything else he has so why deny her that too.

Do you think a wife should work for a husband?

Yes—until she gets him—then she should work HIM. She will.

Knowing that Lone Star was pretty well posted on religion, Mr. Lawrence asked us the other day if we knew where Solomon's temple was. "Sure," we told him "on the side of his face."

Then he asked me how the world had treated me and I told him not often enough.
