AT THE THEATERS

When her husband's secretary wouldn't flatter her the woman vowed revenge. What did "Salome" Vandam do to Harry Torrence? It contributes the smashing climax to "A Modern Salome," the sensational photoplay starring the beautiful Hope Hampton, at the Liberty Theatre tonight.

There is always something fascinating about the character of a village blacksmith—a picturesque type made famous in song, poem and story, and recently glorified in Elmer Elliott Peake's story, "An Altar on Little Thunder." This tale of love and renunciation has been adapted for screen by Universal under the title of "His Divorced Wife," with Monroe Salisbury as the Smithy of the Kentucky Mountains. It will be shown at the Liberty Theatre Friday.

In the role of Ash Whipple, master of the forge in a Kentucky village, Salisbury finds one of those rugged, picturesque types well suited to his physique and talents.

To this secluded locality, engrossed in petty feuds and local problems, come several strangers from the outside world who create the complications for the ensuing narrative of romance and adventure. Six reels of thrilling particulars, and an abundance of humorous situations are promised in "The Divorced Wife."

Douglas Gerrard, director of many of Universal's features, was chosen to produce this mountain romance.

AUSTRALIA FOR WHITES, SLOGAN

SIDNEY, Australia, June 24. (By Mail.)—What is taken to have been an indirect indorsement of the "White-Australia" policy occurred in the Prince of Wales first speech in Sydney.

"You are determined that this nation shall be pure of race, and that all the citizens of your commonwealth shall have an equal chance," he said at a dinner given him by the commonwealth government. "You have also proved in the last five years that you do not follow the ideal of selfish isolation, but are prepared to give your best for the King, for the Empire and for the world wide cause of liberty and justice."

Commenting editorially on this section the Sydney "Sun" said: "It is a very notable approval from the very highest source of one of the principles of Australia's political faith. It commits Britains to acquiescence in the determination that it shall be a white race, a British speaking race which shall hold Australia in the generations to come, not aggressively, not because enlightened Australian opinion regards the Eastern nations as inferior, but because a land holding one race of a great tradition shall be more peaceful and less torn by internal racial divisions than one holding races of the East and the West, which never, as Kipling truly says, can meet. There is much to discuss at the forthcoming Empire conference concerning the means by which our ideal of one pure race shall be maintained and defended by the great confederation of British peoples which we call the empire, and the hands of our plenipotentiaries in the conference will be strengthened by this admission from the future Emperor that our ideal is fine and just."

GIRL CLUB MEMBER EARNS VACATION

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 4.—Miss Frances Parker, 14, living at Rancho de Atrisco, this country, is enjoying her vacation on the Pacific coast, on money she earned. This is the way it happened: Two years ago she joined the pig club, borrowing $10.50 from a local bank to pay for the pig. In August, 1919, the first litter of pigs was born. In October the litter won a cash prize of $25 in the county boys' and girls' county contest. Last February the second litter of pigs was born. She sold some of them and others were butchered. She now has on hand one brood sow, one barrow and five little pigs, valued conservatively at $190.

TELLS DISTANCE BY HIS "WHOOPS" AND "HOLLERS"

(From the Washington Star)
"Whoops" and "hollers" is the most novel measurement of distance in the belief of Capt. I. E. Lambert of the War Claims Board. Capt. Lambert asked a North Carolina soldier whose land had been damaged by soldiers how far his land was from the camp. "Two whoops and a holler," came the response. The farmer did not join in the laugh that followed. After further questioning the soldier explained that if he stood at the edge of the camp and "whooped" as loudly as he could, and then walked as far as his voice carried, then "whooped" again and walked the length of the second "whoop" he still would be a "holler" from his farm. A "holler," he explained, "is half as far as a 'whoop.'"

BREAKING "BETTERS"

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 5.—Putting setting hens in cages and hanging the cages in trees where the breezes will play through the fowls' feathers is a scheme utilized by Patrolman Frank O'Howell, of the Sawtelle police division, to induce the hens to begin laying again. "This lowers the high temperature nature gave them for setting time," said O'Howell.

SHIPPING BOARD CAN'T DISPOSE OF WOODEN VESSELS

WASHINGTON, August 5.—Disposal of more than 1,500,000 tons of wooden shipping—406 vessels of various types—built as a part of the marine program is one of the most difficult problems facing the Shipping Board. Twenty-one of the craft, aggregating 82,000 deadweight tons, were offered recently, but no buyers were found.

Only 194 of these wooden craft are now in operation. Seventy-three are tied up at various ports under managing caretakers and 139 are in storage yards. One hundred and seven of those in "storage" are finished hulls while 32 are converted arges. Officials of the board say that when the serviceability of the wooden fleet has been demonstrated little difficulty will be experienced in turning it over to private ownership at about $90 a ton. These vessels were built in an emergency, many of green timber, and some of them made poor showings a year and two years ago but now that they have "seasoned" officers of the board consider them practicable cargo carriers.

Because of the bad record of some of the vessels operators have condemned them all, officials declare, whereas, the records of those now in operation show very creditable performances. One wooden ship out of six round trips across the Atlantic, at sea 500 days and in port an equal number, was laid up for repairs only 22 days.

To date 532 wooden and composite ships, aggregating 1,948, 250 deadweight tons, consisting of 322 cargo ships, one tanker, 115 finished hulls, ten sailing craft, 56 hulls converted into barges and 20 standard barges, have been delivered to the board. A total of 114 of these vessels, aggregating 397,385 deadweight tons, has been sold and 12 totalling 44,546 tons have been lost at sea.

The total cost of the construction of this fleet, estimated by the board at $170 a deadweight ton, was approximately $333,000,000. Sale of the 1,500,000 tons now held by the board at $90 a ton would yield $135,000,000. These already sold brought about $28,000,000 so that if the 406 remaining in the government's possession are disposed of to private owners the total loss through the wooden ship venture would be something like $170,000,000.

The first negro fire insurance company in the United States has been organized at Durham, N. C.

Caruso, the famous singer, is said to receive an income of $10,000 a month from his phonograph records man's possession are disposed of to
