

JAPAN HAS FOOD PROBLEM

TOKIO, July 12. (By Mail.)—The gravity of the food question in Europe finds its echo in Japan where the problem of how to feed the population, which is increasing annually by 600,000, is becoming yearly more pressing.

Japan has ample living space for its people but cannot produce enough food for them, especially rice. Every bit of land is cultivated to the limit of its capacity. The land of Formosa, the island colony, is worked to its full capacity by the two million Chinese farmers who cultivate the rice fields with great skill. In Korea, also the grain harvest is considerable, though the failure of the Koreans to use fertilizer prevents greater harvest.

To meet the food menace Japan, by a special arrangement with France, is making heavy rice imports from Indo-China. This is a costly operation however, the Japanese government losing $20,000,000 last year in supplying Indo-China rice to the Japanese people at a moderate price.

A solution to which the government is turning its attention is that of inducing the people to eat less rice and more wheat because of the great wheat fields of Manchuria which would be ample as a food supply, if the people would eat wheat. The enormous output of Manchuria is handled by the South Manchurian railway which at the same time transports yearly some 300,000 Chinese coolies from Shanghai province to Manchuria, where they labor in the rice lands of the northern province. Siberia in the great belt ex-Omsk is a wonderful grainfield, if regularly cultivated, capable of helping in the solution of the world food problem.

"The great grain center of Winnipeg, Canada," said a leading Japanese business man to the correspondent, "bids fair to be rivalled one day in world importance by the city of Harbin, on the border of Manchuria and Eastern Siberia. Harbin is admirably situated to handle the grain arteries of the Far East and I predict a great commercial future for that city."

Every Japanese girl carries a record of her birthday in her name, each day of the week having a letter belonging to it, and all children are called by a name beginning with the letter attached to the day of their birth.

While scrubbing floors, cleaning pots and pans, making beds and cooking, Miss Jennie Mackenzie, a London domestic servant, has composed such wonderful poetry that arrangements are being made for its publication in book form.

Attendance at the recent convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at St. Paul included an aviator, a judge, a city editor, and an X-ray specialist, as well as women authors, lawyers, physicians, dentists, bankers, merchants, farmers, insurance agents, tearoom managers, travelling salesmen and many others.

Miss Mary Jay, whose family for many generations has been identified with the social life of fashionable New York, has forsaken the charms of society to become a professional architect.

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Frezons" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Frezons" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the nail-suces, without soreness or irritation.
