USE AUTOS FOR CATTLE RUSTLING

REGINA, Sask., July 17. (By Mail.)—The motor car it seems, has achieved another success by winning its advent into the cattle rustling business. The old and well known practice of cattle rustlers when they used to drive their stolen herds before them, is now a thing of the past. A few days ago three calves were stolen from herds near Bengough and spirited across the international border in two motor cars. Three of the rustlers were arrested on this side of the line and two others in Montana and are now awaiting trial.

CONSTANTINOPLE
HAVING "BOOM"

CONSTANTINOULE, July 7. (By Mail.)—Constantinople now combines all the frenzy of a new mining camp and a world seaport. It's "the end of the trail" for all the Balkan states and everything west of Suez on the Mediterranean. Caucasian oil men, Donetz Basin miners, Antaoljan sheep and cattle kings, Greek War millionaires and Syrian merchants rush to Constantinople to pop champagne in proof of their success. Soldiers and sailors of half a dozen nations swell the population and add to the cosmopolitan aspect of the streets and pleasure resorts.

Under Allied occupation the city has become a wilder place than it was under the Turks. There are no civil courts. None of the Allies desire to assume responsibility for reforms other than are necessary to safeguard life. Italian, French and British troops co-operate with the Turkish gendarmerie in keeping order. But everybody's job is nobody's job. Consequently Constantinople is a very wide-open town. Midnight closing is enforced pretty generally, but until that hour there is little interference with dance halls, gambling dives and redlight districts unless murder is committed.

Leadville and Goldfield in their dizziest days never offered anything wilder than certain sections of Constantinople where jazz bands vie with Neapolitan orchestras and tsigane singers in their efforts to attract wayfarers into the beer tunnels and dance halls filled to overflowing with the painted women of many nationalities.

Half a dozen summer gardens offer vaudeville programs which attract thousands of persons every night who seem to have far more interest in the drinks and restless crowds than in the Russian prima donnas and bare-legged dancers whose art is usually as meagre as their attire. Turks, Arabs, Bedouins, Egyptians and Assyrians, gorgeously clad in native costumes, elbow their way among Cossacks and Georgians whose uniforms are far more brilliant than their recent military achievements.

Coal black French colonials, resplendent in red fezzes and green khaki, mingle with Sikhs and Punjabi whose long hair and many-colored headresses are wrapped in sombre brown. Civilians, soldiers and sailors from all parts of the world are hopelessly jumbled together in Constantinople crowds and are so busy looking at each other that tenors from the Petrograd opera, naughty French singers from Monmartre and Austrian strong-jawed ladies claim but slight attention.

Constantinople itself is a grand pageant every day. Its main thoroughfare, Rue Grand Pera, is more fascinating than any scene which producers can ever hope to stage. Camel-drivers lead in their patient trains, burdened with streetcars, through the maze of streetcars, shrieking army motorcars and carriages, piloted over the rough paving at breakneck speed by Turkish hostellers who crack their whips and shout constantly at high pitch to pedestrians who venture on the narrow sidewalks. Turks mounted on tiny donkeys move indifferently through this maelstrom. Occasionally Turkish peasants drive a flock of sheep or turkeys into this swirl of traffic and serene oxen draw heavy carts along at a pace so slow that drivers of military camions curse them in ten different languages.

The narrow, crooked streets of Constantinople are ill-suited to motor traffic and the slow-going fatalistic Turk is little inclined to change his pace. Consequently there are many accidents and the indifference with which foreign military cars are driven has done much to intensify Turkish hatred of foreigners.

UNIQUE FISH SHIPMENT MADE

DETROIT, Mich., August 10.—A barge loaded with fresh water fish from the Detroit aquarium at Belle Isle is enroute to New York City by water, marking inauguration of shipment of fresh water varieties by this route.

The consignment, in charge of Captain Chapman Grant, United States army officer who is director of the Belle Isle aquarium, is intended for the New York aquarium at Battery park. On the return trip salt water fish will be brought from New York for the Belle Isle institution.

The fish being taken to New York represent 20 different varieties found in lakes and rivers of the Central states. They are making their journey in large wooden and metal tanks, into which air is pumped through bass wood plugs by means of a gasoline engine. The barge on which the tanks were placed is equipped with two out-board motors and is being towed by a gasoline yacht. Three thousand gallons of sea water for use in the aquarium at Belle Isle will be brought to Detroit on the return trip.

Captain Grant, who formerly was assistant director of the New York aquarium, was the first to transport fish by water from Key West to New York, making the trip in 1910.

SINN FEIN COURTS
TRY MANY CASES

DUBLIN, July 16. (By Mail.)—Sinn Fein courts in Ireland continue to extend the area and nature of their operations. Among the cases lately tried have been cases of libel and slander, of judicial separation of the unhappily married and of seduction. These were on the civil side. On the criminal side all sorts of offenses are tried. As a rule the persons charged think it safer to turn up and take their chance of punishment. But in most cases they do not get any option in the matter. In a recent case in County Clare the person charged was a local magistrate, accused of trespass. He ignored the summons and refused to recognize the jurisdiction of the Sinn Fein court. The volunteers captured him and carried him off to an unknown destination and the military are now guarding his house.

The Sligo Asylum Committee is a real radical on Sinn Fein. It has just decided that the Sinn Fein flag shall be permanently flown over the asylum. They have vested in the Irish Volunteers the task of conveying lunatics to the institution, and left the power of committing lunatics of the Sinn Fein arbitration assisted by a local doctor.

Kerry County Council has decided to refuse to insert advertisements in the local papers unless they agree to publish reports in the Irish language of the Council's proceedings.
