The news of the marriage of Miss Edna Mae Merritt to Ralph O. Swaim, of Van Nuys, California, July 23, has just been received by Mrs. Swaim's brother, R. L. Merritt, of the W. O. Smith printing company.

Vaughn Merritt, the bride's brother, who was an employee of the Link River Electric company last year, acted as best man, and Miss Ruth Johnson, of Alabama, was bridesmaid.

The bride was gowned in white chiffon with a bridal veil of tulle, and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and sweet peas.

The groom is an employee of the Standard Oil company, and will be stationed in Van Nuys, and after August 1 the young couple will be at home to their friends there.

"Bobbie" Ryan was the genial host of a launch party Wednesday evening, on Lake Euwana. The party left the boat house in Mr. Ryan's speed boat at 5:30 o'clock, and after a pleasant ride stopped on the island for supper. While part of the crowd prepared the sumptuous repast, the rest went fishing, and had such good luck that the final count showed a total of twelve fine fish.

Mr. Ryan's guests were: The Misses E. Sullivan, Ivo McLoughlin, Cecelia McMahon, and Mrs. Hattie Hines, Frank F. Evans, Fred Wygant, and Elmer Bradley.

MERELY OF VALUE AS GUIDE

The Past, as Revealed by History, Worth While Only as It Points the Future.

The division of all history into ancient, medieval and modern, like the division of all Gaul, is a part of the stock of knowledge of every one who has enjoyed the advantages of education.

The statement would seem to admit of no question. Perhaps it is as reasonable a division of history as can be had without the expenditure of too much time and thought. At least it has the advantage of simplicity. Is it, however, the whole truth?

It is true if you only mean by it that certain periods of history began and ended at a certain date, but it is not true if you mean that the state of mind that belonged to ancient history ceased to exist at the fall of the Roman empire or that the character of medievalism stopped with the discovery of America.

The world is modern in time and in outward appearances, but antiquity and the Middle Ages are not yet done with us, nor will they be for long. They have left their indelible marks upon our thought, our social customs, and political institutions.

What is really modern in the world is like the tongue of a glacier penetrating down the mountain slope. The mass from which it came is far behind, moving so slowly that it does not seem to move. Only this small peninsula projects out into the unknown. In us, all that has been is represented. It holds us back and yet it points us forward, for history is valueless unless it is a guide for the future.—Milwaukee Journal.

THE "EYE" WORM OF AFRICA

Dangerous Pest That is Apt to Be Inflicted on the Visitor to the Congo.

Every one who lives in central Africa any length of time sooner or later becomes affected with the filaria loa, a worm which is about two inches in length and the size of a hair. Its larva is supposed to be taken into the body in drinking water, and, when incubated, it wanders through the body for a long period. At one time it may make its presence known in the forearm or the back of the hand by a painless swelling. At another time the same indications appear in a leg or about the lips or forehead.

Missionaries tell me that I have several of them in my body, although, save for the indications described, they have caused me little or no inconvenience. The worm is supposed to end its career in the eye of the victim, and in Africa is commonly called "eye worm" because of this tendency. It then produces inflammation, and, unless skillfully extracted, it sometimes ruptures the delicate membrane, frequently causing great suffering and even blindness.

The natives take it out with a bamboo splinter. But if the worm breaks in the eye, the virus is liable to poison the organ completely, frequently with the result of loss of sight. European surgeons, however, find little trouble in removing it successfully.—R. L. Oaker in the Century Magazine.

Among American statesmen of late years there have been innumerable golfing enthusiasts, as well as tennis players, baseball fans, horse owners, and devotees of other branches of sport and athletics, but strange to say the list of the outstanding figures in public affairs will be scanned in vain for the name of one who has been active as a yachtsman.

Can Your Phonograph Play All These Records?

If you have never owned a phonograph, you may not, perhaps, appreciate just what being able to play any record means to you. Those who have "phonograph experience"—who have owned other instruments—show an instant appreciation of the Brunswick versatility.

In fact, most of our Brunswicks are going to such critics. It is the kind of a phonograph they have often wished for.

They know that some records are "lateral cut"—some "hill and dale." They know that some are played with needles, some with diomands—and that each has its advantages in certain types of music. They know they have often wanted certain records they have heard at their friends' homes, but could not play them on their instrument.

If you love music, why restrict your choice?

If your phonograph does not play any record, you are not getting your money's worth.

Only with a Brunswick can you choose the best from all libraries—have your favorite song the way YOU like it. Only with a Brunswick can you make a good record BETTER.

It was DESIGNED—not adapted—to play all records. There are no attachments, nothing to take off or put on.

We can TELL you that it plays all records BETTER, but you must prove it to yourself—use your OWN ears—your own judgment—see the wonderful round wooden horn.

It costs nothing to see if we are right.

We want you to actually find out about the beautiful qualities of the Brunswick—we want you to actually SEE the Ultona, that plays ANY record with a single turn of the hand. We want you to actually HEAR it and form your own conclusions of how well it does it.

You buy only ONE phonograph—you might as well be sure.

LIVES CHIEFLY IN MEMORIES

Sleepy Little Pennsylvania Community Has But One Really Busy Season in the Year.

Within the limits of the city of Philadelphia, yet separate from the municipality proper, is the little village of Bustleton. Unlike its name, it is a sleepy community, peopled mostly by retired farmers.

Bustleton is replete with historic lore. Old Bill Tilyer's Union hotel is a relic of the days when British and colonial troops overran the country. One sleeping chamber in the ancient inn contains a great four-poster bed in which, so the historians of the village say, once slept "Mad Anthony" Wayne.

Stories of midnight raids by British cavalry patrols, duels fought between the young bloods of the Quaker city in a grove in back of the inn, and ghosts of colonial soldiers stalking through the long halls of the structure, are told with great gusto by Bill Tilyer. The Union hotel has been handed down from father to son in the Tilyer family for nearly two centuries.

But there is one time in the year when Bustleton really bustles. That is in the month of September, when the mushroom season opens. At sunrise dozens of men and boys may be seen plodding through the dew-laden pasture fields, armed with buckets and baskets. For the fertile fields in and around Bustleton yield many bushels of mushrooms, which are sold at the various markets in Philadelphia.

City Minus Cafeterias!

Buenos Aires has no cafeterias for women and only one in a modified form for men. The first one for girls in the city is soon to be opened by the Y. W. C. A. The only steam table in Buenos Aires was discovered by Y. W. C. A. secretaries in the storeroom of a gas company. It had been sent from England for a food exposition and never used after that. It is now installed in the Y. W. C. A. The cafeteria when opened promises to draw a crowd for more than the usual reason.

IT DID. "My dear sir," said the salesman, courteously, as he handed his customer his package and no change, "you will find that your suit will wear like iron."

And sure enough it did. The man hadn't worn it two months when it began to look rusty.—New York Central Magazine.
