

POLES DEFEAT WOULD BRING SERIOUS CRISIS

BUDAPEST, Aug. 19 (By Mail).—Hungary's statesmen are fearful of the consequences if the bolsheviks crush Poland. Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Regent of Hungary, when seen at his palace office by the Associated Press correspondent, said on the subject.

"Should Poland collapse, Europe would have to face a serious crisis, since all international order and standing power of Central Europe has been shaken by the breakdown after five years of war and by the crushing peace treaty in addition to other evils in the wake of the war. The treaties dictated by the allies were unable to create order and tranquility, on the contrary all our evils grew more acute and all painful problems, on the way of solution more or less in the past, face us grimly like as many sphinxes. Central Europe is a volcano after the eruption, still covered with smoke, and we cannot see any reassuring sign as yet to avert dangers lurking in the future above Europe.

"I am informed about the preparations of the bolsheviks. These preparations are not of a recent date and it is not exclusively Hungary they are related to. Bolshevistic propaganda is an enemy of all countries not accepting the principles of the Third Internationale, trying to spread its doctrines in the United States and Canada just as well as in Hungary.

"The most dangerous means of all bolshevistic offensives is just the propaganda and from that view point there is not a single moment's cessation in the bolshevistic offensive against Hungary. On the contrary, it maintains a feverish activity against us by the means of the Hungarian communistic fugitives in Vienna aided with Russian money. It is a pity that in many western countries people do not realize the dangers and the means of the bolshevistic propaganda.

"The relation of Hungary to her neighbors depends solely upon how our neighbors wish to establish it toward us. It is in their interest that the treaty has been forced on us by the allies so that is their duty to start better relations. Although it is much easier for them to do that unhappily they show very few signs of their intentions to that effect up to the present. They continue their intolerable attitude toward Hungary living on territories severed from Hungary.

"Day by day for 18 months our people have been fleeing from the occupied territories and our railroad terminals are not large enough to shelter the railroad cars they are living in. These persecuted families of course, are strong advocates of an irridential propaganda. If our neighbors have a really serious intention to improve general sentiment toward us, they have to make it possible, first of all, for those fellow-countrymen of ours to return home. They have to stop persecutions so

If you are thinking about purchasing a New Edison, mark this. The New Edison today costs less than 15% over what it did in 1914. Mr. Edison has personally held prices down by absorbing more than one-half of the increased costs of manufacturing. He may not be able to do this much longer.

"Day by day for 18 months our people have been fleeing from the occupied territories and our railroad terminals are not large enough to shelter the railroad cars they are living in. These persecuted families of course, are strong advocates of an irridential propaganda. If our neighbors have a really serious intention to improve general sentiment toward us, they have to make it possible, first of all, for those fellow-countrymen of ours to return home. They have to stop persecutions so that even on that most unfortunate spot of Europe there should be open for everybody a chance to make a living compatible with human dignity. It would be of a first rate importance to have effected that improvement in public sentiment, as a preliminary condition to the resumption of economic connections.

"The misery of the people of these territories of the former Austro-Hungarian monarchy, a compact economical territory in the past, is due mainly to the fact, that all the natural, economic ties are cut and they are being forced into the most unnatural connections. We quote as an instance the salt supply of the country which commodity could be procured from the mines a few kilometers distant from the present boundary line in Marmaros. In spite of all that we are obliged to supply our needs in salt from Germany. That unnatural order of things increases enormously the cost of living and paralyzes all production."

PAPER REFLECTS EDITOR'S IDEALS

The Marion Star, which Senator Warren G. Harding bought in 1884 at the age of 19, for $300, is today printed on a $28,000 printing press, from endless rolls of white paper—white paper that is not only hard to get, but costly. The Star is no longer the weakling in Ohio newspaperdom that it once was. It has a battery of eight linotype machines. Its news from over the world comes by telegraph. Senator Harding owns the three-story brick building in which his newspaper is housed. The Star is an afternoon newspaper of sixteen pages. It has a circulation of 11,600 each week day. It goes into 90 percent of the homes of Marion where newspapers are read, and it spreads through the county. Always it is carrying the doctrine of good citizenship, wholesome living and community building, and through it Senator Harding shows what manner of man he is.

As an editor, Senator Harding is somewhat of the Horace Greeley type, in that he knows the folks who read his newspaper. Of all the 11,600 subscribers who read the Star every day, it is said that Senator Harding probably knows by name all but about 300 of them, and it is because of this intimate personal touch with his community every day that he wields wide influence here at home. It is for this, as well as for other reasons, that the Star keeps its tone and purposes high. It is one of the clean, forceful newspapers of the country.

Senator Harding's sanctum at the Star building is a front room on the second floor. He occupies a bright oak, flat-top desk when at his editorial efforts, but he spends more time around the typed forms in the composing room, or around the big press on the lower floor. He has not by any means outgrown his liking of the odor of printer's ink. He has long been a community leader, a conspicuous figure in Ohio politics, and has held a prominent place in the United States Senate, but before he began to fill any of these places he was a printer. And when he goes to the White House as President, he will be the first newspaperman elected to the nation's leadership.

On the walls of his sanctum are a dozen large photographs of Americans who have been his friends—McKinley, Blaine, Taft, Burton among them. On his desk in two days after he was nominated had accumulated 500 congratulatory telegrams from men over the United States, while about as many letters had come for him by mail.

INJUNCTION IS DENIED ANTI-SUFFS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Justice Sissons, of the District of Columbia supreme court, yesterday denied an anti-suffrage application for a restraining order to prevent promulgation of the federal suffrage amendment by the State department. Issuance of a temporary injunction, the justice said, would be an unwarranted interference with a purely administrative action of the secretary of state.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

If you are accustomed to wake up with coated tongue, foul breath or a dull headache; or if your meals sour and ferment, you have a real surprise awaiting you.

Tomorrow morning, immediately upon arising, drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This is intended to first neutralize and then wash out of your stomach, liver, kidneys and thirty feet of intestines all the indigestible waste, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal.

Those subject to headaches, backaches, bilious attacks, constipation or stomach trouble, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin enjoying this morning inside bath.

Just as hot water and soap cleanse, purify and freshen the skin, so hot water and a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Limestone phosphate is an inexpensive white powder and almost tasteless.
