QUAINT OLD-WORLD CUSTOMS

Whitsuntide Superstition in Parts of England—Annual "Cheese Rolling" in Small Village.

An old superstition still lingers in some parts of England, notably Derbyshire, and induces people to rise unusually early on Whitsuntide morning in order that they may see the sun rise, for they frankly believe that whoever request is proffered the Almighty at that particular moment is certain to be granted.

The county of Northampton celebrates an old custom, dating from the time of Queen Elizabeth, once in 20 years. The scene of it is the village of Coby.

Very early on White Monday, bands of men are stationed at the by-ways of the parish, who demand toll of all pedestrians. Should they refuse, they are seized, hoisted on a stout pole, and carried to the village amidst the cheers and jeers of the spectators.

The origin of the "cheese rolling" which takes place yearly in the quiet little village of Birdlip, in the Cheltenham district, is lost, like many more, in the mists of antiquity, but local sentiment forbids it dying out. A substantial round cheese is set rolling down a steep hill with all the young and active members of the population in hot pursuit. Before it can be captured many of the men are rolling after, but the cheese evades the majority of them, and usually falls to the lot of one of the company who has managed to keep his feet.

BEAR MOST POWERFUL BEAST

Easily King of Them All, as Far as His Physical Strength Can Be Estimated.

A man rowing does one-third as much work as an ox plowing.

An ox plowing does a little more than half the work of an average cart-horse hauling a ton of coal.

A camel carrying 500 pounds on its back is nearly equal to two average horses, while an elephant, which will bear a load of half a ton or lift a log of oak of the same weight, is worth in muscular power rather more than three good camels.

The lion, usually known as the king of beasts, is by no means the strongest. Its strength is estimated as that of six men only, while that of a full-grown Indian tiger is a third greater.

Neither of these animals is equal in muscular power to the bear tribe, of which the polar and the grizzly are the strongest. A grizzly weighing about 1,000 pounds has been seen to carry a steer weighing 800 pounds up a steep mountain-side for over half a mile. Its strength is at least twice that of a lion.

A gorilla four feet six inches in height has the strength of four strong men. It can bend double a pair of 12-bore gun barrels in its paw. The African buffalo and the Indian gaur—or wild ox—are the two largest and most powerful of the buffalo tribe. It is doubtful if 12 men could hold a gaur, which stands as much as six feet high, and is over eight feet in length.

Isinglass.

Isinglass is the dried swimming bladders of several varieties of fish. The amount of gelatin in isinglass is from 86 to 93 per cent and even more. It is prepared by tearing the air bladder or sound from the back of the fish, from which it has been loosened by striking several blows with a wooden club, then washing in cold water. The black outer skin is removed with a knife, again washed and spread on a board to dry in the open air, with the white shiny skin turned outward. To prevent shriveling or shrinking the bladders must be fastened to a drying board. The best quality of isinglass comes from sounds that are dried in the sun. After drying the sound is again moistened with warm water and the interior shiny skin is removed by hammering or rubbing. Finally it is rolled between two polished iron rollers.

Clerical Expedient.

The English preacher, Stephen Jenkins, was not a highly educated man, but he had a native wit which often helped him out of difficulties. One Sunday while reading as the Scripture lesson the third chapter of Daniel, he came to a batch of words that gave him trouble. "At what time ye hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, dulcimer," etc. Now this list of instruments is repeated several times in the chapter, and the second time he stumbled through it with even greater difficulty than the first.

Before he reached it again, however, he had discovered a way of escape. So the third time he relieved both himself and his listeners by reading with the utmost gravity, "And the band played as before."—Boston Transcript.

"Tower of the Winds."

There was a water clock erected at Athens, Greece, in the second year of the first century before Christ. It is octagonal in plan, 42 feet high and 26 feet in diameter. Toward the top of each side it is sculptured with various symbols of the wind. Originally the structure was surmounted with a bronze Triton which served as a weather vane.

Heredity.

"So that clever woman player's father was a dentist? That accounts for it."
"Accounts for what?"
"Her good bridge work."

LADIES DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

USE GRANDMA'S SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR RECIPE AND NOBODY WILL KNOW

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

SAYS RELIEF WAS STOPPED

LONDON, Aug. 20. (By Mail).—Charges that the Serbian military forces have stopped a British and a Canadian mission from doing relief work in Montenegro are made by Alex Devine of Winchester in a statement he has just issued.

Mr. Devine describes himself as a friend of Montenegro whose "only interest in that country is that it shall have the chance of determining its own fate—a right that has been denied to Montenegrins alone of all the recognized allied nations, owing to the forcible seizure of their country by Serbian troops." Mr. Devine denies the report that he is a "paid agent" of Nicholas, formerly king of Montenegro.

Mr. Devine alleges that the British relief mission was prevented from entering Montenegro by the Serbian military forces acting on orders from Belgrade and under threats of violence was compelled to retire to a base in Italy.

According to Mr. Devine, the Canadian medical mission headed by Colonel Burnham which had been operating in Montenegro for some time stopped. He states that Colonel Burnham has appealed to the British foreign secretary for protection informing the secretary that "the seriousness of the situation here, created by the Serbs, admits of no delay" and asking that the British government ensure the safety of the mission. Mr. Devine quotes Colonel Burnham as accusing the Serbians of seizing the boats and material of the mission and of terrorizing his people. Mr. Devine says:

"Colonel Burnham says that he has been threatened with assassination and that the mission is spied on to such an extent that even the sick are afraid to come to the hospital for relief. The colonel adds:

"When the veil is lifted from the Ipek country there will be found a condition of affairs which will come as a rude shock to those who have put their confidence and given their help to Serbia. The reign of terror is complete, there are not many Montenegrins, and in another year there will be none left. The entire country is mourning and it is no longer possible for these people to exist, many have lost their reason and all are in the direst distress. Montenegro is being done to death."

A turnip seed is said to increase its own weight fifteen times in a minute.
