KYNE'S ORPHAN SPLIT FAMILY

OAKLAND, Sept. 14.—Peter B. Kyne, short story writer, decided the climax of his own life story Friday. Required to choose between his wife and 18-year-old Marcel Duprey, French war orphan, Kyne chose his wife and permitted the boy to be taken into the home of a woman from the French colony, San Francisco.

An explanation was made by Kyne before Superior Judge E. C. Robinson in juvenile court proceedings that the boy's actions had so unnerved his wife that she was compelled to go on an extended cruise of the West Indies. She is expected home next month.

The court refused to give out the name of the woman into whose home the boy will go, declaring that publicity would make it difficult in caring for the lad.

Confronted with much the same difficulty in weaving the plots of his Captain Ricks stories, Kyne was compelled to send the boy out of his household or keep his wife under a constant nervous strain and ill health. Finally he brought charges of incorrigibility against the boy in a juvenile court action.

According to the figures furnished by the druggists and other dealers in Hibbing, Minn., the women and girls of that town since the first of the present year have bought 347 boxes of rouge, 44 flour sacks of face powder, and two and a half gallons of eyebrow black.

All the larger political parties in the new republic of Czecho-Slovakia give the women members places in their councils, including the executive and administrative bodies both central and local.

The first woman to take up life insurance as a life work and the only woman life insurance manager in the world today, are distinctions belonging to Mrs. Florence E. Schaal, who is the executive head of the women's branch of one of the big Boston companies.

Japanese wives of the middle and lower classes frequently blacken their teeth to please a jealous husband.

MIXOLOGISTS GET JOBS IN LONDON

LONDON, Aug. 27. (By Mail).—American bartenders are invading England and getting jobs in the more pretentious bars and clubs frequented by young men because of their ability to mix cocktails. Older Englishmen still stick to their "scotch and soda" but the younger generation is getting the cocktail habit.

One bartender when applying for a position at a big club told the secretary he could mix 500 different drinks. The Englishman familiar with that expression so familiar to Americans when they try to tell English folks of what a glorious country America is but hired him anyhow. He has not run through his alleged repertoire yet but has made good.

In some parts of West Africa the girls have long engagements. On the day of their birth they are betrothed to a baby boy, a trifle older than themselves, and at the age of 20 they are married. The girls know of no other way of getting a husband, and so they are quite happy and satisfied.

The "Easy" Vacuum Electric Washing Machine Stands Supreme In It's Field

Every day we hear more praise of the "Easy" from women who have ease and leisure where formerly they knew no relief from toils at the tub. We are proud of the "Easy." We stand behind it. It costs but a trifle per hour for current to wash as much as a good laundress will wash over the washboard in four hours.

The "Easy" Washer differs in appearance and washing principle from other washing machines, and washes the clothes clean rapidly by air pressure and suction.

Two vacuum cups, or plungers, force the soapy water through the mesh of the garments without friction or rubbing. These double vacuum suction cups move up and down 60 times a minute and change position automatically. They work all the clothes in every part of the tub.

This method creates vigorous water force which dirt cannot resist, and at the same time the action is so gentle as not to injure the most delicate fabrics, as there is no dragging or jerking of the clothes. The "Easy" Washer is 97% metal. The tub is of copper, and it is furnished complete with wringer and motor.

The "Easy" is neat in appearance, small in floor space, and large in capacity.

THERE IS NONE SUPERIOR TO THE "EASY" VACUUM ELECTRIC WASHER

With Solid Copper Tub, $185.00

We Also Have Two "Laundry Queen" Electric Washers

Which are more moderately priced than the "Easy." They are splendid machines in every way, and carry a ONE YEAR GUARANTEE BOND from the manufacturer. With the patented planetary gears with which this machine is equipped, the motor can be smaller, still retaining plenty of power to run both washer and wringer, and consequently the operating cost is held at a minimum.

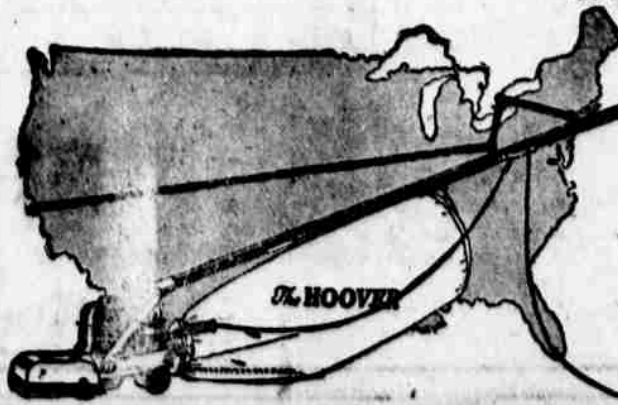

The tub is of the best white cedar, hinged to drain the water, with a patent sure-lock lid fastener. There is no mechanism attached to the tub, so that it can be removed without tools.

The wringer swings to any position, and has a drip board on each side. It runs in either direction, and has direct drive, thus eliminating belt-slip.

Present Price, $135.00
