BOXERS' BENEFIT MADE GOOD SHOW

Not the fire sufferers but Bobby Wagner, welterweight boxer who has a fractured rib, benefitted by last night's exhibitions at the Monday theater. The net receipts were donated. Ted White and Mrs. Sarah Osborne gave vaudeville and musical sketches. Jack McDonald, ex-bantam weight champion, expeller premiere for Barnum and Bailey, and a few other things, added versatility to the program with a dialect address.

Sundry boxers, big, little, and otherwise, furnished odds of good fun. Each one of them was announced as the champion of some place or other, and of course no one was inclined to doubt the genuineness of their claims. Lefty Walker and a dusky confere acted as seconds for all of the boxers, and wielded their towels like a couple of sick chambermaids on the end of a bed sheet. Jack Cordell, a husky, shifty appearing battler, took on a couple of boxers, and showed to good advantage. He seems to have plenty of speed, avordupois, and ability, and while he pulled his punches in a very lady-like manner, it is evident that he is anything but a lady. No lady would permit Toby Miller to hug her the way he sometimes hugged Cordell. At any rate Cordell showed that he possessed fighting ability, and should be able to make the biggest and best of them step lively in the ring.

Matchmaker Frank Smith and Jack McDonald refereed the bouts.

WORSE THAN LIGHTED CIGAR

Denverite, After Carefully Igniting It, Absentmindedly Put the Fire-cracker in His Mouth.

As a result of absent-mindedness in his Fourth of July celebrating, Oslip Salonski, 32, of West Denver lost several teeth and is carrying his face in a sling.

Oslip stood on the corner, smoking a cigaret and watching with interest the youngsters shoot off their explosives. Suddenly a desire to be young, real young, once more assailed him, and, staking up to a near-by booth, he purchased a whole fistful of firecrackers. Stepping to the edge of the curb, he cautiously applied the end of his lighted cigaret to the fuse of one of the crackers. A sputter and a volley of little sparks announced that the noise was on the way. Then Oslip's mentality failed to function properly. With a quick movement he slammed his cigaret into the street and jammed the end of the firecracker into his mouth. A terrific crash, which disengaged three front teeth and bespeckled his face with powder burns, brought Oslip to the conclusion that all was not just as it should be. He made a run for the nearest drug store, and he emerged a few moments later reeking with the fumes of iodine and his face and neck swathed in bandages, and he looked much like an accident that had gone somewhere to happen and, apparently, had been a success. — Denver Times.

OBEDIENCE TO NATURAL LAW

Fear Implanted in Mankind for the Purpose of Promoting Caution—Differs in the Sexes.

"In normal, well-balanced persons there is a certain relation between the element of fear and the element of courage. Fear is an emotion existing for the purpose of promoting caution, and in primitive days and in animals tends to self-preservation. Anger, curiosity and courage are factors which oppose fear and flight. When knowledge, experience, repetition, finally limit or delimit the action of these two opposing instincts and emotions, conscious action is carried out with understanding according to the inherent reactions."

"Woman was made with the element of fear and caution more pronounced than in man, because woman, the mother, was not supposed to be the fighter. Man, primitive man, the fighter, was more endowed with courage."

These quotations from a report by Dr. Samuel Wyllys Bandler of New York to the Journal of the American Medical association preface a discussion of the differences in the ductless, or endocrine, glands in man and woman. In normal persons these balance each other, but the balance is different in the two sexes and, according to Doctor Bandler, it is this difference in balance that causes the differences in the instincts and emotions.

Modern Tanning Inferior. Commenting on an article by Robert O. Skerrett on the tanning of leather, the Scientific American says: "The modern art of tanning falls short of the standards set in days gone by. It used to take two years to convert 'green' hide into marketable leather; the modern tanner thinks that he is doing well if he devotes five months to the process. No chemical process has been developed of speeding up the process without detracting from the quality of the product."

Overworking a Proverb. "Father," said the small boy, "what is a profiteer?" "A profiteer, my son, is a man who runs across the proverb, 'Make hay while the sun shines' and overworks it."

CALIFORNIA STATION GETS BORDEAUX RADIO

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 14.—Though many cases are on record of European radio stations—particularly that at Nauen, Germany—being heard in California or other far western communities it was not until recently that a California station talked with a station in continental Europe, so far as available records show.

One night recently, during the 30-day test being made of the new Lafayette station at Bordeaux, France, the local navy station picked up a message from that aerial. Half idly the operator sent a reply. Somewhat to his surprise the French station heard and acknowledged the reply. The Bordeaux station was built by the United States navy as a war measure, but was not completed until recently. It is to be operated by France. The signals, which were sent on an extremely long wave length, came through "as clear as a bell" according to local radio officials.

Announcement!

Breier & Petersen of Lewiston, Idaho, announce to the public that they have leased the middle room in the Odd Fellows' building. This will hereafter be known as the Workingman's Store, under the Management of John Vale.

We own and operate something like 30 stores in Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Anything based on righteous principles that keeps down the cost of living is a benefit to the public. We eliminate all unnecessary and expensive fixtures, our overhead cost is small, we purchase in immense quantities at the lowest possible figure, keep a small stock at each store and sell strictly for cash, so the profit per sale can be correspondingly less.

The Workingman's Store will be open to the public Saturday, September 18.

Yours to serve,

BREIER & PETERSEN,
By John Vale, Manager.

We carry Ladies', Children's and Men's Shoes, Men's Clothing and Furnishings and Staples in Women's Furnishings.
