

CHANGES IN O. A. C. DRILLS

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Sept. 16.—Many changes will be made in the college military department in starting the new school year. The instructional staff will be materially increased, and request has been made for additional enlisted privates for the field artillery and cavalry units.

Instead of two drill periods a week the R. O. T. C. members will meet by battalion, troops and corps, but once a week for general assembly, at which time maneuvers will be undertaken. This will be from 1 to 3 o'clock. To take the place of the second drill period, instructional groups limited to 25 persons. Regular class room instruction has been scheduled. The students will listen to lectures and will have regular study work to do. Moving pictures will be used so that the students may visualize military operations.

New uniforms have been received by the college military department which will be issued to the first year R. O. T. C. men, and to all others whose uniforms are worn.

CHICO, Sept. 16.—The thirty-first year of the Chico state normal school was commenced with the opening of the fall term here Monday. Registration for the teacher course was heavy, students from all over superior California enrolling. The normal training school in which the student teachers are given actual teaching experience, opened yesterday.

MEMORIALS FOR CONFEDERATES

WINCHESTER, Va., Sept. 16.—Memorials to two Confederate generals, Stephen Dodson Ramseur and James Johnston Pettigrew, both North Carolinians, will be unveiled near here during the coming week at the places where they died. Many southerners, principally North Carolinians, are expected here for the exercises which will be under the joint auspices of the North Carolina division of United Confederate Veterans, the North Carolina division of United Daughters of the Confederacy and the North Carolina historical commission.

The memorial to General Ramseur which marks the Belle Grove house where the general died October 20, 1864, will be dedicated on the afternoon of September 16. The memorial to General Pettigrew which marks the Boyd house where he died July 17, 1863, will be dedicated on the morning of September 17.

The two memorials consist of granite columns, the gift of the late Colonel P. H. Mayo, of Richmond, Va.

At the Ramseur memorial dedication Thursday afternoon the speakers will include Major Charles M. Stedman, formerly a member of General Ramseur's staff and former Senator Henry A. DuPont, of Delaware, who was a classmate of General Ramseur at West Point, afterward an officer in the Union army and who was with general Ramseur at the time of his death. General Ramseur was mortally wounded at the battle of Cedar creek, near here and fell into the hands of the Union army under General Philip Sheridan. He was taken to Sheridan's headquarters at the Bell Grove house, where he received every attention from both his own and Federal surgeons, in spite of which he died October 20, 1864.

Dedication of the memorial to General Pettigrew will take place Friday morning, the principal address being by Chief Justice Walter Clark of North Carolina, while General Louis G. Young, of Savannah, Ga., an intimate friend of General Pettigrew, also will make an address.

General Pettigrew commanded Heth's division of the Confederate army in Longstreet's assault on Cemetery ridge, July 3, 1863. During Lee's retreat from Gettysburg, he commanded the rear guard of the Confederate army and was wounded at Falling Waters, July 14. He was moved at once to Boyd house, near here, where he died July 17, 1863. The tablet on the Ramseur memorial reads:

yards, is the Belle Grove house in which died, October 20, 1864, of wounds received at Cedar creek, October 19, 1864, Major-General Stephen Dodson Ramseur, C. S. A. A native of North Carolina, he resigned from the United States army in 1861 and entering the Confederate states army as a lieutenant, rose to the rank of major-general at the age of 27."

The Pettigrew memorial tablet is inscribed:

"Due west of this tablet, 650 feet, is the Boyd house in which died, July 17, 1863, Brigadier General James Johnston Pettigrew, of North Carolina, C. S. A. At Gettysburg he commanded and led Neth's division in the assault on Cemetery ridge, July 3, 1863, in which he was mortally wounded at Falling Waters, July 14, 1863. "He was a brave and accomplished officer and gentleman, and his loss will be deeply felt by the country and the army.—R. E. Lee."

Winchester citizens will hold a reception for the visiting Confederate veterans and their friends Thursday night.

In preparation for the hard surfacing of the downtown city streets of Bend, C. S. Reed of the Western Willite Paving company is purchasing machinery and extensive supplies to use here, on an authorization recently sent by Mayor Easton, a letter received by Mr. Easton from the Willite president states. Operations are to be started here as quickly as possible, Mr. Reed mentions in his letter.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS HOUSE PAINT SWP

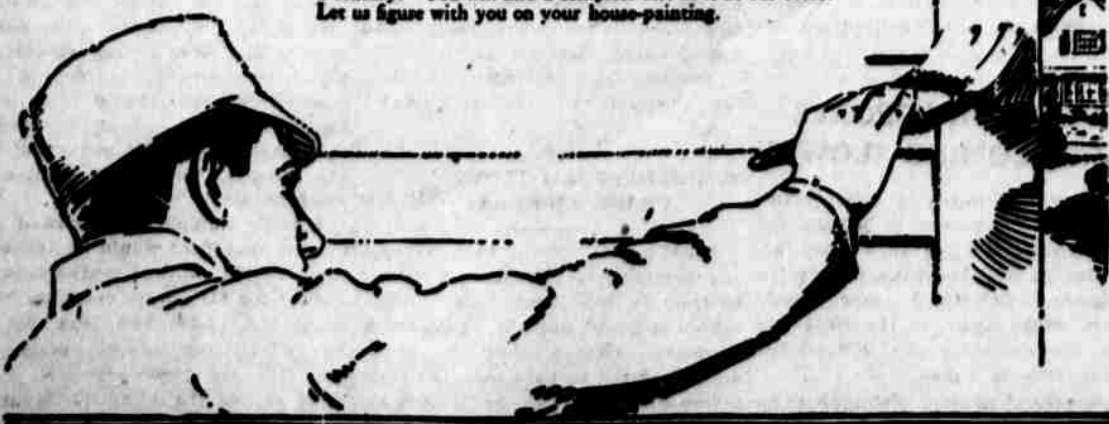

How SWP cuts painting cost

The only way to buy paint economically is to forget gallon price and figure costs by area covered and years of life.

SWP covers one-third more area than paints which are cheaper per gallon. It lasts twice as long without repainting, so requires half the material and costs half the labor price (for painting and repainting).

So price per gallon means nothing. Area covered, weather resistance, and years of life are the real things that determine price economy. On that basis SWP is the cheapest per-gallon outside paint you could buy.

SWP has been the leading prepared house paint for half a century. You will find a complete line of it at our store. Let us figure with you on your house-painting.
