FOOTBALL SQUAD,
 O. A. C., STARTS
 1920 PRACTICE

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Sept. 16.—Football practice began at the college yesterday. The football field has been put in good condition and "Jimmie" Richardson, manager of student affairs, is making arrangements to take care of the football men when they arrive.

"Chuck" Rose, captain; Hodler, and Swan are in Corvallis already, having spent the summer in manual labor in connection with the O. A. C. building work. They are said to be in first rate condition for starting the season. "Gap" Powell, famous fullback, "Babe" McCart and Joe Kasberger have written that they will be late in reporting. Among those on the job for the opening practice were Bob Stewart, Hughie McKenna, Christensen, Wood, Clark, a freshman, Joe Reynolds and Thompson.

"Bob" Hager, formerly of the University of Nebraska, and G. L. Rathbun, assistant director of athletics in the University of Indiana, new men on the staff of the department, are now here. "Mike" Butler, trainer, is expected within a day or two.

Announcement of the establishment of a therapeutic department to take care of the injured athletes, has been made by Coach Rutherford. A steam room and dryer in connection with the new swimming pool unit will facilitate drying off football clothes.

Coach Rutherford is not the kind of man who blows in advance about what his team will do. All he is willing to say is that his men will be in the fight from start to finish. The first contest of the season will be with Pacific university, October 9. The following week end the O. A. C. eleven will meet the Multnomah club.

"Puss," the name bestowed on every cat, originated in "Pashit," given by the Egyptians to the sacred cat which they worshipped because they thought its eyes were like the moon.

SCHOOLS, SCHOOLS, SCHOOLS,
 SCHOOLS, SCHOOLS, SCHOOLS

One subject that always invites interest on the part of the average citizen, is that of the schools. This interest is sometimes constructive, often destructive, but always present.

The attitude of the county court toward the schools of the county has much to do with their success. The commissioners, being members of the governing body of the county high school, members of the school district boundary board, levying the money that largely supports the schools, and in other ways directly influencing them, it would seem that at least one member of the county court should have some intimate knowledge of schools.

Some have been kind enough to suggest that my tenure of four years in the office of county superintendent was not entirely a failure. I did get the support and co-operation of the school boards to the extent that either new, or entirely remodeled, school houses were provided in three-fifths of the districts of the county—money for the support of the schools was raised on county as whole, and special taxes almost eliminated.

As commissioner I would favor liberal county support of schools, in order to lower the burdensome special taxes and more equitably distribute tax burden, as well as enable the schools to pay such salaries as competent teachers deserve.

FRED PETERSON,
 Republican Candidate for County Commissioner.

AT THE THEATERS

A new kind of sleuth figures in "Partners of the Night," at the Star theater tonight. And there is only one kiss in the plot. In fact cigars play a more important role than kisses in the story.

The story begins at sea on a liner on its way to New York. In New York the sky is the limit, and gambling figures in this story. There is a bank and a gambling den, and police headquarters, where an especially fine type of police commissioner is in charge. Under him is a crook who tries to queer the hero and frame the chief. Meanwhile the detective Clifford follows the trail of a woman and two men. Is he in love with a thief? That night in the apartment house was full of complications. The big moments follow fast. Things begin to look bad for Clifford. The frame-up at headquarters loses Clifford his job. Another frame-up is planted for the commissioner. Only a crook can save him and save Clifford. But how? And would you have married the girl?

General John J. Pershing enjoyed one of the heartiest laughs since he came back from the war when he visited the Goldwyn studios on his recent trip to California and saw the kiddies acting out the ghost scene in Booth Tarkington's "Edgar" picture, "Edgar's Hamlet." The general bent double with laughter when Harry Penn, the little colored boy, strutted forth wrapped in a sheet, his eyes wildly rolling, and exclaimed: "Who's I? I see yo' pappy's gosh, dat's who I is!"

Suddenly the raggedy old curtains finally jerked together on the scene and the general walked right into the middle of the set, picked up Lucille Rickson, dainty ten year old leading lady, and kissed her. Then he shook hands with all the children in the cast. When Johnny Jones shook hands with him he said: "I understand you have a little boy 'bout my age. I hope he will enjoy our picture."

Some years ago a Spaniard named Godinez offered to subject himself to the electric chair in Sing Sing prison. The offer was refused, but he proved later that he was able to stand a charge far higher than that used in the prison for the purpose of electrocution. At an exhibition before medical scientists he stood between two electrodes, and permitted a constant stream of lightning to pass through his body without suffering any harmful result.

EAT LESS MEAT
 IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney diseases.

OREGON BREVITIES

PORTLAND, Sept. 17.—Kept afloat by the buoyancy of her skirts for 15 minutes after she had leaped into the Willamette river from the north side of the Morrison street bridge at 12:15 o'clock Monday morning, Mrs. Katherine Aikman, 36, was saved from drowning by the prompt and single-handed effort of Engineer Voderberg of the harbor patrol.

PORTLAND, Sept. 17.—Masquerading as loggers early Sunday morning, Patrolmen Meacham and Reagan made a tour of the north end resorts and soft drink parlors, where they pretended to have an unquenchable thirst. As a result of their activity, they arrested four men.

ALBANY, Ore., Sept. 17.—Announcement was made Saturday by the Albany Herald that H. H. Hill and T. B. Potwin, who have been employed on the Herald as news editor and editor, respectively, have purchased together a half interest in the Herald from E. M. Reagan, until now sole owner of the paper.
