

GOLD LURING MEN NORTHWARD

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Sept. 21.—Spurred on by actual evidence of government development that guarantees an early solution of many problems heretofore confronting the prospector, many men are again taking the field and on every train leaving Anchorage for the interior arrive a number of old-time prospectors and newcomers.

Among the terra incognita that hardy men of the trails are endeavoring to conquer is the Mount McKinley country, where none but the most hardy and seasoned pioneer may penetrate. Mysterious finds that were abandoned when the war broke out have proved a lure to the old-timers and this summer bids fair to see some old-time stampedes into the region.

Some idea of the hazards to be braved in penetrating the country may be gained by the knowledge that it requires a trip of several hundred miles in winter with a dog team and supplies, the setting up of camp, and laying up in the twilight in a country where the temperatures range around 65 degrees below zero, and braving the crevasses of the great glaciers and the torrential streams in summer.

With the completion of the railroad now being constructed by the government, it will be possible to take in supplies to nearby depots when the prospectors will be able to keep food bases and extend their working season materially.

ANOTHER CHANCE

Those who are interested in having their house or business building fixed up with the famous National Metal Weather Strip, have another chance to place an order for the work and have it done this year. I will be here for three days and during that time will be glad to call and explain the merits of the National Weather Strip. I have already placed it in a number of homes in this city, and those who have it will tell you of its splendid advantages and will also tell you that they would not get along without it at twice the cost. You will save enough in your fuel bill to pay for the installation of the strip and at the same time enjoy the great comfort that goes with it. The Strip is all metal and lasts a lifetime and is guaranteed by the manufacturer to be constantly efficient. Let me show you what it is, what it will do, and tell you what it will cost. Leave your orders at the Herald office.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

IF MIXED WITH SULPHUR IT DARKENS SO NATURALLY NOBODY CAN TELL

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray.

streaked and faded hair is grandmothers recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive
