

Letters From The People

Klamath Agency, Ore.,
Sept. 22, 1920.

The Evening Herald,
Klamath Falls, Ore.:

The Indians of the Klamath reservation are very much peeved over the slight of the commissioner of Indian affairs, the Honorable Cato Sells, who has decided not to visit Klamath. Such is the official telegram from Washington, addressed to Mr. West, superintendent of the Klamath Indian reservation, from the assistant commissioner, Merritt, dated the 21st: "Your telegram 20th. Forward to office letters mentioned. Commissioner will not visit Klamath this trip."

This is certainly a great disappointment to the Indians of the reservation, since they received information of Mr. Sells leaving his official duties in Washington for the purpose of visiting every Indian reservation, and to further acquaint himself with the actual needs of the Indians of each reservation. Mr. Sells in his official rounds had reached ed the largest Indian training school at Chemawa, Oregon, making a short jump to Klamath. The Indians had planned to give the commissioner a cordial reception, being that this occasion might have been his last official visit before surrendering his office to his republican successor.

No conjecture can be made why this slight should be given to the second wealthiest tribe of Indians, second only to the Osage Indians of Oklahoma. The Indians of Klamath are rated to be worth from thirty-five thousand to forty-five thousand dollars apiece, in land and in timber assets. Great questions of tremendous importance are at this time confronting the reservation for a judicious settlement with the government. Some of these are: Suit in equity against the government to the excluded area, claimed by the Indians, under the terms of the treaty of October 4, 1864, referred by congressional legislation for adjudication to the United States court of claims. The money due the Indians from the sale of tribal timber and the possibility of the reservation, or the surplus land opened for settlement and other questions of lesser importance.

There may have been a feeling of guiltiness on the part of the commissioner in his extension and promise made to the Indians on his former visit to the agency on August 3, 1917, in the school auditorium when Mr. Sells promised to take immediate steps "for the betterment of the health conditions of the children, by establishing hospitals and a competent staff of trained surgeons and physicians, and the betterment of the schools for the education of the children, thus preparing them for the purpose of making good and useful citizens."

These conditions are sorely in a deplorable and lamentable state at the present time. Steps have been taken by the present officials to recommend the termination of the training school, owing to the inefficiency of the operation and the expenditures of the public moneys being too great, and the results being very meager. Since this promise was extended over one hundred Indians have died from different ailments, owing to the difficulty of securing physicians for immediate need. Just now the Klamath reservation is very fortunate in having an official force composed of persons of the most affable disposition, all working in harmony for the advancement of the wards of the government. So it may have been nothing amiss for the commissioner to give the Indians of the reservation a word of cheer and encouragement for advancement.

LAST DANCE AT ST. CLOUD

The last dance of the season was given at St. Cloud last Saturday evening. Twenty-five couples were present. Music was furnished by the Adams string band, Billie Adams, first violin; Irene Taylor, piano; and Captain J. W. Winslow, clarinet. Captain Winslow led the German, the first time it was ever danced in St. Cloud.

Women and girls employed in the shops and offices in London have succeeded in getting the so-called "workmen's train" to run until 9 o'clock in the morning, an hour later than was the former rule, which allows them to take advantage of the reduced fares.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE TO HAIR

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

RUBBER

IF THERE'S ANY "STORY" OF QUALITY WE CAN TELL IT BEST

The story of quality is interesting to all who purchase. Quality is no more important in any other one thing in the world than in rubber. Rubber qualities can be weakened or adulterated or "mixed" as well as can drug qualities or anything else. Quality counts for a great deal in rubber because if you do not get quality you do not get the best wear. The uses of a piece of rubber are vital enough so that quality is essential because you cannot afford to have it split, tear or break by accident.

SOME THINGS NEEDED NOW AND WHICH WE HAVE

Hot water bottles, fountain syringes, bulb syringes, tubes, rubber gloves, nipples, rubber sponges, rubber brushes, atomizer bulbs and ice caps, to say nothing of the more seldom called for, but none the less essential, enema in tubes, irrigators, breast pumps and surgical needs. We have all these things of rubber. We have all of them in the best of qualities. Economy is illustrated in the initial cost and the long time these goods will wear. Our say-so should be enough to warrant your purchases here but our guarantee is better. We guarantee every piece of rubber we sell.

If the Wood Dealer Sold Service

We do not sell current; we sell service. That sounds odd doesn't it?

Well, suppose the wood dealer sold service instead of wood, he would tend to your furnace and your range, take away the ashes and clean the flues. You would buy so much heat.

Now you buy so much light, although you pay according to the current you consume. But the service is performed for you by this company at the substations and power plants.

That is what we want to give you—efficient service. It is the aim of this company to have some but satisfied customers. No matter what it is, if you have a grievance, or are dissatisfied about your bill or do not understand our rates, please come in and see us or write us about it.

If you have any suggestions to make, we will gladly avail ourselves of them as our aim is constantly to improve our service to you as fast as the development of science and human ability permits.
