MAN FOUND DEAD BY ROAD

Lying on his blankets inside his peddler's wagon, the body of Charles Bennett, aged peddler, was found yesterday by the roadside about a mile north of the Lamm Lumber company's plant.

C. C. McCoppen, assistant to Coroner Whitlock, made investigation last night and decided that death was due to natural causes. There were no signs of violence. Bennett's body was found by Indian residents of the reservation. He had evidently died three or four days ago.

The decedent was apparently more than 50 years old. He had a one-horse peddling outfit and had been peddling over the reservation during the summer. There was plenty of food in the wagon, but no money on the person of the dead man, nor papers to indicate who his relatives might be.

His horse was unharnessed and tied to a fence by the roadside. Evidently the aged peddler had camped for the night and retired as usual in his wagon bed. A tarpaulin was thrown over the wagon top and probably many persons passed the outfit without suspecting anything wrong. After days had passed without its moving, however, some of the residents looked inside the wagon and found the body.

COSTLY FIRE AT GALVESTON

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 30.—Fire originating in sulphur bins at pier 35 this morning, spread rapidly along the waterfront, resulting in the destruction of the pier and the partial destruction of the plant of the Cotton Concentration company, entailing a loss of 3,500 bales of cotton.

The Italian steamship, Etna, with a cargo of wheat, was burned. The estimated value of ship and cargo was $1,000,000.

Fire Chief Ryan yesterday received a card, postmarked in Canada, with the warning, "You are going to be destroyed." The message was signed, "John."

LABOR SHY OF RUSHING ENDORSEMENTS

Endorsement by the political committee of the central labor council of candidates, other than those already named, awaits a special meeting tomorrow night. This was the announcement today from headquarters.

The carpenters union held a meeting last night and ratified all actions taken by the political committee so far.

The meeting tomorrow night will not be a public meeting but neither will it be confined entirely to labor union members. The whole campaign, assert labor leaders, is non-partisan and council will be taken from outside the unions and candidates regardless of labor affiliations.

PLAN CAMOUFLAGE

LEADVILLE, Ohio, Sept. 29.—Elimination of empty store windows to give a more prosperous appearance to the city in the eyes of visitors was discussed at a recent luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce. A number of merchants agreed to put displays of articles in vacant windows and to keep them tidy and clean in return for the advertising thus secured.

MUCH STOCK ENTERED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 30.—More than 600 farms animals have been entered in the Los Angeles Livestock show which will be held at Exposition park, Oct. 2 to 10. Many of the entries, which include, horses, mules, cattle, swine and goats, have won blue ribbons at state fairs and national shows.

Besides the exhibition of stock, each day's program will include a horse show, rodeo, racing, poultry and pet stock show and other features.

OLD COACH IN MUSEUM

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 30.—The 12 passenger stage coach "Beehive," used to carry passengers in Yellowstone National park before the introduction of automobiles, has been presented to the state of Utah by the Union Pacific railroad. It is to be put in the museum at the state capital building here. The vehicle, drawn by four horses, was used in the park from 1898 until 1916 and it is estimated to have traveled 85,000 miles and carried upwards to 30,000 passengers during those years.

REXALL STORE WILL TAKE SRTAW VOTE

The Star Drug company, one of the immense chain of drug stores throughout the nation that handles the Rexall remedies, has arranged to take part in the collection of the Rexall stores' straw vote for president.

The vote will be compiled as fast as it is cast and in a few days the first figures will be available. The Star will announce the local vote, and as soon as compilations are made, the state and national vote.

Having stores in all the cities and most of the towns of the nation, the straw vote will be an accurate indication of the actual November ballot, predicts the Rexall company.

A ballot box is in place at the Star Drug company's store and local residents are invited to step in and cast a vote for the next president.
