

Economy In Shoe Buying

after all doesn't consist in buying the cheapest shoes, but those which will give the greatest measure of service for each dollar invested.

The intrinsic economy of JOHN KELLY Shoes rests upon three essential factors:

- 1—Their Style gives lasting satisfaction.
- 2—The materials are the kind that give best wear.
- 3—Expert shoemaking increases their smart appearance and high quality.

WORLD SENDS SONS TO O. A. C.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 4.—Every county in Oregon is represented in the student body of 2864 at the college and nine foreign countries have representatives, as well as 24 other states.

Multnomah leads the counties of Oregon with an enrollment of 501. Benton is second with 404. Marion county has sent 147 students and Linn 98.

California is best represented among the states, 241 native sons and daughters having come to O. A. C. Washington is a close second with 230. Idaho sent 90 and Montana 24. Eleven Philippines are taking various degree courses.

The largest group of foreign students on the campus this year numbers 11—Canadians. Students from Brazil, China, England, Nova Scotia, Russia, Scotland, Serbia and Sweden bring the foreign enrollment up to 23.

Other states and territories having students at the college this year are: Alaska, Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Philippines, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Virginia, and Wyoming.

SCENIC ROAD WILL BE STARTED SOON

BRAWLEY, Cal., Oct. 4.—Construction of a 16 mile road, at a cost of $3000 a mile, leading from the north end of the Coachella valley to Keen Camp, Idyllwild, Hemet and Riverside, which is said will rival the "Rim of the World" drive as a scenic road probably will begin this winter.

The new scenic route passes through country more rugged and wild than that seen from the famous drive, it is said.

Tourists starting from here could go to Hemet, Idyllwild, Vandeventer Flats, down the mountain side to Palm Springs, thence to Banning and Beaumont and return by the Jack Rabbit trail and Moreno and Perris roads, completing a loop of wonderful desert valley and mountain scenery in a day.

Besides being a scenic route, the new road will shorten the distance between Brawley and Idyllwild, and the distance between Coachella valley and the coast.

"Kid" McPartland, who was a famous boxer a generation ago, is to be one of the Walker law referees in New York.

HAD HOST OF ADVENTURES

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 4.—After having been sentenced by the Poles as a bolshevik, robbed and beaten by Ukrainian bandits and held prisoner on many different occasions by bolshevik, Polish and Ukrainian forces, Herman Mackoff has returned to Spokane with his mother, two brothers and two sisters, whom he brought back with him out of the Ukraine. Mackoff, formerly a student at Washington State college, left here last February to rescue his relatives.

Taking a roundabout course through Germany, Mackoff, who is 22 years of age, joined the Polish army as an American newspaper correspondent. After three weeks with the Polish army, much of the time in the front line under fire, he made his way through Rumania and into bolshevik Russia.

Advancing Ukrainian forces captured him and, mistaking his American legion button for the insignia of a certain "red" element, sentenced him to be shot with 27 others. By showing a passport he escaped the fate of the other 27.

With his discharge papers from the American army, which he told illiterate Polish and Ukrainian troops were his credentials as a Red Cross worker, Mackoff succeeded in reaching Bratslav, Ukraine, where his family lived. The townspeople, he said, rushed to meet him, weeping and crying, "Here is an American; he can bring us help."

Mackoff found his family clothed in burlap sacking, barefooted, lacking food and terribly emaciated from illness and under-nourishment, he declared. They reached Warsaw by short stages overland, and thence came through Germany and Belgium to France.

AT THE THEATERS

What is declared to be one of the most elaborate sets ever constructed for a motion picture, appears in "The Butterfly Man," the Robertson-Cole special starring Lew Cody at the Liberty theatre, tonight. A specially built stage covering an area of 6000 square feet was converted into a massive ballroom where the "rose cotillon," one of the spectacular scenes of the Cody production, took place.

In the decoration of this room 12,000 roses of every shade and variety, beautiful greens and rare fernery were used. Four hundred extras, costumed in the latest mode, were employed as guests, and several famous ballroom dancers gave clever exhibitions.

The "piece de resistance" however, of the remarkable scene is the burning of a balloon in the centre of the ballroom in the basket of which are seated eight little children.

In "The Butterfly Man," from the pen of George Barr McCutcheon, a satire on present-day social extravaganzas, Mr. Cody is seen in the role of Sedgewick Blynn a gay young blade with butterfly tendencies. He is supported by three leading ladies, Louise Lovely, Lillie Leslie and Rosemary Theby, who wear Parisian gowns the cost of which runs well up into the thousands.

BUTTE PAVES ROAD WITH GOLD ORE

ANACONDA, Mont., Oct. 4.—The famed celestial streets of gold came near having a modest counterpart in Montana recently when by the merest chance a carload of gold ore was saved from utilization as paving material for a road between Butte and Anaconda.

The ore had been dumped from the car and was about to be sent through the concrete mixer as lime rock when men sent by the owner to trace the strayed shipment discovered it. It was valued at eight to nine thousand dollars.

BOLD HELD TO AWAIT PARDON

PORTLAND, Oct. 4.—Formal withdrawal of the commitment of F. W. Bold, sentenced violator of the espionage act, was ordered Saturday morning by Federal Judge Wolverton. Bold will be held a few days at the county jail pending possible pardon by President Wilson. Bold is a merchant of Bonanza, Or., and is charged with having worked against the cause of the United States during the war. He was released on his former bond.

Action in regard to Bold followed instructions received from Attorney General Palmer at Washington.
