HERE IS WHAT YOU'VE BEEN WAITING FOR
Down in the Mondale Theater building is a store that is going to play a big part in reducing the cost of living. It is the Army Goods store. It has just been opened by Max Weiss and he is going to make it one of the importance factors in furnishing to the people of the city and county of shirts, blankets, underwear, khaki clothing—everything in that line that you want. The store is a little out of the way, but so is the price and that is what interests you. Just drop down and see and learn and save.

AT THE THEATERS

The realistic shipwreck in the "Wings of the Morning," in which William Farnum will be seen on Sunday at the Liberty theatre, recalls many fearful tragedies of the sea which have thrilled the civilized world.

Fresh in memory is the mysterious disappearance of the United States collier Cyclops, which sailed from Rio de Janeiro with a cargo of manganese and three hundred persons and was last seen sailing from Barbadoes, West Indies, on March 4th, 1918. From that time until the present not a trace of this vessel has been found, although United States cruisers, among others, have searched the seas for a radius of many hundreds of miles.

Since 1871 the United States government has lost in the same mysterious fashion seventeen other vessels. Among them were the Saratoga, a ship of eighteen guns, commanded by Capt. John Young, which was lost with all on board in March, 1871. A few years later the General Gates, also a ship of eighteen guns, was lost without leaving a trace of the tragedy.

The Pickering, a brig of 14 guns and a crew of 90 men, sailed from Newcastle, Delaware, for the Guadaloupe station, and never was heard from afterward.

A marine disaster fresh in mind is the loss of the Titanic, with a death toll of more than a thousand. Running at full speed on her maiden trans-Atlantic voyage, this palatial leviathan of the sea struck an iceberg, receiving a mortal wound which sent her to the bottom.

Before the days of the wireless the world was shocked by the sinking of the French liner La Bourgoyne, with the loss of nearly everyone aboard—a few survivors being picked up and bringing the news of the fearful tragedy of the sea to the world. Only one woman was saved.

What a great storm at sea is like and what an angry ocean can do to an ocean giant when whipped into a fury, tossing this master craft of man's ingenuity as wreckage upon a rocky shore, is graphically shown in "Wings of the Morning," in which William Farnum plays the hero, Sunday at the Liberty.

Observation of the laws and fundamental conventionalities of society, while considered by those who lead the Bohemian life to be a useless code followed only by the unenlightened, is nevertheless the only course to pursue if one wants to attain real happiness.

That is the moral forcefully emphasized by Anita Stewart's latest screen starring vehicle, "Harriet and the Piper," which will be shown at the Star theatre, commencing Sunday.

In the role of Harriet Field, a girl from a small town who is dazed by the "advanced thought" theories followed and the Bohemian life led by the natives of New York's famous Greenwich Village, Anita Stewart goes through a free love ceremony with a handsome young villager, Royal Blondin.

The emptiness of the lawless ceremony is realized by Harriet when at her studio apartment she receives a package from her sister containing a letter telling of her sister's marriage and explaining that the lilacs enclosed are from the bower in which the wedding was held.

How Harriet is saved from her loveless "marriage" just in time, finds real happiness in a different environment and realizes how false are the ideals of the professional villagers, is unfolded on the screen in what many declared to be the most fascinating of Anita Stewart's First National photoplays.

Ward Crane, as Royal Blondin, and Charles Richman, as Richard Carter, play opposite Miss Stewart. Others having prominent parts are Irving Cummings, Byron Mason, Myrtle Stedman, Margaret Landa, Barbara La Marr, Dredley and Loyola O'Connor.

The Famous Clincher Cushion Heel

Makes Top Notch Rubbers Last Longer

Most rubbers usually break through at the heel first. The makers of Top Notch Rubbers have overcome this by inventing and patenting a special method of construction which so strongly reinforces the heel that it will wear as long as the sole. Soles and uppers are pure gum.

BEACON FALLS

Top Notch Rubber Footwear

Top Notch Rubbers are extra quality and extra value. They are the longest wearing rubbers sold in town. And they are just as stylish as serviceable. All styles for men, women and children. Come in and see them.
