COUNCIL MAY HOLD AFTERNOON SESSION

For the third time in succession this month there was no meeting of the city council last night, owing to inability to get a quorum. Councilman Brandenburg is in Portland and Councilman Lavenik has a hauling contract in Siskiyou county.

Had it not been for the storm Councilman Moore would have attended last night, and with Councilmen Upp and Colvin would have made a quorum. But Mr. Moore has been in impaired health for months and could not risk venturing the storm.

Mayor Struble stated today that he arranged to call the council together at 2 o'clock this afternoon, the three who are here agreeing to be present.

None of the city bills have been allowed this month and some of the creditors are getting anxious. Other important matters are in abeyance, particularly ordinances relating to fire protection and the city parking ordinance amendment.

to open refuge quarters in the building. Then the city school board got them and opened up an overflow school there.

What further jeopardy would be caused by the housing of county officers and county records in the building than by housing the city school and their books and records?

In other words, what is the true fearfulness of the matter? This is the question being asked on every hand by voters who have no factional ties. They honestly want to know.

They are interested in the affairs and welfare of their community and refuse to recognize that with delegation of authority to any officer or officers they transfer their right to be informed as to the reasons, means and methods for and by which these officers transact their business.

The Herald has shown that attorneys privately retained, have drawn between $15,000 and $20,000 in fees in the past few weeks. This despite the fact that the services of the district attorney are at the disposal of the court without extra cost, and the county also has an assistant district attorney. The competency of attorneys has never been questioned. The taxpayers are paying them to serve the county in a legal capacity. From where, ask plenty of citizens, comes the authority to supplant them with a costly set of private advisers.

Private detectives drew $1000 and nowhere along the line does it appear that the county received any service for this expenditure.

On top of all this private management of affairs of general public concern comes the matter of the insurance and the turning over of the keys.

Voters—not the voters who are aligned with one side or the other from the beginning—but the newer residents who are used to having public business transacted in public fashion—want to know the why's and wherefore's.

Before the war Russia's 30 Grand Dukes owned some 5000 square miles of land and 325 palaces and castles, and employed about 2000 servants. Their income ran into the billions.

Mrs. Mayer is well-known here having been a teacher in the Klamath Falls public schools for several years before her marriage and Mr. Mayer is a prominent mechanic here.

Dear Public:

If you love the sea and would like to know how the wonderful ocean behaves in a motion picture, you will want to see Madeline Traverse in "The Hell Ship," in which from the start to the thrilling finish the action takes place on a schooner, which was chartered by William Fox for the purpose. The story ends on a life raft in mid-ocean in a scene as beautiful as a Turner canvas and as dramatic as a Sardou masterpiece.

Lovely Madeline Traverse, the star, handles superbly this strange story, a sea-woman endowed with the will of a man and the heart of a girl. This picture will be at the LIBERTY THEATRE TONIGHT.

I am sure you will find it delightful entertainment.

H. W. POOLE.
