PORTLAND PAYS FOR THE PORT

PORTLAND, Oct. 23.—Soon after the Port of Portland was organized more than 39 years ago it was attacked in the circuit court of Multnomah county and the case finally found its way to the supreme court of Oregon. In a decision written by Judge Robert S. Bean, who was then on the supreme bench of Oregon and is now the United States district court judge, the distinguished jurist gave a lucid and convincing reason why all of the people of Oregon are interested in seeing that the Port of Portland maintains a channel of sufficient depth from Portland to the sea and provides adequate port facilities in its harbor. In the following language Judge Bean sets forth a perfectly clear justification for having all the people of the state vote on measures effecting the one great port of the state. That the maintenance of this great commercial center at this point is of advantage to the whole state is witnessed by the fact that it does its business here; that anything that will cheapen the handling of what the country exports and imports will be a benefit to all, is a self-evident fact, and leaves no doubt of the public interest in this improvement. But the public might find other centers of trade, other channels of export and import, presumably not so advantageous or it would now use them, but still capable of use at need. But the other centers, of trade and commerce, the port of Portland, cannot go elsewhere; it must live or die here. In the public interest is general, the improvement and maintenance of an advantageous channel of trade. To the metropolitan district, center of trade and commerce, city, cities, or what you will, embraced in the port of Portland, the interest is one of life and death.

AT THE THEATERS

Ethel Barrymore, the distinguished actress who is starred in the Metro production, "The Divorcee," a screen version of the famous play "Lady Frederick," by W. Somerset Maugham is seen in this play in an entire new set of gowns made for her by a famous New York modiste. In this production, which will be shown at the Liberty theatre. Miss Barrymore plays the part of Lady Frederick, an extravagant young beauty. The role demands many beautiful costumes which shows the noted actress in her regal beauty. Tom Mix entertained Chief of Police Peter Johnstone, of Lincoln, Neb., and a former chief of Los Angeles, Captain John L. Butler, at Mixville, while he was doing some daring stunts in his new picture for Fox Film corporation, "3 Gold Coins," H. H. Van Loan's story which will be shown on Sunday at the Liberty theatre.

Society

The A. R. N. club met at the home of Mrs. K. G. Cummings, Wednesday afternoon. Needle work and music afforded the afternoon's pleasure and a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess to her guests.

Guests of the club present were: Mesdames H. Richardson, G. A. Krause, R. J. Sheets, and Mrs. Thomas Hampton. Club members were Mesdames R. E. Wattenburg, J. F. Goeller, C. E. Ramsby, C. J. Martin, George Wirtz, Mary McClure, S. E. Martin, R. Moore, E. P. Lawrence, R. H. Dunbar, J. S. Bratten, A. Peil, and Jennie Hurn.

Mrs. Charles Wood Eberlein was hostess at a charming tea party at her home on Pacific Terrace, Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Henry Lemaire and Mrs. Isabelle Watt sister and mother of George and Oliver Watt with whom they have been visiting for the past few weeks as her honor guest. A very pleasant afternoon was spent in needle work, music and chatting; after which a delicious repast was served.

Those present were: Mesdames Isabelle Watt, Oliver Watt, Henry Lemaire, F. A. Baker, N. H. Bogue, Leslie Rogers and C. W. Eberlein.

Mrs. James A. Howard Jr., entertained the ladies of Klamath Agency Saturday evening, honoring Mrs. Ruth Brown. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in playing 500, the Misses King carrying off the honors of the game. A delightful three course luncheon was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Brown was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts in token of the esteem in which she is held by her friends at the Agency.

The ladies of the Methodist church entertained at the parsonage Thursday afternoon for the purpose of forming a social club for the ladies in the church and their friends. About 30 were present at this first meeting and a happy afternoon was spent with needle work. It was arranged that a meeting should be held sometime next month at the home of Mrs. C. V. Fisher, to complete the organization of the club.

"500" was the diversion of the evening at the party given Monday by Mrs. Bill Hyde for a number of her friends, at her home on 611 Jefferson street. Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Allen, Mr. and Mrs. William Wingham, Miss Inez Willett and Mr. and Mrs. Hyde.

Mrs. Frank Andrews, a delightful young matron of this city, was hostess to a number of friends Thursday afternoon. "500" was the entertainment enjoyed by the guests and a dainty luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon.

Invited guests were: Mesdames G. B. Cozard, James Watkins Jr., E. D. Lamb, and her mother, Glenn Jester, Vale, Roy Derris, Everett Hardenbrook, Miss Verda Cozard and Miss Vale.

Saturday Mrs. Ben Mitchell was hostess at a birthday party for Mrs. Merle Houston. Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hardenbrook, and Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell.

A delightful affair of the week was a card party given Tuesday by the Ladies of the Elks, at the Temple. Mrs. Jack Elliott won the high score prize and Mrs. Andrews was given the consolation gift. Mrs. Roger Dewese, Mrs. W. M. Duncan, Mrs. O. W. Robertson, and Mrs. Claude Daggett were on the committee who entertained.

The Elks are giving a Halloween dance October 29, to which all Elks and their ladies, whether they belong to this lodge or not, are invited. The dance will be held at the Elks Temple.
